FOR PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,

HENRY CLAY,

OF KENTUCKY.

Subject to the decision of a National Convention.

NEW-ORLEANS:

SATURDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 5, 1839.

SOMETHING MORE CONCERNING PROSPECTS.

[illegible] our locofoco neighbor had looked a little closer into our article of Wednesday, he would have seen that we based our estimate of the strength of the opposition in part only on the statements of the Eastern Argus Revived. We omitted intentionally the calculations of the editor on the abolitionists, because we consider it supremely ridiculous to regard that faction as constituting an exclusively integral portion of either political party. It is scarcely necessary to dwell longer on this point, as in yesterday's Bee we stated our opinions at length. The Eastern Conservative Argus can no more persuade that the abolitionists are [illegible] whigs, nor can the Burlington Gazette or New York Evening Post that they are all locofocos. The whigs of the south are not to be humbugged any longer by that sort of stuff.

One word more on this subject. A tremendous [illegible] is made of certain resolutions lately adopted by an abolition convention in New York, in which these fanatics declare they will not vote for any man who is not in favor of the immediate abolition of slavery. This, of itself, is amply sufficient to demonstrate the utter absurdity of the proposition advanced by the loco-focos—for among the candidates of the whigs there is not one who is in favor of the "immediate abolition of slavery." Let the loco-focos point to the passage in any speech, letter, public or private document, of the whig candidates for the presidency, in which they declare themselves in favor of the immediate abolition of slavery. The abolitionists consistently with these professions, can vote for neither of the whig candidates; but must needs concentrate their [illegible] on some individual whose principles harmonize with their own—some such faithful and thorough-going abolitionist as JAMES WOODBURY, of N. Hampshire, brother of that devoted democrat, the present [illegible] of the treasury. We can recommend him as admirably suited to the fanatics, in proof of which we have only to state that his name was placed on the abolition ticket for governor at the election in New Hampshire last spring. We truly hope that the abolitionists will practice their precept and vote for neither of the regularly nominated candidates. We do not need their aid. We are quite strong enough, if united, to [illegible] the loco-focos without them.

What are we to think of the claims which our [illegible] puts forth to New York, Vermont, North Carolina, Mississippi, Louisiana and Illinois. Is it not preposterous and unfounded to regard these states as certain to vote for Martin Van Buren? New York, that elected a whig governor and legislature by ten thousand majority; Vermont, that still continues whig in spite of the blustering of the loco focos; North Carolina, that gave at the last election a whig majority of several thousand on the popular vote; Mississippi, that twice elected whig members to congress, and a whig legislature that chose last winter a whig senator in place of a loco foco whose term had expired; Louisiana, that has legislature, governor and all her members of congress whig. Illinois alone might be looked upon as doubtful, and even her legislature gave unequivocal evidence of hostility to the spoilers, by distinctly repudiating the sub-treasury scheme and instructing Messrs. Robinson and Young to vote against it—instructions which, by the way, these immaculate democrats did not obey. The organ [illegible] must be disproportionately large on the cranium of our neighbor, if he truly believes that all the states in question will vote the democratic ticket. We [illegible] whether his readers possess such an unlimited [illegible] of being cheated by exaggerated fancies. There is no better mode of determining what these [illegible] will do than by referring to what they have [illegible]. If the administration press can point out a more logical method of arriving at a just estimate, we shall be happy to adopt it. We are desirous of getting as nearly as possible at facts, and have neither [illegible] nor the ability to deceive our readers.

The cool audacity of these locofocos is amusing. They would put their fingers upon all the twenty-six states of the union at once; they would seize at a grasp the galaxy of constellations, and make of them one huge sun to illumine locofocoism, on its march to destruction. The utmost we can obtain from their charity is, that they will leave us one faint and [illegible] star, Massachusetts, by whose light we may [illegible] grope our way. Happily for us, like Lucifer's angels, they have the boundless will, but not the unlimited power. Their aspirations of evil are [illegible] by conscious impotence, and they are compelled to substitute boastful arrogance for substantial [illegible].

