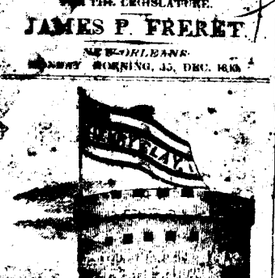
FOR PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

HENRY CLAY.

FOR THE LEGISLATURE,

JAMES P. FRERET

NEW-ORLEANS: SUNDAY MORNING, 15, DEC. 1843.



CLAY CLUB.

A meeting of the members of the Clay Club will be held at their room (65 Exchange Place) on Monday evening the 18th December, 1843, at 7 o'clock. A punctual attendance is requested.

ALFRED ROUSSEAU, C. E. WILLIAMS, ALPHONSE CANONGE, Secrets.

MEETING OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE CLAY CLUB,

NEW ORLEANS, 14th Dec. 1843.

On motion, resolved, that one whig brethren of the different parishes of the State be respectfully requested to address their communications with this Club to LOUIS EYMA, Esq., Chairman of the Correspondent Committee.

H. J. VIENNE, Secretary.

☞ Whig papers in the country are requested to copy.

New Orleans December 16th, 1843.

DEMOCRATIC WHIG ASSOCIATION OF THE FIRST MUNICIPALITY.

The members of the Association are informed that the office will be open to-morrow, Sunday, from 10 o'clock, a. m. till 3 o'clock, p. m, and Monday, during the election.

By order of the President,

L. BERMANN, JULES DAVID, Secretaries.

WHIG CHALLENGING COMMITTEES.

The members of the different Whig challenging committees are requested to call at the Clay Club room this morning, previous to opening the polls, on business of importance connected with the election. Every member is particularly requested to attend. Polls open at 10 o'clock.

WHIG HEAD QUARTERS.

The Clay Club room will be open during the election of this day, where the members of the different committees, as well as the Whigs generally, are requested to attend.

WHIG VOTERS OF NEW ORLEANS!

Remember that if PETER K. WAGNER is elected to the Legislature through your apathy and neglect, the whig majority in that body will be annihilated. If, therefore, you would prevent Beelzebub from triumphing in the Councils of our State, go to the polls and VOTE FOR JAMES FRERET.

VIGILANCE COMMITTEE.

We beseech the Whig Vigilance Committees to be diligent in their attendance at the polls—more especially at that of the Fourth Ward, Second Municipality, and those of the lower wards of the First Municipality.—Wherever the locofocos have sakes to lodge mischiefs they will work by all means—fair and foul—to render their success overwhelming. The Whig Vigilants pretty much take care of themselves. WATCH THE LOCOFOCO WARDS AND KEEP OUT SPURIOUS VOTES.

THE ELECTION TO DAY.

If the whigs of this city need any exhortation from us to induce them to attend the polls to day, we will despair of ever seeing them again animated by a spirit worthy of the cause to which they are attached. If we are ever to witness the return of that generous and patriotic enthusiasm that beat in the heart of every good whig in 1840, and impelled him forward in the rank of freedom, it is time that some token of its advent be exhibited at the polls. So long indeed have the whigs in this city suffered a total torpor to benumb the banks, that our friends elsewhere have almost imagined them incapable of virtue. Shake off the ignoble lethargy, Whigs of New Orleans! Rally in your might, and let the vigor of your action strike with palsy the courage of the enemy, which it overmastes the hopes of your friends. This is the last election that takes place in 1843, and it should be the ambition of every whig to end the year with such a victory as will make the disastrous one that preceded it to be utterly forgotten. Give to the nation a foretaste of what you purpose doing in 1844; redeem your position in the whig family; close the year with rejoicing that we may enter the Business of the new with the song of triumph in our mouths.

OUR WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE.

