T. W. FIELDS' IMPROVED PATENT FRICTION ROLLER,
HOISTING WHEEL MANUFACTORY,
86 Walker street, New-York.

THE SUBSCRIBER respectfully informs the merchants and publicks general of New-Orleans, that he has made such arrangements as will enable them to obtain the above wheel at a reduced price, from the old "patent," that one man can elevate from 20 to 30 to 25 cwt. with ease. I remind merchants of New York and other cities, that nothing in the world like a little rhubarb, or senna, or jallup, or aloes, mixed with castile soap and myrtle with a little peppermint, or some other scented drug, and a simple cathartic like this is generally efficacious. But the drug, it keeps the prisoners and others the patients getting again, he has again to consult the physician, instead of procuring for himself, at a mere fraction of the original expense, the wonderful remedy which had relieved him. It is thus that a majority of the population of every civilized country suffer disease to work its ill mischiefs way into their system, because the relief they derive from medicine is at once expensive, transitory, and difficult of access; and thus it is exemplified the memorable confession of an eminent physician, that "Prescriptions in the Roman language have indeed killed more people than a Little Roman language."

A medicine so compounded that it will cleanse the alimentary canal of all its foulest accumulations and turn substances, I grew and invigorating action to all the others that constitute their agency to the digestive functions, and, by promoting the amicable performance, relieve the whole system of febrile and inflammatory symptoms, must necessarily prove a great blessing to mankind, if rendered at a price which places it within the reach of all classes. If it have an extensive sale, it cannot but be of great benefit to the public good, than all the members of the medicinal profession combined can possibly accomplish within the comparatively narrow limits of their private practice. Such a medicine, I believe, has in the COMPOUND SYRUP AND PILLS, the efficacy of which are established throughout the United States, and voluntarily certified by thousands of individuals who have have relieved and cured. It is in vain that the interested denouncer of popular medicines attempt to include these in their indiscriminate condemnation. Facts be at thousands, and are more stubborn even than prejudices. Could the most eminent and successful physician that ever live collect a [illegible] of remarkable cures, and of such [illegible] as Sarsaparilla, Cathartic Pills, and Vegetable Pills, in cases of [illegible] and [illegible] diseases as have been spontaneously presented to the proprietor of the COMPOUND SYRUP OF SARSAPARILLA AND PILLS during the last two years.
