Marine

PORT OF N

CLEARED SI

Brig Everett, Flint, Boston
Schr Exert, Fuller, Apalac
Steamer Natchez, Morriso

ARRIVED

Schr Tita, Orillo, 8 d
Acebo & co; cargo, 20
Courval, Acebo & co; 1
Hodge; fruit, etc to order Gonzalez, Duzea, Lieut Tuesday, inside the Bar a ets Louisville and another Turn a ship, brig Aparicio bino, from Havana.

ARRIVED DAY B

Steamer Caspian, Kuni
bales cotton, R W Pritcha gors.

Steamer St Louis, Dagg
go, 150 bbls flour W G B 100 do 1272 pigs lead, 39 pigs lead Stetson & Avery E L Tracy; 30 sacks, 10 b pigs lead, 47 sacks oats, 65 ples J D Duggett; 183 bbls oats R Armington; 204 doz geese to B Fowler; 30 bbls several passengers.

Steamer Bonnets O'Blue
369 bbls flour Adams & Bu Lambeth & Pope; 74 hdds Lide; 119 bbls flour Slo Prieur & co, 62 bbls pe bales tobacco Tiernan, O tra, Pleasants & co; 5 do, reports 28 inches water in

ARRIVED

Schr Elizabeth, Watki lumber to Lefebvre & Duro Schrs Amiable, Indiss; Coral Eliza, Bernard, with brick, from Laurant.
Schr Fan
Elanc

MEMORANDA.

Hence at Havre, July 19, packed ship Up at New-York, for this port, ship J field.
Hence at New York, Aug. 22d, packe Cleared at New-York for this port, Harriet.
Up at Boston for this port, to sail Envoy Dunn.

ST. MARY'S U

A FEW EL the reiterated dem great pleasure to infor a letter from Mr. Pa that all the children in St provement of perfect healt sept 6 P. DEVES

LOUISIA

THE company will will meet at the
P. M.—summe
By order of the sept 6

EXCHANGE on
sept 6

ENGLISH MANT
a quantity of En ty, which they offer for sale
sept 6

DISSOLUTION OF
The copartnership fo under the firm of Courtous & of the watch making and Ann street, has been dis the death of the past and the business will continue and will continue place. He takes a vaili ness for the public and continuance.

LANTIAL & CO
A new establishing the firm will form such a bottler steamers and other supply all the coolers and steam of the necessary making sugar skillet pots
Those persons will find that our each.
Their
Levee
Sugar

Commercial.

New York, Aug. 1

Cotton—Up to yesterday the market was quite The advices from Liverpool gave vious asking prices to some extent lands 15 to 16. Orleans 16 1-2 to Molasses—A sale of 70 hhds New about 70 cents. Market very firm Sugars—The sales comprised tensive. Nearly 2000 hhds few at are out of first hands.

Flour
now are upstands, Mi The market closes firm the quotations in our circular of

LIVERPOOL CORN EX

The Irish supplies continue wheat and oats quarters of wheat supplies are which, reported below have continued to reach us countries, as well as from accompanied with orders for investment, close of the week considerable activity the trade.

Havre, July 19.

The demand
Consumers rates are reached this season, and, indeed, in some instances, we understand have yet been obtained.
The transactions in Coffee ces are very firm.

Sales Cotton, &c Havre, July 16.

290 N Louisiana,	145f
617 "	1[illegible]
136 Georgia,	1[illegible]
388 Rio Coffee,	67
671 Hayton,	67
50 bbls Potash,	30
200 do do	33
500 casks Rice,	22

Havre, July

COTTON.—The market was in a wavering our last report, until Friday, (the 13th trade began to purchase freely and at sales (including about 1500 bales U. S. lation) have amounted to 5582 bales Louisiana at 110 to 140; 3109 bales Up bama and Tennessee at 114 to 131; an bam at 130 to 136; the whole duty paid ceived per contra, consist of 1874 bal the whole out rates, which are higher ginning of last week, may be consi under the highest point to which movement. Stock 30th June, bales U. S.—arrived up to the 13 total, 31267 bales, of which 13th July, 6806 bales, of which 13th July, (to which must the hands of speculators) U. S.

