FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 4, 1838.

FOR GOVERNOR, A. B. ROMAN.

Extract from the Journal of the Senate of the 6th Feb 1835.

Resolved, That the Senate of the State of Louisiana do approve of the general course of the administration of the late executive, A. B Roman; and that he carries with him in his retirement from office the grateful remembrance of the members of this house.

Extract from the Journal of the House, of the 3d Feb. 1835.

Resolved by the House of Representatives of the state of Louisiana, that the administration of the government of the state by the late governor, A. B Roman, has been marked by wisdom, firmness, and a judicious and unwearied zeal for the public service; that in the execution of the laws, he has exhibited fidelity, and in the numerous and important appointments it has fallen to his lot to make, he has manifested impartiality, and a single regard to the true interests of the state; and that he retires with the full and entire approbation of this House, for his official conduct, and with their personal esteem and regard.

Resolved, That the Speaker of this House transmit to the late Governor Roman a copy of these resolutions.

Representative, 1st District, to Congress,
JOHN SLIDELL.
FOR THE SENATE OF LOUISIANA.
ALBERT HOA.

Candidate for Governor.

When Mr A. B Roman was first proposed as a candidate for the high and honorable office of governor of the state, we unhesitatingly placed his name at the head of our columns, and determined to sustain his cause to the utmost extent of our abilities and influence. We were not ignorant that in so doing we rendered ourselves liable to the charge of supporting a wig, and we were prepared to encounter the usual gated censure of those journals, which entertaining similar political opinions to our own, could not be expected readily to tolerate a seeming tergiversation of the sufferers by the fire in Charleston.

Resolved, That the sums contributed be paid over to the Chairman of the meeting, who is hereby requested to transmit the same to the mayor for the city of Charleston.

The meeting was then addressed by M. M. Cohen and R. Hunt, Esquires, and the resolutions being put by the chair, were unanimously adopted.

On motion of Dr J. Morris Mackie,

Resolved, That the chair be requested to appoint the committee of 50, at his earliest leisure and when so appointed, their names together with the proceedings of this meeting, be published in all the papers of the city.

On motion, Resolved, That a copy of our proceedings be forwarded to the Mayor of Charleston, at the same time with the amount collected from the citizens.

And then on motion of Peter Cenas, Esq. the meeting adjourned, sine die.

The following important resolutions, adopted with great unanimity by the Legislature of Maine, were presented to Congress, during the present week.—They have reference to a matter in which not only that State but the whole Union has a direct interest.

STATE OF MAINE.

Resolves in relation to the Northeastern Boundary.

Resolved, That it is not a proper time to give the assent of this State to the Federal Government, to treat with that of Great Britain for a Conventional Line for our North-eastern Boundary, but that this State will insist on the boundary established by the Treaty of seventeen hundred and eighty-three.

Resolved, That as this State has never before been given her consent to the appointment of an Umpire under the Treaty of Ghent in 1814, but has protested against the same, and as she believes it to be a grave question whether the provision in the Treaty for the purpose has not done its office, and is therefore no longer in force, she is now prepared to give her assent to the appointment of an Umpire.

Resolved, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress be requested to urge the passage of the Bill for the Survey of the Northeastern Boundary of the United States, as now pending in Congress; and that if said Bill shall not become a law during the present session of Congress, and if the Government of the United States, in conjunction with Great Britain, or a State of Maine, shall not, on or before the first day of September next, establish, or appoint a commission for a survey of said boundary line, it shall then be the imperative duty of the Governor, without further delay, to appoint forthwith, a suitable Commissioner and Surveyors for ascertaining, and establishing the Northeastern Boundary Line of this State, and to cause the same to be carried into operation.

Resolved, That the Governor be requested to transmit to the President of the United States one copy of his Message to the Legislature on the subject of the Northeastern Boundary, and these Resolutions, and one copy of the same to each of the Heads of Departments at Washington; one copy to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress, and one copy to the Governor of Massachusetts.

In the House of Representatives, March 23, 1838, read and passed.

ELISHA H. ALLEN, Speaker.
In Senate, March 23, 1838, read and passed.
S. LITTLEFIELD, President.
March 23, 1838, approved.
EDWARD KENT.

Camp street Theatre.

There is a rat jingling about the rounds of the North ern papers, which states that George Barrett has leased the Camp street Theatre, and will open next fall with a very fine company. If this intelligence be true, it is like many other kinds of news which generally come last to the persons most interested. We shall rejoice however if it be so, for Barrett, besides being a most delightful performer, is an active, enterprising and energetic manager, and under his direction, the little Camp will prove no contemptible rival to the lovely and gorgeous St Charles.

The New York Sun says, "That quite a mania for drowning appears to exist among the fair sisterhood of Gotham, and gives two interesting instances of frail and fair one attempting to put a period to their real or imaginary woes by copious immersion in salt water. Fortunately however for humanity, they were both rescued.

