BUSHTON & ASPINALL'S COMPOUND TONIC MIXTURE.

A speedy and certain cure for the fever and ague, remittent and intermittent fevers, prepared from the original recipe. Used with eminent and universal success since 1826, by persons of the highest respectability in the city, as stated in the annexed certificates.

This medicine is highly recommended, and has been extensively used in the above diseases with such distinguished success, that the proprietor of the recipe has been induced to offer it to the public in expectation that it may be the means of relieving many of those who are suffering under the scourge of the country. It is a medicine possessing great virtues, and when used according to the directions has never failed of effecting a cure, even in the most obstinate stage of the disorder. It is not at all disagreeable, and persons of the weakest stomach, and children may take it with impunity. It strengthens the digestive organs, creates an appetite and seldom requires more than one, or in obstinate cases, two bottles to effect a cure. There is in it neither mercury nor arsenic in the medicine, nor anything injurious to the human constitution. Thousands can be well governed of its efficacy, that they agree to refund the price of every bottle which it has been taken in accordance with the directions and has not effected a perfect cure of the fever and ague.

PENMANSHIP.

Practical and ornamental. Taught at DELBEAR & BROTHERS' Writing Academy, No 6 Chartres street.—The extensive patronage which the Proprietors of Writing Academies throughout the United States, and the increasing application for instructions in the science, as well as the encomiums of Writing, in conducting Mercantile Establishments or academies in New York, New Orleans and Mobile, and to their attention to all and greater facilities for the acquisition of Penmanship, than are afforded by any other institution, have induced the proprietors of the Bee to offer the privilege of attending at their office where with an exchange. The Ladies and gentlemen are accordingly invited to the improvement of their improvement given by persons from 8 to 50 years of age who have received lessons in this city that he has in any part of the U. S. Ladies are taught a flexible and rapid mercantile style, also, various ornamental writing, adapted to Albums, Notes of Compliment, &c. Gentlemen are taught a free and expeditious handwriting calculated to facilitate business transactions, by dispensing with the delay incident to deciphering the hieroglyphical scawl of most of our business, and resorting to the clerks, as at a more rapid and regular pace. Persons visiting the city for only a few days will receive special attention.

The manner of Lessons is not limited, but every person who wishes to attend, may do so at any time, at pleasure, shall be expected at an establishment that has for its object the accommodation of the public, and the improvement of the rising generation, between the above points and landings, leaving New Orleans every Sunday at 10 A M and Bayou Sara every Wednesday at the same hour. ap 23 J B COLLA, Agent.