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN NEW YORK.

The NATIONAL THEATRE, has been destroyed by fire. It broke out on the afternoon of the 23d ultimo, and is said to have originated in the explosion of a gas pipe, or by some carelessness of the person who had charge of the pipes, and who turned the supply cock the wrong way. The flames soon burst out in every direction. The French church, at the corner of Franklin street, was entirely consumed. The beautiful organ was saved by great exertions. On the opposite side, the African church, in Leonard street, caught and became a prey to the flames. The Reformed Dutch church in Franklin street next suffered. [illegible] of wood, was speedily consumed. The [illegible] property burnt was small. The French church was a beautiful and costly building, was not insured. The National, which cost $100,000, built on [illegible] bought at $60,000, was insured for only $30,000. The other buildings were but partially insured. The wind was high, and it was with great difficulty that the flames were prevented from spreading in every direction. A benefit had been tendered to the company of the National, by Mr. Simpson, of the Park; but it was so coldly worded that it was declined unanimously. The loss has fallen heavily on Wallack, who had embarked his all in the National.

The total loss by this sad calamity is estimated at $250,000, of which $39,000 only are said to be insured.

THE ARMISTAD.

Judge Thompson gave his decision on the 23d ult., in regard to the application of the prisoners' counsel, to have the Africans discharged under a writ of habeas corpus, and denied the motion. The question before the court was simply as to the jurisdiction of the district court in this matter. He considered that that court could not take cognizance of the case as to whether the slaves were to be set at liberty, or returned to the United States as Spanish subjects, to be delivered upon demand, he did not consider it within his [illegible] to decide. The district court, upon which the case now devolves, was adjourned to meet at Hartford on the third Monday in November next. The prisoners will probably be remanded to jail in New Haven.

Lord Brougham's speech at the dinner given in honor of the Duke of WELLINGTON, is one of the most beautiful specimens of oratory we have ever perused. It does not occupy more than one-fourth the space which the speeches of our congressional Ciceros usually contained, and yet within that brief compass it comprises every requisite of high oratorical [illegible]. It possesses force, rapid and resistless declamation, eloquence of a rare order and a nervous bold [illegible] style. Its metaphors are not lavished with a profuse hand, but they are singularly fine and well sustained. It has just a sufficient dash of argument to relieve it from the charge of simple declamation, and not a whit more than the occasion—a festive one—required. This speech, like all the productions of Lord Brougham's comprehensive intellect, short as it is, possesses historical value, and derives interest from the cursory yet accurate review it takes of the career of Wellington, from his first decisive field when, as Arthur Wellesley, he won the battle of Assaye in the East, to the period when he plucked the laurel from the crown of Napoleon on the plains of Waterloo.

If there is a fault to be found with this really admirable speech, we would instance the unmeasured encomium lavished upon its subject. Too much liberality [illegible] is the error of a noble mind. Lord Brougham is a political opponent of the Duke of Wellington. On the occasion alluded to he determined to merge all political rivalry in the tribute to a statesman and soldier to whom his country was certainly deeply indebted, and in the ardor of his disinterestedness and [illegible] he has perhaps elevated him to even a more exalted pinnacle than unbiassed criticism could well [illegible].

☞ A man named Jonathan D. Hopkins, a stranger, aged about 30 years, arrived at St. Martinsville, some weeks since, and took lodgings at Mr. Greig's [illegible], where he kept his chamber for several days, and finally died on Monday, the 23d ultimo, without having given any positive information respecting him which could lead to the discovery of his place of residence. It is supposed, from papers found in his possession, that he came originally from Virginia—he had also lived in Texas, and latterly stopped at a place on Red River called Sulphur Fork Prairie.—He left a boy eight or nine years of age, also, papers regarding some land in Texas, and other things of inconsiderable value.