We have the gratification to lay before our readers the first letter of our Washington correspondent. They will be found to contain comprehensive abstracts of the proceedings in Congress. The writer of them is a gentleman of the greatest experience and ability, and one who has rendered signal service to the Whig party in other ways than as a correspondent. His means of acquiring correct opinions upon matters in embryo and unsanctioned, and the information he may impart can be relied upon as the best intelligence at the seat of government at the date of his letters.

☞ Several changes in the names of the inspectors and scrutinies appointed for the several polls, having been made, we publish this day, immediately below the former advertisement given by Judge Maurin, another containing those changes. (See our column of advertisements.)

☞ The private library of Mr. Marsh, Member of Congress from Vermont, is said to be a remarkable one. His collection of Swedish, Danish and Icelandic literature, is probably unequalled out of those countries, it indeed it can be matched there. He possesses all the choicest works in the whole range of Scandinavian literature, ancient and modern, and a valuable series also in German, Italian, Spanish, French and English.

Mr. Calhoun's friends were lately termed "Whigs in disguise," by the present candidate of the locofocos. We wonder whether these gentlemen are willing to allay the suspicions of Mr. Wagner by voting for him.—Nous verrons.

Sir Charles Adams has left the port of Mellitz, N. S. with a fleet, for central America, on business of great importance. Some old difficulties are alluded to as well as the more recent contempt shown the British at a party, where the British minister was present, and what is probably more grievous than all the rest, the construction tariff of Santa Ana, injurious to British trade.

Liberal.—Mr. Forbes, lessee of the Charleston S. C. Theatre, has contributed $300 for the benefit of the widows and children of the officers and crew who perished in the Grampus.

Metairie Races.—The Jockey Club races over the Metairie course commence to-morrow with a sweepstake for two year olds, one mile out, in which there are three subscribers at $500, consisting of the get of Glencoe, Leviathan and Tarlton. All these are on the ground, and no doubt will contend for the stake.

Immediately after a sweepstake, two mile heats, in which there are seven subscribers, at $200, will come off. The sports of the week will no doubt be interesting interest. The stables of Messrs. Kenner, Kirkman, Bingham, Minor, Duplantier, Wells, Chambers, Grier Porter and Turnbull, embracing nearly all the fast and game "crocks" in the south and western already on the spot, and there is still a prospect of the arrival of one or two stables from the east. Col. Oliver has done much to keep up the interest of racing in the west and south, and we hope to see his unflinching efforts crowned with success.

Accident.—Yesterday afternoon, a young girl aged about five years, residing at the corner of Victory and Mandeville streets, Third municipality, was killed by the accidental discharge of a hunting gun. She was in company with her cousin, a full grown female, who, upon hearing the report of the gun, ran out to see what was the matter, and found her cousin lying on the ground, with her head shot off. The gun, it appears, was in the hands of a young man, who had left it in the house, and was ignorant of its being loaded. The young man, who is a cousin of the deceased, is in great grief at the occurrence, and has left the city.

Hung up.—On Saturday night, a young girl aged about 14 years, residing in the vicinity of the Lafayette Market, was hung up by the neck, and robbed of her money, by two men who had enticed her into a house for the purpose. The girl was found in a state of insensibility, and her money gone. The perpetrators of the outrage are not known.

Fire.—Yesterday morning, at 2 o'clock, a small fire was discovered in the house of Mr. Bonnet, in Bienville street, near Tchartres, which was extinguished by the inmates before it had made much headway.

Fire.—Yesterday morning, at 2 o'clock, a small fire was discovered in the house of Mr. Bonnet, in Bienville street, near Tchartres, which was extinguished by the inmates before it had made much headway.

Arrival of the Acadia.

FIFTEEN DAYS LATER FROM ENGLAND.

The Acadia arrived at Boston on the morning of the 6th instant, and the news was brought to New York by a special express of the Wall Street Boy. The trouble and expense were amply repaid, as the intelligence is singularly barren of interest.

A number whence was actually in large quantities, and American bacon was also coming in freely.

The emigrants of the North of Ireland have to organized their society.

