LEONARD'S FRENCH CHEMICAL
Blacking.

THE subscriber announces to the public, that he intends to remain in New Orleans only one month longer. One of the most useful discoveries that has been made for polishing, polishing and preserving all kinds of boot, shoe and harness leather, and most deserving the attention of the public, is certainly the Royal Blacking, (lonisant royal.) The various compositions now in use for polishing harness, boots and shoes, have long been complained of; they cause the leather to crack and become reddish, by reason of the admixture of vitriol, spirits of wine and vinegar, in their preparation, the undersigned has, however, been so fortunate as to discover a process, that will supersede those rather expensive compositions; which not only possesses the virtue of preserving leather, but