OPELOUSAS.

Sickness has prevailed to some extent in Opelousas. Many persons have been taken down with an epidemic fever, though few deaths have accurred at the last dates it was on the decline. Among the victims was Wm. W. Bowen, esq. The papers ascribe the sickness to the extensive and long continued drought and its abatement to a violent thunder storm accompanied with wind and rain. Within ten days there had been one hundred cases of sickness in the town and its vicinity.

ACCIDENT ON THE CLINTON AND PORT HUDSON RAILROAD.—About a week since, as the cars were coming from Port Hudson, while near the plantation of Colonel Eason, the coupling-pin of the locomotive, by some means, became detached from the train of cars when the latter descended the hill with rapidity, and coming in contact with some other cars, the concussion destroyed three or four of them. We regret to add, says the Feliciana Whig, that two gentlemen of Jackson, Messrs. J. E. L. Pegram and O A. Burbank, were severely injured.

Our crops have languished for some time past for want of rain. We have lately had plentiful showers, and they now begin to revive.—Francisville Gaz.

NEW WORKS.

Our friends, NORMAN, STEEL & Co. have placed on our table a number of new and popular works.—Among others, professor Longfellow's beautiful romance of Hyperion, a work of exquisite taste, giving abundant evidence of a highly gifted intellect, a delicate and fertile fancy, and a vein of truly poetical feeling. Every page of Hyperion is replete with beauty. Sketches of every day people, by Boz. The authorship of this volume is quite sufficient recommendation. Boz does not need one syllable [illegible] from the public journals to win his way to undivided popularity. The humorous, the original, the grotesque and the pathetic may all be encountered and enjoyed in these sketches. The Naval Foundling. This is a novel which has been very favorably noticed in the northern papers. It is from the pen of the inventive writer of Tough Yarns, who has made the sea and its wonders as much his peculiar province, as it is that of Cooper and Marryatt. Nicholas Nickleby, No. 17. Perhaps the most interesting of all the numbers is the present. The sordid avarice of Gride, the heroic filial devotion of Madeline Bray, the manly courage and virtue of Nicholas, and the remorseless cupidity and unmitigated iniquity of his uncle Ralph, are so vividly depicted in a series of skilfully developed incidents, that they confer upon this number of the work an interest perfectly absorbing. We are almost ready to admit the superiority of Nicholas Nickleby over our old favorite, Oliver Twist.

[FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

New-York, September 24th, 1839.

The capture of the Spanish schooner, having slaves on board, that murdered the captain, &c. is exciting some attention, but no final decision has yet been made by the court. From present appearances, however, the responsibility will be thrown upon the president.

On the last day of the sitting of the British parliament, Lord Palmerston, in reply to an enquiry stated, that negotiations were in progress with the United States, on the subject of slavery, which he had reason to hope would terminate satisfactorily.—This reply may, in some measure account for, or explain the character of the orders supposed to have been given to British cruizers, in relation to boarding American vessels, suspected of being engaged in the African slave trade.

In the present state of the negotiation, as represented by Lord Palmerston, it is not to be presumed that any unfriendly orders would be issued; and the probability, therefore is, that no orders to board American vessels have been given; or, if given, that the principle, (so long contended for by our government) of refusing the right of search has been abandoned by our minister at the British court. Would Mr. Stevenson do this, without express authority from the president? He would not, if I know the man, and I think I do. This is an important question, however, deeply affecting not only the ship owner, but the whole commercial interest of the country.

This city has again suffered from a desolating fire. It broke out yesterday afternoon, in the northern part of the city, about 5 o'clock. Among the buildings burnt, are three churches and the National Theatre, formerly the Italian Opera House. In the latter the fire originated. The newspapers will afford you ample details. The loss to private individuals is not to a very large amount, the buildings destroyed not being valuable.

Stocks, in general, a shade better. Not much business transacted at the board. The bears did not press upon the market.