The State trials in Ireland drag their slow length along. Little progress had yet been made, and the statement put forth by the Times be correct, that 30,000 witnesses are to be examined, the proceedings will include the greatest term in the world, before they are finished.

The Mentonnish steamer Great Britain is expected at Liverpool, and will proceed thence to New York during the coming spring.

General Duff Green, who has been roughly handled by some of the American papers since he left his native shores as a minister to the court of St. James, has been figuring as the correspondent of the Liverpool and other journals. The General has taken up the cudgels against the Rev. Sydney Smith, and considered him unpopular "republicanism" is on this side of the water, it may be well imagined that he has addressed a hostile audience. The Times has been "shown upon him."

General Green has written a long letter to the Times to combat the views of the American correspondent of that journal, and others, as to the impracticability of a commercial treaty between England and the United States. The General enters into calculations, from which he infers, that although the Whigs have gained at the late elections, there will be a majority against the high tariff opinions took in the Senate and House of Representatives; that the effect of those elections will be to stimulate and unite the Democrats, so that, the President elected next year will not be the Whig, Henry Clay, the author of the present exclusive tariff, but either R. M. Calhoun or Mr. Van Buren, his opponents.

The Anti-Corn Law League is now going slack.—The speech of Mr. Cobden, which he delivered at Manchester, on last Tuesday week, may be taken as an earnest of his forbearance in the future in which the movement. In that metropolis of the manufacturing of the empire, the enormous sum of £19,000 was collected in one day towards the league's subsidy of £100,000. Most of the contributors to the fund have doubled their subscriptions on those of last year. This is the first commencement of the new movement. The free traders (I must be confessed, but of levity. Meetings will shortly be held in the other leading towns of England and Scotland.

Mr. Sunds, an American merchant of great eminence, has been elected Mayor of Liverpool for the ensuing year.

IRELAND.

Repeal Association, Nov. 7.—The usual weekly meeting of the Repeal Association was held on Monday; Mr. Patrick Lalor, Esq., in the Queen's county, in the chair. The first business was the reading of a resolution moved (Mr. O'Connell being absent) by Mr. Clerkin:

"That the Loyal National Repeal Association hold it an paramount duty, at this moment, to apply all the means and influence to the successful furtherance of the national collection for the O'Connell Compensation Fund, fixed for Sunday, the 19th inst. On that occasion, the members and associates of this national body are especially expected to congregate personally and energetically with the respective and patriotic clergy of their several parishes in securing such a result as a cooperative measure worthy of the cause and the cause."

That business disposed of, Mr. O'Connell appeared, he supplied from the words of Edmund Burke, which the Banner of Ulster selected for its motto, adopted by the Association—namely, "Religion is the basis of civil society, and the source of all good and comfort." Mr. Daniel O'Connell, Jr. read the draft of an address to the Queen, to be presented by each parish in Ireland; it protested against the military array by which the Clonmel proclamation was supported to enforce obedience to the mandate of the Protestant clergy, that parish had been misrepresented to the Queen; pointed to the peaceable conduct of large meetings, affected to abstain from proclaiming that the right to meet had been violated, but resolved that troops had been prepared to attack persons congregated on other occasions, and "yet such was the respect for law in Ireland, that every many thousands of people dispersed on the mere proclamation of the Lord Lieutenant, made illegal by an act of almost midnight legislation."

Court of Queen's Bench, Nov. 15.—The trial for libeling Mr. Lyst commenced yesterday, and ended in a verdict against Mr O'Connell, that gentleman appeared on his own behalf, and in mitigation of damages, he called upon the jury to find, that he had not intended to libel the prosecutor, and that he had not been actuated by any malice against him. The jury, after a long deliberation, found a verdict against the defendant, and assessed the damages at £50. The greater part of the day was taken up with argument whether a plea of abatement lodged on the day before was or was not in time, the counsel for the crown contending that it should have been lodged when the parties were first charged, and not after the rule to plead, had expired. It was finally decided by court that it was in time, and thus an important question was not gained upon the attorney general; the counsel for the crown then demurred, and contended to plead to the argument over, till the traverses referred to do so without notice, and the court agreeing, a long and tedious argument, which delays further proceedings until Monday, and when the validity of the objection will be argued. The question is so entirely out of the law, and the matter lies between the technical wording of the act of the act of parliament, that we can give no opinion of the result. Of course, if Mr O'Connell's objection is good, the proceedings on this indictment will be at an end.

