THE PLANTER'S BANNER,
AND LOUISIANA AGRICULTURALIST;
Franklin, Attakapas, La.

To the Merchants of New Orleans.

THE undersigned, publisher of the above named journal, long impressed with a sense of the advantages which must accrue to city Merchants by publishing their credits of general advertisements in widely circulated country papers, has resolved to introduce the subject to their notice through the medium of the city press. The advantage to the merchant engaged in a country trade, is evident, in making known his name and business, the assortment and quality of his goods through a country journal. Instances of good standing, by so doing, would not only benefit themselves, but would confer a decided favor upon country merchants, who, strangers to the customs of large cities, are frequently, by their unsuspecting character, led astray in their purchases and sales, and thus made a prey to designing knaves.

Should those who transact business in Attakapas, Lafourche and Opelousas, concede in his views, he assures them that no journal could be selected which has a wider or better circulation in this section, than the Planter's Banner.

(Per Terms or Advertising.—For City Merchants, one square (12 times) $10 for the business season, two squares, $15, 3 squares, $20; and longer advertisements in proportion. Orders through the Post-Office, or through Messrs. Brave and Morgan, Exchange-Place.