In the cotton market there is a decided improvement, with some activity. Fair 12½. Good Fair 14 cents. A sale this day. There are two lots superior, held at, and will probably command 16 cents. No change in flour.

It gives me pain to state, that the house of Foster & Easton has been compelled to suspend payment. They are importers of dry goods, and their failure is probably heavy.

The ship Louisa, Seaman, and the ship Louisville, both from New Orleans are below.

New York, September 25th, 1839.

The sub-treasury and the tariff will agitate congress from the moment that the session commences, until it closes. In South Carolina, the friends of Mr. Calhoun are acting with an energy that merits success, and in that state their efforts will crown them with victory. Already two if not more candidates have taken the field for a seat in congress, in the district lately represented by Mr. Elmore. These candidates have been called upon to avow their sentiments in relation to the topics above specified.

Mr. Butler, (one of them,) believes "all banks created by congress both unconstitutional and dangerous." He is "in favor of the independent treasury, and for an entire separation of the finances of the government from the control and direction of all banks." He believes "all tariffs, other than for the purposes of revenue only, palpable violations of the constitution," and will "go for an exclusive, downright, ad valorem duty upon all the imports of the country."

Mr. Caughman, (the other,) is "in favor of an independent, constitutional, specie paying, United States treasury." He believes, "that congress has no constitutional right to charter any banks, under any pretence whatsoever," and "that all tariffs enacted by congress, for the protection of domestic manufactures, or for any purpose whatever, other than revenue, are violations of the federal constitution."

Such are the movements that are making in relation to the tariff and sub-treasury, by the loco foco party from one extreme of the Union to the other. The next step will be to secure the attendance, on the first day of the session, of all their friends in congress, in the hope of defeating us on the question of speaker.—Are the whigs slumbering? Will they be at their posts? Or will some of them, "according to ancient usage," remain at home?

The electioneering campaign, on the part of the whigs, opens on Monday the 30th, in this city. On the evening of that day, the several wards convene for the purpose of electing delegates to a county convention, which convention are to nominate candidates to represent the city and county in the state legislature. Both parties appear to be confident of success. In such a state of things, the result must be doubtful; but I consider the state of New York safe without this city, unless some indiscreet movement should distract and divide the whig party.

There is no substantial change in any of the markets. Some of the stocks are a shade better, but all are heavy. Bank of the United States 3 to 3½.

The domestic exchanges remain as at my last quotation, with the exception of Nashville, which is rather more unfavorable, and may be quoted at ten per cent.

THE EXAMINER.

To the Editors of the New-Orleans Bee:

GENTLEMEN—Please to say that the Covington Advocate is in error in stating that the yellow fever is prevailing to some extent at Pass Christian. I can assure you that no case of yellow fever, or of any fever approaching the character of yellow fever, has been seen at Pass Christian this summer. A few cases of severe remittent fever have occurred, but nothing of a more serious character.

Yours, MEDICUS.

☞ The party that support the Sub-Treasury once entertained a very different opinion of its policy. Witness the following from the Albany Argus of Sept. 29, 1837—only two years ago:—

"Resolved, That we consider the system of collecting the public revenue by the agency of sub-treasurers as peculiarly objectionable in principle; that the language of the Globe in 1834, (then the organ of the administration) truly depicts, "the proposition as disorganizing and revolutionary, subversive of the fundamental principles of our government, and of its entire practice, from 1789 down to this day," that "it is as palpable as the sun that the effect of the scheme would be to bring the public treasure much nearer the actual custody and control of the president than it is now, and expose it to be plundered by a hundred hands, where one cannot now reach it;" and that any system which in 1834 was fraught with such imminent dangers as to be condemned by an unanimous vote of the democratic members of congress must now be radically wrong, and undeserving the support of a free and enlightened people."

