EDUCATION.

FOUNDED 1844.....INCORPORATED 1855

NEW ORLEANS Female Collegiate Institute,

BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL FOR YOUNG LADIES,

Under the Supervision of Madame ED. LOCQUET,

No. 94 Camp Street,

BETWEEN JULIA AND ST. JOSEPH STREETS.

THIS Establishment, founded by Dr. and Mrs. McCauley, whose high reputation has never been questioned, will commence its seventeenth session on MONDAY, the 16th of September.

Mme. ED. LOCQUET, assisted by her sister, Mme. FRANCOIS LOCQUET, will use her best endeavors to render to merit the confidence imposed, for so many years, in her predecessors.

Professors of the highest talent are employed in all the branches, both useful and ornamental. Piano, Music and the study of the solfeggi will be taught exclusively by the Mme. Locquets, whose reputation as professors of music has been so well appreciated by the numerous families who have favored them with their confidence.

The French language, the native tongue of these ladies, and the acquirement of which is now indispensable to a good education, is taught with the utmost care, and is spoken in the Institution. Young ladies will therefore find in their communications with these teachers every facility possible for perfecting themselves in this language.

The establishment, always so commodious and well ventilated, has recently been entirely renovated, with the strictest regard to comfort and health of the pupils.

Mme. Locquet respectfully invites parents and families to call and visit her school, where prospectuses with all other information which may be desired, can be obtained.

Letters of inquiry will be promptly attended to by the Principal. sept 19

ACADEMY

Conti street, No. 123, between Dauphin and Burgundy streets.

THIS Academy, founded by Mr. G. Boyer, is about to resume, with the assistance of Mr. C. Lepratire, a graduate of the University of France, its 20th session. The establishment, which has always received its reputation, will be conducted on a much more extensive plan in all the branches, with the assistance of the Professor.

A classical and commercial education will be imparted to the pupils, including the study of the ancient languages, to fit pupils for the private arrangement of their parents.

Book-keeping being now an indispensable qualification, Mr. Lepratire will attend to a regular course, from 5 to 6 o'clock, P. M. A month begun must be paid in full. The classes open on the 1st of October. sept

Jefferson Academy,

53.....BOURBON STREET, N. O.....5

Conducted by

G. J. LOED.

THIS establishment, founded in 1836, has long held a high position in public opinion as one of the leading institutions in the South of the United States.

The plan comprises a liberal and extensive system of education. Pupils are admitted at six or seven years of age, and continued till they are prepared for their future pursuits in life. They are distributed into classes, according to their capacities and acquirements.

The premises are so ample, that to be found in the city, with ample space for exercise and recreation, and every convenience for an institution of learning.

The Professors are gentlemen of talent, chosen with care. Good order reigns in the establishment, and strict attention is paid to the morals, conduct and improvement of the pupils.

Preservation of the Sight.

MR. C. DUHAMEL, optician, 6 Chartres street, begs to inform all those whose sight is defective that he has resumed the sale of patent Cylindrical Spectacles, approved by the most renowned oculists in Paris, and Dr. Burnett, Pemberton, Cravenor, Nee and others, of London. The ease is such that those spectacles can be used without the least danger to the eyes.

The most difficult opticians have made a report de bon for the sheep articles are unquestionably the best for the preservation and improvement of the sight. They have gained over all other concrete in the form being equally dense, very hard, and free from bubbles, being of the same purity, so far the case with spectacles lenses made in France. The interposition of the two cylindrical surfaces makes the spectacle comfortable, and, consequently, more durable than the other.

Remarkable pains have been taken to give a great improvement to these glasses.

Persons using spectacles, should take advantage of these new glasses, which are unbreakable and unchangeable. They will be established and distinguished by the signature of the inventor, Dr. Burnett, which is to be found on the surface of each glass. Persons desirous of having the sight tested, can be accommodated with a pair of these glasses, free of charge, at the office of the undersigned.
