A PROCLAMTION TO THE CITIZENS OF NEW-ORLEANS —WHEREAS, in consequence of the great success of LADY MONTAGUE'S COMPOUND CHINESE SOAP, it is deemed necessary in addition to all that has been done that every other possible effort should be made, both by the city authorities, ladies and gentlemen and all citizens to protect the public against spurious imitations, I do therefore hereby call upon the commissioners to convene on the 20th day, at 10 o'clock, at the Council Chamber, to make arrangements for a strict examination of all counterfeiters, and for the adoption of such other means as they deem expedient; I do also hereby require the agents of the Sole Proprietor to ascertain the counterfeiters' names throughout the United States of America, and to advertise them to the world as guilty of felony, and to caution the public against spurious imitations. I do also hereby require every agent to have my family arms and seal put on all genuine articles, and I do also hereby give notice that arrangements have been made to supply the country druggists and merchants throughout the U.S. of America with the genuine article, at the wholesale and retail office, No 96, Customhouse street, New-Orleans. I do also hereby notify all druggists, apothecaries, storekeepers of any kind whatever, if detected in counterfeiting this soap, they will be dealt with according to law: I do also hereby earnestly call upon the ladies and gentlemen and citizens in general to examine Lady Montague's Compound Chinese Soap, and let the simple and wholesome precaution be taken by them never to purchase but at the office in New-Orleans, viz.—96, Customhouse street, and then you have the true and only genuine.

GEORGE NORMAN LOUDON, Importer. HENRY LEE BAINE, clerk.

THE FASHIONABLE AND SUPERIOR WORLD and LADIES and GENTLEMEN of NEW-ORLEANS recommend it; indeed royalty, nobility, the press, and the gigantic balance of all things, public opinion, has eulogized it, and placed the efficiency beyond suspicion. It is recommended as an excellent Shaving Soap or Compound for gentlemen, for beautifying the complexion. The aristocratic distinction of a soft and white hand, is with many an object of considerable interest. Exposure to warm climates, the neck, face and hands become tanned or blotched, and the inventions of modern chemistry have been rendered subservient not merely to the necessary and every day arts of life, but even to its luxuries and elegancies.

LADY MONTAGUE'S COMPOUND CHINESE SOAP is patronised under the express encouragement of Her Majesty, and more than 50,000 cakes have already been sold; Her Majesty, as we before stated, was graciously pleased to extend her patronage to the Soap: it is a beautifier of the complexion, a fact which ladies will do well to bear in mind. —Brighton Herald.

With regard to its scent, it is delectable, and the Soap is superior in virtue to any other soap the world ever saw. The Queen's gracious patronage of it deserves to be imitated.—Literary Gazette.

It cannot be too highly recommended. No ladies or gentleman's toilet should be without it.—World of Fashion.

The most popular and highly appreciated Soap in naval and military circles, is LADY MONTAGUE'S COMPOUND CHINESE SOAP.—London Standard.

We cannot do less than call the attention of our readers, particularly the ladies, to the advertisement of Lady Montague's Compound Chinese Soap.

Messrs. LOUDON & Co., of this city, beg to caution the public, that none can be warranted genuine, unless purchased by their appointed agents, who are supplied direct from the manufactory, prepared by Mrs. Le L. Montague at her Laboratory, No. 33, Queen street, Cheapside, London, 1796, price $1 each, or $9 per dozen.