THE BANK OF ENGLAND.—We published a few weeks ago a statement of the operations of the bank of England, showing that during the whole of the present year there had been a steady increase in the amount of loans tending to produce that demand for specie, which in the opinion of many might result in suspension. This apprehension, however, we did not entertain, and have expressed at some length the grounds of our confidence in the strength of the bank. The amount of securities held, was, according to the statement of

December 11	£20,707,000
April 20 it had risen to	22,387,000
June 25, to	23,334,000
July 23, to	24,905,000

Shewing an increase in the previous month of nearly a million. By the journals recently received, we have the statement of August 20, shewing a further increase of nearly £600,000, the amount £25,588,000. The whole increase in the present year is nearly six millions of pounds, or thirty millions of dollars.

The deposites which in June were only £7,567,000 had risen in July to .... 7,955,000 and in August to .... 8,029,000. Thus the higher the price of money, the greater is the amount left by individuals in the bank to be loaned out for the advantage of its stockholders. By its operations it would therefore seem, that it destroys confidence, and in at once enabled to increase the rate of interest and the amount of loans, thus profiting largely at the expense of both owners and employers of capital.—National Gazette.

ANSWERED.—A Liverpool correspondent of the New York Star writes:

"A singular fact has just oozed out—that the Emperor of Russia has made an offer to the owners of the British Queen and Great Western steam vessels, at a price equal to 50 per cent profit on the prime cost of these vessels, on delivering them at Cronstadt, allowing them to take their present trips to New York.—The respective trans-Atlantic steam companies are understood to have declined this very tempting offer, considering that, having afforded a certain accommodation to the public, they were not authorized to withdraw or diminish it, and fearing that the loss, from interruption, to their establishments, would far exceed the profit tendered. In stating this on dit, I give it in the exact words of a letter from a respectable London house which has been handed about here."

SINGULAR CHARACTER.—At the little village of Carondelet or Vuides-poches, (near St. Louis,) I went to visit a strange old man, of whom I had heard frequent mention. As his name was Leichendorfer, I concluded he must be German; but he answered me in such a strange patois of that language, that I was soon convinced of my error. Upon cross-examining him, I discovered that he was from the Italian side of Tyrol, and that his real name was Santuario, and the rest of the conversation was carried on in that language, which he spoke with tolerable accuracy and fluency. He boasts of speaking German, French, Spanish, Turkish, English, &c. all equally well. From the specimen I had of the first, I had no doubt that his claims are well founded. He was among the sharp shooters in the Austrian army at Marengo, and still hates Bonaparte with laudable patriotism. He was some years at Constantinople, then he went to Egypt, and contrived to render the pacha some services in Arabia, after which he was employed by Gen. Eaton, to assist in his expedition against the bey of Tripoli, and was instrumental in restoring his brother, the ex-bey; for this he was made a colonel in the U. S. army, and lives now upon the proceeds of some lands and an orchard, which he bought with the money gained by his services. He is a strangely prejudiced old man, but with a fine face, and the remains of a very athletic frame. He has had, and I believe has still, several wives in the various countries which he has inhabited, and owns to 27 children. He is very busy in writing his life and preparing it for publication; his brain is as prolific as his person, and his pen bears any proportion to his tongue, the world may expect soon to see the work appear in 27 volumes.—Murray's Travels.

NAPOLEON AND MUSIC.—M. Arnault, the celebrated French poet academician, says of Napoleon, that while he acknowledged the influence of music over the minds of his soldiers, and consequently, always provided them with good bands, he himself could not sing in tune. Singing was even a sign of ill-humour on his part, and when he was cross, he walked about, with his hands behind him, humming a tune as falsely as possible, and then few dare approach him. "If you have any thing to ask the general," said Junto to M. Arnault one day, "I advise you not to go near him just now, for he is singing.—Boston Mercantile Journal.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF THE MARKET.

NEW-ORLEANS, Saturday, Oct. 5, 1839.

