MECHANICAL ARTS AND SCIENCES.

PUBLISHED—D. APPLETON & Co., New York AGENT—J. B. STEEL, New Orleans. Now PUBLISHING, IN PARTS, PRICE 25c., EACH.
A Dictionary of Machines, Mechanics, Engineering, Mill Work and Manufacture, designed for Practical Working Men and those intended for the Engineering Profession.
EDITED BY OLIVER BYRNE, Formerly Professor of Mathematics, College of Civil Engineers, London; Author and Inventor of "The Calculator of Fluxions," "The New and Improved System of Logarithms," "The Elements of Euclid by Colors," &c., &c. &c.
The work is in large 8vo., size, containing nearly two thousand pages, upwards of fifteen hundred plates and six thousand wood cuts. It will present working drawings and descriptions of the most important machines in the United States. Independent of the results of American ingenuity, it will contain complete practical treatises on Mechanics, Machinery, Engineering, and Engineering, with all that is useful in more than one thousand dollars' worth of folio volumes, magazines, and other books.
The publishers have expended a large sum of money to get original drawings of machinery in practical use in this country, and have procured almost every work on the subject, whether published in England, France, or Germany, the most essential parts of which being incorporated in this Dictionary, rendered it as perfect and comprehensive as possible. The publishers have endeavored to use great economy in all, so that each page of the work contains at least four times the number of words found in ordinary pages of the same size. This has also secured to each plate working drawings of ample size and clearness, so that a mechanic may construct accurately any machine described.
The publishers are, in short, determined, regardless of cost, to make the work as complete as possible; and it is hoped every one desirous to obtain the work will procure it as soon as issued in numbers, and thus encourage the enterprise.
The work is now being issued in semi monthly numbers, commencing in January, 1850, and will progress with great regularity.
The whole work will be published in 40 numbers, at 25 cents per number, and completed within the current year, 1850.
Any one remitting the subscriber $10 in advance, shall receive the work through the post-office free of expense.
The great object of this publication is, to place before practical men and students, such an amount of theoretical and practical knowledge, in condensed form, as shall enable them to work to the best advantage, and to avoid those mistakes which they might otherwise commit. The abundant useful information thus brought together, is almost beyond precedent in such works. Indeed, there is hardly any subject within its range which is not treated with such clearness and precision, that even a man of the most ordinary capacity cannot fail of understanding it, and learning from it much which it is important for him to know.
Such a work, so full of valuable work have already been received, and are for sale by J. B. STEEL,