FRANCE.

Paris, Nov. 16.—The king and queen both expressed high delight at the account of the reception of the duke and duchess de Nemours in Spain. The queen, their royal highnesses are charged to express the pressing invitation to the queen to visit St. Cloud next year. People almost count think that there is little doubt as to this invitation being accepted; but that if it should from necessity be declined, the king will visit Windsor the next summer, if his health, which is now very good, should permit.

A few days ago, a bit the great hall of the cathedral of Notre Dame was being rung, the clapper gave way and the enormous mass fell down through two floors of the house, and lodged at the third. Three persons were injured.

SPAIN.

The intelligence from Spain is singularly uninteresting, and may be dispatched in few words. At Madrid, the committee of the two chambers of the Cortes had reported in favor of declaring the queen's majority. Some advantages have been gained by the government in the north of Spain. Barcelona opened its gates to Concha on the 28th October, and in Valencia the revolutionists are weakened by dissensions. On the other hand, Espartero still held out on the 2d inst, and Pelto was meeting with success; disorders gained ground at Galliera; at Vigo the government troops had yielded to the insurgents who were masters of the place and the bay; and there are reports of a fresh conspiracy at Seville.

The Madrid papers contain an account of an attack upon the life of Don Narvaez in the streets of that city. He was going in a coach to the theatre. On arriving at the church in Portarelli, the coach was fired at by two men, whose bullets took effect upon two Ayudantes, who accompanied the general.

GERMANY.

Berlin, Nov. 11.—A Russian courier from St. Petersburg has arrived here, and after a short stay in the city, proceeded to Weimar and Darmstadt. It is generally word that her majesty the empress has determined to come to Germany in the spring, and to spend eight or ten weeks at Rome for the benefit of her health.

Hanover, Nov. 9.—It is said that the king will leave the capital and the kingdom for some time this winter, and pass a long time at Berlin.

Frankfort, Nov. 6.—The Grand Duke Alexander and his consort, daughter of the Grand Duke of Hesse Darmstadt, are expected at Darmstadt by the 10th of the month. It is stated that the grand duke means to stop only about three weeks, and then to return direct to St. Petersburg, but that the grand duchess will stay in her native city for some months.

According to a letter of the 8th, from Berlin, in the Journal de Frankfort, an indisposition with which Prince Albert, of Prussia, was attacked while on a visit to the Duke of Brunswick, last increased into a gastric fever, attended with pleurisy. The accounts of the prince was in an alarming state, and the last bulletin says that the disease has assumed the dangerous character of hospitide.

ITALY.

It is denied that there has been any movement of Austrian troops on the Bolognese frontier; a body of soldiers only went, at the request of the Duke of Modena, to sharp in some military parade, regiments, and then returned to quarters. The guerilla warfare against the government of Rome and Piedmont continues, and it seems to put it down as trifling and inefficient. Austria awaits an invitation to interpose.

The time d'Annale, after visiting the King of Sardinia, arrived at Civita Vecchia on the 28th of October, and went to Rome in what is called pape.

GREECE.

A letter in the Augsburg Gazette dated "Frontiers of Poland, 25th October," says—"I can now announce to you without the fear of contradiction, that the Emperor Nicholas has formally expressed his displeasure at the Greek constitution and that he has dispatched M. Kastelbak, (the Russian minister) of his situation, and ordered him to conduct in having manifested too lively a sympathy in the recent revolution, and to quit the capital of royalty. It is stated that the troops concentrated at Kiew be directed to march to the Pruth."