REMARKS.—Since the publication of our last remarks, there has been but little business done in any department of trade, though the arrival of several steamboats from the Ohio and Upper Mississippi, and their unloading and reloading, have given an air of bustle and activity to the Levee which it has long been a stranger to. The season is now fast approaching when, in the usual course of things, trade must again revive and our city resume its wonted appearance of life and animation. We shall hail the return of this season with pleasure; as, in addition to the revival of business, it will bring with it familiar faces that we shall be glad again to meet in the busy mart. We are happy to notice a decided abatement in the epidemic;—cases are much less frequent, and those which occur are said to yield more speedily to seasonable and judicious treatment. Notwithstanding these favorable features we must repeat our caution to those abroad, that, in entering the city before the occurrence of a frost, they encounter danger. The weather has been clear and cool throughout the week.

COTTON.—Received since 1st inst. 813 bales, exceeding the quantity received for the same period last year, 529 bales. The exports since the 1st Oct. amount to 1,577 bales, viz: to Havre, 1,299 bales; Havana, 308 do; making an addition to the stock of 8,664 bales—and leaving a balance on hand, including all on shipboard not cleared, of 22,674 bales.

Since our last publication we have received our circulars and private correspondence by the British Queen. The accounts which they contain respecting the Liverpool cotton market, and the state of trade, &c., are substantially the same as those given in our last number. The decline in the lower qualities of American cottons, during the two days previous to the 3d August, is stated at ½ @ ⅝ d. at which rate it nearly re-[illegible] market closed heavily, and sales are generally represented to have ranged from 6¼ @ 9¼ d. After a day or two of quiet our own market again opened with a tolerably fair demand, and, as holders remain firm, the prices paid fully sustain the advance which we noticed last week. Indeed we find it necessary to advance our quotations for the ordinary and middling qualities, as our figures, before, were merely nominal, there having been few or no transactions in those descriptions that could be made the basis of correct quotations. The demand has been, generally, for France and the Northern markets, and has been confined, principally, to the fair to good fair qualities of the new crop. The sales since the 27th ultimo, amount to about 3,800 bales, the particulars of which we give as follows:—of the OLD crop Louisiana and Mississippi 400 bales at — cents, of the NEW crop, 5 bales at 12½ cents; 38 at 11¼; 22 at 10¾; 30 at 11¼; 123 at 12; 114 at 12; 15 at 11¼; 81 at 11¾; 43 at 12; 191 at 12; 293 at 11¼; 106 at 12, 31 at 11¾; 49 at 11¼; 30 at 12¼; 11 at 11¼; 127 at 12¾; 25 at 12½; 33 at 11¾; 100 at 11½; 17 at 12½; 30 at 12¼; 14 at 12; 46 at 11½; 29 at 11¼; 101 at 11; 21 at 11¼; 12 at 11¾; 14 at 11¼; 22 at 12¼; 77 at 13; 68 at 12¼; 15 at 12¼; 27 at 12¾; 219 at 12¼; 61 at 12; 20 at 12¼; 28 at 12; 10 at 11¾; 160 at 11½; and 45 bales at 12 cents.

SUGAR. Louisiana.—No sales of any importance have come to our knowledge. The business is still confined to very limited parcels, and we still quote inferior to common 4 @ 5¼, prime 6 @ 7, and extra prime 7¼ c. There is very little doing in Havana sugars, and prices are without change. Arrived since 1st instant, 9. Exported, 16 hhds to Florida.

MOLASSES.—Prices remain the same, and transactions are confined to small lots from the Levee. We have heard of no sales on plantation. Received since 1st instant, 20 brls.

TOBACCO.—This article seems to have been entirely neglected this week, there not having been a single transaction so far as we have been able to learn. The stock is small, but buyers manifest no disposition to operate.

BAGGING AND BALE ROPE.—The market has received a further supply of both articles, and a fair demand exists, particularly for bagging, which holders generally decline selling, without the usual proportion of rope. Prices remain as before. Received since 1st October, 763 coils rope, 1742 pieces bagging.

