J. MAGNE & WEISSE.

☞ LECTURES ON GEOLOGY.—In compliance with an invitation from gentlemen in this city, Prof. SILLIMAN is expected here in a few days, to deliver a course of lectures on the structure of the earth. This important subject will be treated in its practical applications, and will be rendered both intelligible and interesting by numerous illustrations—graphic and pictorial.

A free introductory will present a distinct outline and sketch of the course, and the terms for subsequent lectures will be made known in the time.

Reference may be made to Messrs. Alex. Gordon, L. C. Duncan, C. Rawson, Prof. Riddell, Dr. Cenas, L. Janin, J. P. Benjamin.

☞ LECTURES ON AGRICULTURAL CHEMISTRY.—This course having been earnestly desired, by many gentlemen in New Orleans, the lectures on that subject will be given by Mr. B. SILLIMAN, Jr. it being impossible that satisfactory illustrations such as lectures should be rendered in a satisfactory manner by the same individual, therefore—and also to avoid interference—it is proposed to give the chemical lectures by Sunday, and the agricultural lectures on Wednesday in the evenings of the week, at such an hour as will not interfere with domestic engagements or with those of Lyceum. References as above. 17