INDIGO.—The late ontained a further adv 50c per ½ ks. The
mid. violet to 41f. 50

In this city on ness, ROBERT W

On the
BERTEAU
Richmon
mond

Co
of M

This train of thought was rather religious, but exincoherent and terrific. He used to go from house and denounce the judgments of Heaven, in the a manner, that would appal the strongest nerves. he made his visits, he began his exhortation gen-and could be heard more than a mile, always had warning of his approach, and brought up a large family; none of most of them intemperate. The single. We think it not unlikely, his thoughts diverted by the du-have escaped the dreadful malawe find it most frequently vi-subject, though we victim should at kindness and humani-with pro-

bronzed, has to the corporaby David, is represent-and the declaration of init to Governor Hancock, being legibly delineated, of the time. It is in the at his statuary room op-engaged to put it in order, the city hall.

MARRIAGE,

Ave, May the 8th, Logan) and hustement to all present.
village schoolmaster, his addresses to Mar-and to be her true and in the month
The action was made by the plain-of courtship, the the lady, accomown cause. The yards dark red and with three yards presented the
to thirty-nine, and concluded various a necklace; price
The whole rejected. The
of addressing her, expressions of contrition and and make her the expectation of a future connexion. In gave notice from his duty, in expressions of regard for and also produced some of her writing did it appear violent affection. In one of her letters, she tells him she will wait for him in the said, it seems that disappointment to Miss Logan's marriage to be not so splendid as with income we request that she would at the 21 days return which he gave her since 1833, without destroy injuring any one of them, otherwise a public process Court would be the consequence, and remind had returned every article she had given a pair of scissors, but pattern and a crooked pin that the pattern was given in exchange for The lady being called on for her defence, boldly denied that she had ever given the plaintiff any ground to suppose that she meant to spend the remainder of her days in his company. The presents were forced upon her, and she received them as free presents, without any pledge whatsoever, the scissors she never saw, or taken by other means.
The plaintiff demanded that the defendant should be sworn she was accordingly sworn, and confirmed her statement on oath. The plaintiff's suit was, in consequence dismissed.

Chas. Hamilton of the British Tom old Thomson in America, will shortly be Lea & Co. of Philadelphia. From the opinions which have been formed of will await its appearance with much impa-Bell Gaz.

Mr. Sturgeon, who first produced the electric spark and thus proved the great affinity, if not identity, of electricity and magnetism, has just had his labors crowned with another brilliant discovery—the decomposition of water by magnetism.

The deposites—We learn from an authentic the circular of the treasury agent, Mr. Kendall, favorably received in Boston; and that the banks ty are ready, not only to collect and disburse the public revenue receivable in Massachusetts, in such a manner as the government may direct, but to give ample security for the safety of the deposites, and the faithful performance of the duty they undertake. We also learn, that one of the banks in Portland (Maine) has proffered its services, with security, voluntarily, without any application having been made to it.

The result of the inquiries made by Mr Kendall of the banks in the large commercial cities, would seem to indicate pretty clearly, that if the government should think proper to withdraw the deposites from the United States bank, it will find no difficulty in making the necessary arrangements; and that, on the part of many of the most sound state banks, there is no apprehension of the insurmountable difficulties and dangers, which have been so strongly displayed by a portion of the newspaper press, as the necessary consequence of such a measure. We do not profess to be very conversant with the subject, but it strikes us, that either those difficulties have been greatly exaggerated, or the state banks, whose interests are identified with those of the commercial community, are governed by a suicidal policy in offering to receive the deposits on any terms. Should it be the wish of the administration to change the deposits, as it would seem to be, from the appointment of an agent to invite proposals from the state banks, the report of Mr.
Kendall, there is no reason to doubt, will go far to satisfy them, that it can be done with safety, and it may fairly be presumed, that little time will be lost in making the transfer.—Bost. Sentinel.

NAPLES.

Extract of a letter, dated Naples, March 1833.

* * * * * We turn from Pompeii, where no voice is heard, to the savage yells of the immense population of Naples. Whether cruelty be in their dwellings or not, it certainly is in their streets; for do they pass each other? no—the animals sinking under their loads, or those brought to market tied by their legs, with heads downwards, and their mouths all over the bodies of mules. One cart, with a man standing behind long formidable whip, whilst four of five clinging to its various parts, grin-like mad men; and one is in momenta-run by the fiery steeds in carriages, and driven at full gallop. Every
the streets—cooking, tailoring, &c.—
much good nature and drollery.—
it be to have the whole of the fiers the wide way before their doors—on the eruption of Vesuvius!—Dirt here confined to the lazzaroni, but places nails in a de-their fat
and fruits

Extract from

A great number of the police among the lower and as none but
are permitted there,
expected
disappeared have been and the
to the Neapolitans and their gone all sympathy
the c
There
quiet

By the
the French brig of war Acteon, from Sicily, we learn that the Duchess de Berri arrived and landed at Palermo on the 4th inst. Her reputed husband has lately been heard of also, but his steps do not seem to have been directed towards the same land. He has been in Paris, from whence he went to London. It is said that he embarked at Liverpool for the United States, in company with Madame du Cayla, the old lady on whom old Louis XVIII. bestowed some share of celebrity by calling her his tabellere.