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

—Inauguration.—Mr. Henry Hill arrived in this city on Saturday last, with a requisition from the Governor of the State of New York, demanding Joseph Lilly, alias Joseph McCoy in a page fight at White Plains, in that state, some time last spring.

Speaking a Thing.—Louis, f. m. c. was yesterday brought before Recorder Genois, for stealing a cloak from Mr. Parrillat. It appears that Louis had and handed himself in the entry of a house at which a party was given, to which Mr. P. was invited. Supposing he was a servant belonging to the house, he handed him his cloak and hat, which he did decamped with the former.—He was reminded for further examination.

Michael Kellar, charged with stealing a ham and shoulder of pork from a butcher in Poydras market, was examined yesterday before Recorder Genois, and sent to the Criminal Court for trial.

Chevalier D'Amourette.—Brother Gerard and Charles Skidmore, lately arrived from New York, were arrested on Saturday night at the Orleans ball room and safely caged in the police prison of the First municipality. Recorder Genois will investigate their characters this morning.

☞ Coroner Carey, on Saturday morning, held an inquest upon the body of a still-born child, found in a coffee lying in the gutter at the corner of Robin and Calliopen streets.

Row in Madame Singer.—On Saturday night a grand row took place at a Cabaret in Madison street, during which a man named James Burns was so severely wounded that his life was despaired of. One of the ringleaders named John Carroll was arrested and brought before Recorder Genois, yesterday morning, to answer to the charge. He was remanded for further examination. Burns was conveyed to the Charity Hospital.

Unlawful assemblage of Slaves.—Lieut Beilman and Sergeant Lane of the second municipality police made a descent on Saturday night upon a house at the corner of Benjamin and Levee streets, and upon a house on the corner of Dryades and Tchoupitoulas streets, and succeeded in arresting about a dozen sable gentry who convened together contrary to law.

Hung Jury.—In the case of Bainbridge, tried on Saturday last before the Criminal court, the jury stood 11 for conviction and 1 for acquittal. Judge Canonge having been informed there was no prospect for their agreeing upon a verdict, ordered them to be discharged.

American Theatre.—Rossini's magnificent opera of "La Gazza Ladra" will be produced this evening at the American, with a most powerful cast—Mr. Mrs Seguin, Mr Archer, Mr Shrivel, Hussin, Bowers and a Becker all appear, and, though last not least, Mrs Richardson, whose mellow and peculiarly sweet and delicious voice has often sent a thrill to the hearts of the most phlegmatic the character of Pippo. We predict a house worthy of the occasion.

Mr. Charles.—Mr Broughan, the clever personator of Irish character, is re-engaged for a few nights at the St. Charles. He appears this evening in the part of O'Donoghue Dazzle, as originally written for him, in the amusing comedy of London Assurance. Christy's band of Virginia minstrels, whose droll performances on Saturday evening elicited bursts of applause and shouts of laughter, execute some of their most admired songs and dances.

☞ The celebrated tragedian J. W. Wallack sailed from New York for this port, on board the packet ship Louisiana, on the 5th instant. He is engaged at the St. Charles and will make his first appearance on the 28th inst.

☞ Bravo & Morgan have received the 5th number of the Boston edition of the Mysteries of Paris.

☞ Mr Foster, one of the managers of the National Amphitheatre, arrived in this city from Mobile on Saturday last. Extensive preparations are being made for the opening of this establishment during the ensuing week.

Coroner's Inquest.—Coroner Crozat, on Saturday last was called to hold an inquest upon the body of Margaret O'Brien, whose residence is Spain street in the Third municipality, who had committed suicide by cutting the radial artery of her left arm. It appeared from the evidence that the deceased was of intemperate habits, and during a fit of intoxication, had committed the fatal deed.