BEEF.—The demand continues extremely limited. Exported since 1st instant, 20 brls to Florida.

PORK.—The stock continues large, with a very limited demand, the transactions being still confined to small parcels for plantation use, and even these seem to have been in less request this week than usual, and holders would readily yield to a reduction for any considerable quantity.

BACON.—We note a sale of 10 hhds sides at 8¾ c—the latter price being on time, the former, cash. This is the only considerable sale beyond a mere retail business, that we have noticed for some time. The market continues extremely dull at former rates for small parcels. Received since the 1st instant, 6 hhds. Exported, to Florida 6 hhds, Havana 10 hhds, other foreign ports 5 hhds—in all 20 hhds.

LARD.—There has been a little more demand this week, though the market must still be considered very dull. Some two or three lots have been sold for shipment, and others have been forwarded to Cuba and the north, on owners' account. The sales have generally been at 10 @ 11 cents.

FLOUR.—The market continues to be fairly supplied with new flour, and, as the demand is still confined to the consumption of the city and neighborhood, prices have declined a little. We quote superfine 5 ¼ @ 6 25, dull. The stock of old flour is, principally, kiln dried, for which there is, at present, no demand. Arrived since 1st inst., 189 brls. Exported, to Florida 98, Havana 500, other foreign ports 542—in all 1140 brls.

GRAIN.—The market has a good supply of shelled corn in sacks, and the demand this week has not been at all active. Prices, however, remain unchanged, and we still quote 75 @ 80 cents per bushel. Oats are plenty at 40 @ 45 cents. Received since 1st inst. 2,704 sacks corn, 311 sacks oats. Exported 60 sacks corn.

WHISKEY.—The demand for this article is not at all active, but the prices of last week are sustained. We still quote rectified 46 @ 48—common 35 @ 46. Exported since 1st of October, 10 brls to Florida.

SPIRITS.—The market is fairly supplied, and the demand for all descriptions is very limited.

LEAD.—We have heard of no sales this week. There is but little arriving, and the few lots received generally go forward to the north.

CANDLES.—There is a limited business doing in sperm, at former prices. Tallow candles have declined a little.

OILS.—The market has received a further supply of sperm, and we notice a slight decline in winter strained. Other descriptions are without change.

LIME.—There is no Thomaston arriving at present. Small sales are made from stores at $1 50 ⅌ cask.

COFFEE.—The demand is, principally, for prime green, which is extremely scarce. The lower qualities are not in much request. The market is still bare of Rio.

SALT.—Two lots, amounting to about 9,000 sacks, have been received this week from Liverpool, and are selling in lots from ship, with a more active demand than has existed for some time past. A further cargo of Turks' Island has arrived.—The sales are at 55 cents ⅌ bushel.

FREIGHTS.—We have heard of no new engagement, this week, for Europe. The small, last ship which we mentioned in our last, as having commenced taking in for Havre at 1¼ completed her cargo at the same rate, but ⅞ is now the most that can be obtained. Ships leaving for Liverpool continue to take at ½ d. In coastwise freights there is a little improvement, but they are still dull.

EXCHANGE.—There is very little doing in European exchange, and rates are without alteration. Bills on the north at 60 days, are plenty, but drafts, at short sight, for which alone there is much demand, are scarce.

NEW YORK MONEY MARKET, Sept. 25.—The stock of the U S Bank and a few others are without change. The money market is [illegible] without change. Not the slightest excitement in the street as compared with yesterday. There is no change in stocks.

There is something connected with the arrival of the British Queen to-day which has had a most unpleasant effect on stocks, as the following table will show. The steamer arrived on the 24th.

