From the Boston Patriol. [To the Editor of the Boston Counier.]

The leading principles of your paper, as exhibited throughout the last six months, meet the admiring approbation of all the real friends of American liberty and equality in the different portions of the United States. More than ded to your appeals to the "sense of home," which qualit to animate every New England boson. New England -her interests, her character, her emiment public men, and the just praise and excellent fame which they reflect upon her, are noble objects for the support of a generous and patriotic New England Editor; and with the exception of the President, whose character you neither appreciate nor understand, you have advocated these objects with ability and success.—Satisfied of this, I purpose. You oppose the gentlemen nominated to be our Senators, while you approve the cause which they are nominated to support. There is a class of men who are conscientiously in the purposes, by tiling against some interlocutory objection to their accomplishment:-Don Quixotte went forth to vindicate the injured, to rescue the oppressed, to shield the unfortunate; but commencement of our late war with alas! a windmill stopped him in his England.—Some mouths after that course. > Crim Con.-A cause was tried in the Court of Common Pleas held at Westminister in February last, which excited considerable interest. from the circumstance of the parties. It was an action brought by a Mr. Tyrrel, to recover damages from the Rev. John Humphrey St. Aubin, for seducing the Representatives, in Congrous, at the elecwife of the plaintiff. It appeared by the evidence, that the plaintiff and his wife had lived for seven years togeth r veral children, of whom the husband was very fond, and the only matrimonial differences ever noticed as taking place, arose from Mrs. Thyrrefy thinking her husband over auxious about them when they were unwell. The fortune of his wife was 45,000% sterling. They had resided for some time in the bouse of Sir John Tyrrel, the plaintiff's terms. But on the 23d of November, Mrs. Tyrrel, who had accompanied Sin John to Chelmsford, disappeared most and gone to London, with the reverend living was worth about 500% a year No circumstances of palliation were pretended to be set up on behalf of the defendant. Mr. Justice Park in summing up, said, he hoped that such infamous behaviour would not be suffered to escape even in this life, and that the right reverend person who presided where the hair this defendant was situated, would im-