Michael O'Brien the husband of the deceased, was arrested on Saturday, and examined before Recorder Vivant, charged with having caused her death. We have mentioned the result of the investigation.

BOTTINGS FROM THE DOME OF THE CAPITOL.

Washington, Dec. 6, 1843.

The session thus far has not been devoid of interest to sleepers on from the Dome of the Capitol. You will have observed by the journal of the proceedings of the house, in the Daily Washington papers, that Mr. Marchand, on the part of the whig members, presented a protest, on the calling of the delegation from New Hampshire, against the admission of those members or persons who were from the states, which have refused to conform to the law of Congress of 1842, in electing their members by districts. The reading of the protest was objected to, and leave to read it refused by the House. The men elected by general ticket were of course admitted. On the next day, yesterday, upon reading the journal of the house, Mr. Barnard moved to amend it, by inserting the protest he had offered to read. This produced a debate which lasted until the Speaker's message was received. After the reading of that, considerable time was consumed in settling upon the number of copies to be ordered, and the day was thus spent without coming to a vote on Mr. Barnard's motion. This morning, the journal of yesterday being read, those opposed to protest being agreed upon it were quite surprised to find it there at full length, as it should be, and Mr. Barnard moving to take up the unfinished business which had not been disposed of, the Speaker decided that he had been placed in the wrong, and hereafter, should a similar case occur, the speaker could call to the chair a friend on whose good offices in the appointment of a committee to see his rights secured. The Speaker, however, decided the question against the protest, which was thus disposed of, as the committee to inform the president, by the temporary speaker, Mr Brandeler. The business being disposed of, the speaker resumed his place, and the house proceeded to the business upon the table, when the Speaker presented sundry documents to the house from the departments which had lain upon his table, among which was the annual report of the secretary of the treasury. Mr Adams moved the usual number of copies of the communication to the house, the death of his colleague Mr Bidwell and it was his desire to do it at the close of the day, but the adjournment was then moved without consuming a day, but he hoped he should be enabled to accomplish his object. He had to make with some remarks, and as it was now late and members were impatient to adjourn, he would not make the consumption now, but would offer a joint resolution. He then read the resolution on the clerk's table, which was, that the two branches in congress should appoint each a chaplain, who should officiate weekly. The resolution was adopted, and the house then adjourned over till Monday.

WHIG MEETING.

At a numerous meeting of the Whigs held on Saturday at Banks' Arcade—

The meeting was called to order by J. A. Beard, Esq. Gaspar Burke, Esq., was unanimously appointed President.

The following gentlemen were called to act as Vice Presidents—Wm. H. Avery, J. B. Lyle, D. H. Twomey, John Colbert, J. D. Lewenthal, Gustave Cruzat, W. C. C. Claiborne, Fred Buisson, John L. Theiles, Col. Bradburg, J. B. Walton, and Alfred Roussean were appointed secretaries.

On motion, the following gentlemen were appointed a committee to draft resolutions: Wm. H. Hodge, J. A. Beard, Louis Eyma, F. Gardere, A. T. Vinnie, A. D. Crossman, J. B. Lyle.

The following resolutions were addressed by Messrs. Christian Roselius, Randal Hunt, and N. R. Ogden.

The committee appointed to draft resolutions presented the following, which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, at the ensuing Presidential election, the Parish of Orleans is to take place on Monday next, the 18th December.

Whereas, measures of great moment and interest are to be decided, in the first session of the legislature, and it therefore becomes of the highest importance, that the whig majority in the popular branch, which already is so small, should be maintained without further diminution—therefore, it

Resolved, That this meeting cordially approve of the nomination of JAMES P. FRERET, as a member for the legislature, and recognise his services as a sound, consistent and tried whig, and one justly entitled to the confidence and support of the party, and as such, it becomes peculiarly obvious whig to use all honorable exertions to secure his election.