Albany Elections.

The Albany Charter Elections have gone against us, the whigs say by an increased majority.

TREASURY NOTE COUNTERFEITER ARRESTED—the person who passed a counterfeit treasury note on the Farmers and Planters' Bank in Baltimore has been arrested. A considerable sum of money with a number of gold watches and jewelry of value, was found upon his person.

[COMMUNICATED]

Z. at in a good cause is legally praiseworthy, but in order to be so it ought to be "just according to knowledge." A writer in the Louisiana Advertiser who signs himself "Gray ox" has demonstrated his zeal in behalf of Mr Johnson, one of the Candidates for the gubernatorial chair. In some respects at least, his zeal has not been however according to knowledge. In one part of his remarks he says, speaking of Mr Roman—" What does faith enable him to do to induce the popular demand. He encounters himself in the Drawing Company, a corporation created during his late term, and when the whigs come to him and say, 'Sir, &c.' what does he do? We can almost fancy we hear him reply. No! my friendly whigs, I am drawing not for the public good, I drain for fame; I cant be Senator." The writer in question cites the circumstance of Mr Roman's interesting himself so much in the draining of our swamps and in the legislative assembly of the State as an evidence of indifference on his part for the public weal, which should weigh against him at the coming election. That it may do so with furious, rabid and unreasonable political partizans, like the writer in question, who may care more for the overthrow of others, or of an opposing political faction, than for the advancement of the general interests of the whole community, I see no reason to dispute, but that it will do so with the great bulk of the people is what I feel, I am bound in justice to the opinion which I have of their intelligence and good sense, to consider as highly problematical.

To attend to national politics may be properly held to be a duty imperative on the President. The United States Interests of Congress. To attend to the peculiar local and interests of the state over which he presides may in the eyes many be considered as more emphatically the duty of the Governor of the State. Politics in politics are so entirely distinct and have of a quantity, so that are at possible and he who refuses to attend to the latter, lightly shows that they are offices give rise to, is not necessarily on that account a bad or less good man, or less a patriot or less a citizen of his state or country. On the contrary he may be the truest patriot and philanthropist. And the question ought to be, has Mr Roman at any time since he entry into public life and especially while Governor, been wanting in attending to the particular interests of the community and state? Candor would assume that he has. To me however, and certainly my judgement must be biased here the circumstance cited by him in proof of this, which I have quoted above, appears as strong evidence of the contrary. He tells us that the Drawing Company was created during Mr Roman's late term, as Governor. What stronger evidence of the philanthropy and zeal of the promoters of it, to advance the true interests of the state and of the community generally, could be furnished? Nor is it any detriment to him, the merits of the scheme, or the devisor of the scheme, that it has not yet fully succeeded to his wishes and expectations. The space which prompted it is the same.

One circumstance on the prosperity of this quarter is the unhealthiness of its atmosphere. To have endeavoured to remove this cause was not only a patriotic but also a philanthropic act. And this is what Mr Roman designed by his connection with the Drawing Company, as one of the objects it would effect.

"When any region," says an able philanthropist historian, speaking of the early state of parts of the country, "lies neglected and in a state of stagnation, the air stagnates in the woods, putrid exhalations arise from the waters; the surface of the earth loaded with rank vegetation, feels not the influence of the sun or of the winds; the malignancy of the climate is natural to the climate increases, and new malady no less noxious are engendered." Such influences, it will not be denied, operate on the health of this place. To remove the evil we have long suffered from, and to this object he for a time determined, it seems to devote his labour and attention. What then? Is this to be held up as a fault for which the people of this place are to be called upon now to vote against him and seal with their condemnation? Heavens! Sighed! Gay ox talks of "the cold, impassive disposition of Mr Roman." Roman slights the new comers who pitch their tents in Louisiana," and of the heartiness with which he himself would embrace such. There is an old couplet which says:

"Is take a great deal of words and not of deeds
Is like a garden full of weeds."

Mr Roman by his deeds shows that he regards the new comers not with a cold, impassive feeling. How many of the new comers do we hourly see frequently sweep away by the pestilence in this place. Which the place is subject, like the fields heard before the autumn gale. Mr Roman has seen this, and has shown by his acts a zeal to drain our swamps and thus improve the health of the place, that he has felt to be important to us. Not so Gayoso; this truly philanthropic act of Mr Roman is to him good subject for jest and to sneer at Mr Roman shows that he welcomes the new comers by his deeds.

Gayoso gives us words! Among the catalogue of his objections to Mr Roman, he asks "what speeches has he made—what papers written?" Gayoso has written three papers or two—here three speeches—Great and glorious parts! We ought to make him Governor.

Seriously however, Mr Roman I think, has a high claim upon the support of all those citizens, whether native or adopted, who are desirous of seeing the Northern portion of the state, which is now in a state of nature, drained of its stagnant waters and their exhalations,
