WRITING.

MESSRS. T P & R DOLBEAR, have the pleasure to inform the citizens of New Orleans that they have returned, and re-opened their Writing Establishment, (this day,) at their former location, (18 Canal street,) where they have numerous specimens, exhibiting the improvement of their pupils, in this and other Cities, which they will be happy to present to their friends and public generally. Those persons who did not complete their lessons previous to the sickly season, are invited to call and do so now, without extra charge. Ladies who prefer, can receive lessons at their own residence.—The following testimonials are inserted for the satisfaction of those transient persons who have not yet had an opportunity of witnessing the result of their method of instruction.—

From His Excellency Governor Roman.

I have examined with attention, the system of writing taught by Mr. Dolbear, and it is with pleasure that I certify to its superiority over any other method with which I am acquainted. Mr. Dolbear, having given private lessons in my family, I consider it but justice to add, that I believe him as much worthy of public patronage on account of the correctness and neatness of his character, as on account of the rapid improvement of those who receive his lessons.

New Orleans, July 2, 1834. A. B. ROMAN

NEW ORLEANS, 12th May, 1832

On the invitation of Mr Dolbear, a teacher of Penmanship in our city, upon the Carstairian system; we have carefully examined specimen of the writings of his pupils, whose ages range from 8 to 50 years, written through an entire course of instruction, and after having done so, it is with the highest satisfaction that we can testify to the rapid if not unparalled progress which they have made.

From the specimens seen, and the examination of the system made, we cannot withhold the expression of a current opinion, that the system is greatly superior to any hitherto taught. If to write legibly, elegantly, rapidly, and in good taste be an accomplishment useful or desirable, it is upon the principles of this system that it is to be acquired. We therefore anxiously solicit of the public a liberal patronage in favor of an instructer, whose qualifications are of the highest order, and whose labors promise to be so exceedingly useful to this and other communities.

Many hundred specimens of improvements made by persons of various ages to be seen at the Academy which is open daily from 10 a. m. to 2, and from 5 to 8 every evening.

☞ This system differs in every respect from any that has ever been offered in America; and mean time Mr Duhertis begs to call attention to the following:

☞ At a meeting held in Lennox, at the Argyle Rooms, Regent street, on the 11th January, 1828, when were present, these distinguished characters: Lord Brougham and Sir Francis Burdett, also the members of the Royal Society of Arts and Sciences, the Society of Schoolmasters, &c. amounting in all, to about 340 personages. After a lecture of two hours and a half, having been delivered by Mr. Duhertis, on his newly invented system of teaching the art of writing in Six lessons, and on the various causes that prevented persons from attaining perfection in the art according to the ordinary mode of teaching; Sir Francis Burdett then proposed, that the meeting should decide upon a resolution relative to the gratification which they felt in bearing testimony to the great and unparalleled advantage of Mr. Duhertis's system of teaching the art of Penmanship. After some deliberation it was unanimously resolved, that, Mr. Duhertis's system of teaching the art of Writing in a few lessons, (six only) appears to us as the most extraordinary improvement in the method of instruction, which the ingenuity of the human mind has hitherto devised. feb 5