	19th	21st	24th
Delaware and Hudson	61	61¾	61
North American Trust	60	57	53
Harlem Railroad	46¾	46	44

The calamitous fire of last night has fallen very heavily on our Fire Insurance offices. Although but few dwellings and no towns were destroyed, yet it is unusual for so many public buildings to be consumed together. We do not recollect the time when three churches and a theatre were laid in ashes at one time in this city by the flames before.

Some of the officers of the various banks had a meeting on Saturday evening, and discussed banking operations; but it is [illegible] that the banks were never in a more sound and healthy position, having specie on hand to the amount of three and a half millions. This we have no doubt is correct. Nor have we any doubt that another fact might be stated, and that is, that they have crowded down their line of discount to the lowest notch, nearly or quite as low as during the suspension of specie payments. This it is that produces the pressure, and this ought not to be. Since there has been but one meeting of the bank officers, it would be well if it were followed up by others, and that some understanding should be entered into to let out and extend their discounts. This course of conduct would relieve the city in a week. One bank, nor two, nor five can accomplish anything as one there is an union and concert of action. There are many of the banks that have greatly reduced their line of discounts, and are able to extend them. Let them at once do so, and in two months they may replace their bills with those drawn against the coming crop of cotton, which will be abundant. The dif-[illegible] [illegible] is, and has been, that there are two or three institutions and presidents, the names of which we have often alluded to, and who are well known, stand in the way of every thing of the kind. Being the directed instruments of the government, they so conduct their affairs as to crush the best mercantile interests of the city.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept 24.—We are compelled to repeat the old story. Our money market is still exceedingly tight. At the close of the week the rates for good paper were 1½ @ 2 ⅌ cent a month; for U S Bank Post Notes, 1½ @ 1¾. It is impossible to predict with any degree of certainty when we shall have a change for the better. The banks are discounting somewhat, but to a very limited extent indeed as compared with the demand.

From the Baltimore Patriot.

BALTIMORE, Sept 26.—At auction to-day, 300 hhds New Orleans sugar—10 sold at 6 @ 6¾ 10—balance withdrawn. 77 hhds Porto Rico sugar—10 sold at 6 ⅞ @ 7 10—balance withdrawn.

15 tierces of New-Orleans molasses, 35¼ c—10 brls do, 36c.

Flour—There is but little demand for Howard street, and the market continues unsettled; the receipts are fair; sales from stores at $5 75 @ 6, some not willing to sell at these rates. We quote $6 @ $6. The wagon price is unsettled; we quote $5 51, with a downward tendency. City mills sales at $5 75 on time. Some choice brands are held at $5 80, and $5 75 on time.

Grain.—The unsettled state of the grain market for several days has prevented our giving quotations. There have been sales of white wheat at $1 16 @ 1 19—common $1 06 @ 1 10—prime red at $1 00 @ 1 05, sales of yellow corn at 70c—white 65 @ 68. Rye 70 @ 73—oats, Md 31 @ 32c.

Whiskey—Held in hhds at 31c, and in brls at 34 @ 35c, and market dull.

Provisions—Market dull and limited transactions in western assorted bacon 9 @ 9¼ c—shoulders 8c—middlings 8 @ 9—hams 10 @ 11c. Small sales of lard at 12¼ c. No 2 butter 15 @ 17. We note a sale of 175 brls mess beef at $16.

Joseph Guillot vs. Joseph Victor Guillot.

IN the court of probates, in and for the parish and city of New Orleans, Thursday, 6th June, 1839.

The plaintiff demands the interdiction of the defendant, the allegations upon which rests this demand are denied by the attorney appointed to represent the defendant.

The evidence results from the report of physicians commissioned by the court to examine the defendant. From this it appears, that the defendant is subject to fits of epilepsy, which have resulted into idiotism, and totally disqualified him for the administration of his affairs. Such being the facts of the case, and the court being of opinion that the defendant ought to be interdicted, orders, adjudges and decrees that Joseph Victor Guillot be, and he is hereby interdicted from the administration of his affairs and estate.
