It is needless to say more in its praise, the subscriber invites the public to examine for themselves and test its utility. TRUSTEE'S SALE.—By virtue of a deed of trust, executed by Spencer Gloyd and John McDonell, to me as trustee, bearing date the 16th day of May, A. D. 1836, and recorded in book D, pages 82, 84 and 85 of the Records of the Deeds, in the Clerk's office of the Probate Court of Hancock county, state of Mississippi, to secure the first payment of three several promissory notes, dated the 10th day of April, 1836, and made payable to the order of W. C. & T. Norris, one for the sum of thirty-two hundred and ninety-eight dollars and six cents, nine months after date, one for thirty-three hundred sixty dollars and nineteen cents, twelve months after date, and the third for thirty-four hundred ninety-four dollars and sixteen cents, eighteen months after date, on which there now remains due the sum of sixty-nine hundred thirty-four dollars and sixteen cents, with cost and interest. E. CARVER'S IMPROVED COTTON GIN RIBS.

THE subscriber hereby notifies all persons concerned in making, using or vending cotton gin stands, that he has surrendered his former patent for the above named invention, bearing date June 12th, 1838, and taken out a new patent under the same date. The object of the improvement is chiefly to prevent the gin being choaked in its operation, which is effected by making the distance between the upper and under surface of the ribs, where the cotton is drawn through by the saws, so great, that the fibres and motes attached to them, that are drawn into the spaces from the mass, shall not reach through that part of the grate so as to lodge or collect on the inner part of it, and also so forming the spaces between the ribs above the saws, that whatever is drawn in by the teeth of the saws, and is disengaged from them, shall not be obstructed in its free passage upward and uniting itself with the roll or mass that is being ginned.

All persons concerned in vending or using cotton gin stands, are respectfully solicited and warned not to purchase, sell or use any gin stands with the subscriber's improved ribs, unless they are plainly and permanently marked "E. Carver's patent," with the manufacturer's name, place of residence and the number of each gin stand, progressively. All single ribs manufactured and sold by himself or his authorized agents will be marked E. C. All persons who make, vend or use the subscriber's improvement without license, will be prosecuted as soon as the fact is known. ELEAZER CARVER.

Bridgewater, Mass, February 1st, 1840.

One of the above new improved gins is now open for inspection, and a general assortment on hand for sale by the agents. GEO. GREEN & BRO. 26 Camp st, New Orleans.