I informed you a few days ago that M. Lelon of the French Catholic Church, has
of his arrondissement to publish his that the Bishop had taken act is a very advice of his publication
the reinst
the questi
judgement,

Lucretia Dwelle recipient of the President!—When at Norwich Conn. the recent bride Lucretia Dow presented the President with a pair of shoes, the clay fastened at the lower end to some mother wit in the middle, and some hickory sticks at the top. On presenting them he said, "Here is Clay in the toe, Wirt in the middle, and Old Hickory just above them both!" and then leading up his wife he said "Friend Jackson, shall I introduce you to my wife Lucy?"—"How do you do Lucy?" said the President as he took lady Dow's hand, amid shouts of mirth.

Important discovery in Science.—We understand that Mr.
Sturgeon, who first produced the electric spark
and thus proved the great affinity, if not identity,
of electricity and magnetism, has just had his labors crowned with another brilliant discovery—the decomposition of
water by magnetism.

The deposites—We learn from an authentic
the circular of the treasury agent, Mr. Kendall,
favorably received in Boston; and that the banks
ty are ready, not only to collect and disburse the public revenue receivable in Massachusetts, in such a manner as
the government may direct, but to give ample security for
the safety of the deposites, and the faithful performance of
the duty they undertake. We also learn, that one of the
banks in Portland (Maine) has proffered its services, with
security, voluntarily, without any application having been made to it.

The result of the inquiries made by Mr Kendall of the
banks in the large commercial cities, would seem to indicate pretty clearly, that if the government should think proper to withdraw the deposites from the United States bank,
it will find no difficulty in making the necessary arrange-
ments; and that, on the part of many of the most sound
state banks, there is no apprehension of the insurmountable
difficulties and dangers, which have been so strongly dis-
played by a portion of the newspaper press, as the necessary consequence of such a measure. We do not profess to
be very conversant with the subject, but it strikes us, that
either those difficulties have been greatly exaggerated, or
the state banks, whose interests are identified with those of
the commercial community, are governed by a suicidal policy in offering to receive the deposits on any terms. Should
it be the wish of the administration to change the deposits,
as it would seem to be, from the appointment of an agent
to invite proposals from the state banks, the report of Mr.
Kendall, there is no reason to doubt, will go far to satisfy
them, that it can be done with safety, and it may fairly be
presumed, that little time will be lost in making the transfer.—Bost. Sentinel.

NAPLES.

Extract of a letter, dated Naples, March 1833.

* * * * * * We turn from Pompeii, where no
voice is heard, to the savage yells of the immense population
of Naples. Whether cruelty be in their dwellings or
not, it certainly is in their streets; for do they pass each
other? no—the animals sinking under their loads, or those brought to market tied by their legs, with their heads downwards, and their mouths
all over the bodies of mules. One
cart, with a man standing behind
long formidable whip, whilst four of five
clinging to its various parts, grin-
like mad men; and one is in momenta-
run by the fiery steeds in carriages,
and driven at full gallop. Every
the streets—cooking, tailoring, &c.—
much good nature and drollery.—
it be to have the whole of the fiers
the wide way before their doors—
on the eruption of Vesuvius!—Dirt
here confined to the lazzaroni, but
places
nails in a de-
their fat
and
fruits

Extract from

A great number of
the police among the lower
and as none but
are permitted there,
expected
disappeared
have been
and the
to
the Neapolitans
and their
gone all
sympathy
the c
There
quiet

By the
the French brig of war Ac-
teon, from Sicily, we learn that the Duchess de Berri arrived and landed at Palermo on the 4th inst. Her reputed
husband has lately been heard of also, but his steps do not seem to have been directed towards the same land. He has been in Paris, from whence he went to London. It is said that he embarked at Liverpool for the United States,
in company with Madame du Cayla, the old lady on whom
old Louis XVIII. bestowed some share of celebrity by
calling her his tabellere.

I informed you a few days ago that M. Lelon
of the French Catholic Church, has
of his arrondissement to publish his
that the Bishop had taken
act is a very
advice of his
publication
the reinst
the questi
judgement,