THE FLORIDA WAR

We now offer to our readers a letter a while, the only journal [illegible] condemned the disgraceful [illegible] unspeakable bargain which Gen'l Macomb made with the Indians of Florida, and dignified [illegible] "treaty of peace." We [illegible] the miserable tricks, folly and impracticability [illegible] of this pitch work, this solemn farce [illegible] We predicted that the inevitable consequences [illegible] would ensue from the impolicy of the government [illegible] consequences deplorable to humanity, and [illegible] which would inflict a deep and ineffaceable stain upon [illegible] reputation of the military execution to which [illegible] which they were the result. The event has [illegible] the prophecy. Not a month after the adoption [illegible] the wily and treacherous Indians re[illegible] the stipulations of the treaty, murder, rapine and assassination. The [illegible] sought under the unoffending slaughter of [illegible] ages, sexes and conditions—the burning and murdering and every revolting characteristic of savage warfare have already been perpetrated. A few days [illegible] we heard of the massacre of Green Chair's whole family, and the burning and pillaging of their [illegible] Now we have to record another act of the [illegible] for massacring equal perfidy and a more [illegible] The following extracts contained in a [illegible] Florida paper, dated, Fort [illegible] July 29th 1839

[illegible] letter states that on the morning of the 23d [illegible] had gone with his detachment, an [illegible] in accordance with the treaty [illegible] to establish a trading house. The [illegible] men stand with Colonel [illegible] encamped on the river, but unprotected [illegible] and all is said and without warning [illegible] were attacked before the dawn of day [illegible] in large numbers. Thirteen of the dead [illegible] killed among whom were Major Dade [illegible] Mr. Morgan, wounded. The remainder will [illegible] and several of them severely wounded. The other affair [illegible]

[illegible] general therefore, directs that [illegible] take measures to place the defences at [illegible] in the most complete state of repair and [illegible] to attack, should it be necessary [illegible] the garrison except under a strong [illegible] Fort Mellon, Fort Gatlin, Fort Mellon, Fort Mellon, Fort Mellon