Resolved, That though under ordinary circumstances the selection of a single representative from this parish, might not be considered of great moment, but in the present crisis, it is of the highest importance, not only from the already small whig majority in the lower house, but also from the moral and political influence which the result will have upon the great party which is to take place at the coming general election.

Resolved, That the intelligence arrived when the whig party, individually and collectively, should unite in the most energetic and vigorous efforts to secure the rights of their rights, and that in the present election they should show their opponents in this parish a spirit worthy of the cause they contend for, and a great conquer which the capital opinion of the country.

Resolved, That through the object of the present meeting is more immediately connected with the local political yet truly patriotic, it is a matter of peculiar propriety on this occasion, to express to the meeting our deep, sincere and unshaken confidence in HENRY CLAY, and that through good and through evil report, through storm and through calm, the whigs of New Orleans will stand by the man who, in the words of Mr. Clay himself, "Retrieved the honor of the country, and restored the prosperity of the people."

Resolved, That the whigs of New Orleans are not coming to a vote on Mr. Barnard's motion. This morning, the journal of yesterday being read, those opposed to protest being agreed upon it were quite surprised to find it there at full length, as it should be, and Mr. Barnard moving to take up the unfinished business which had not been disposed of, the Speaker decided that he had been placed in the wrong, and hereafter, should a similar case occur, the speaker could call to the chair a friend on whose good offices in the appointment of a committee to see his rights secured. FOREIGN MARKETS.

LIVERPOOL, COTTON-MARKET—NOV. 19, 1843.

The cotton market, during the last few days has been comparatively inactive. The week opened under heavy, and a large amount of business was transacted on Monday at a stiffening of ⅛ on the prices of the preceding week. The following day the demand subsided, and since then, the market has been dull.

The returns of the Liverpool Cotton Brokers for the week ending 17th November, represent the sales as amounting to 79,0 0 bales, of which 11,800 bales are admitted to have been taken upon speculation. The average weekly sales throughout the season, from the beginning at the year, 69,000, inclusive of the present week, to 85,700 bales, so that the trade is not purchasing the current quantity they are working up.

Sales of Saturday.—A fair amount of business was done in Cotton on Saturday last, but in consequence of advices received by the London packet ship Switzerland, that the cotton had suffered severely through frosts, the market on Monday became very animated, and fully ⅛ on bales evinced an improvement of ½d @ ¾d. The favorable news, however, of short duration, as the accounts by the Hibernia steamer, which arrived at an early hour on Tuesday morning, though in some degree contradictory were of a nature to check the spirit of speculation. Yesterday the trade since the latter day has been very dull, and there seemed to be a decided to the position in which they were at the close of the previous week. A public sale of Sea Islands brought forward this day, passed off heavily, at ⅛ on the prices, and only a very small proportion of the lots offered, sold. Upland cotton, of all kinds is rather heavy, with some inclination downward. 800 bales have been sold to-day, viz. 200 American, 1,200 Brazil, 1,100 Egyptian and 2,400 East India. Speculators have taken 9,000 American, 1,200 Surat, and 600 Egyptian.

Saturday, 18.—We have no favorable change to our quotations. Pay numerous did not read an extract or two to the meeting that O'Connell's death dragon instead of slaveholders, as well as of Americans generally.

There is some apprehension left lest the health of Judge Porter should not permit him to take his seat in the Senate this winter.

Mr. C. J. Ingersoll introduced a bill into the House today, to refund the fine of Gen. Jackson. He has no desire to refund the fine; the only object he can have in view is to agitate the subject and make a little political capital out of the old General. This is a small game, but it is one which democrats can have played for several years past. I should think the people must see their object by this time, but their sight is not sharp as very clear.

Mr. Stuart, I understand, is to be Chairman of the committee of Ways and Means.

BOTTINGS FROM THE DOME.

Washington, Dec. 7, 1843.

It is now apparent that the Calhoun party which vaunted itself and took such high ground at the commencement of the session, cringing first the speaker, then the clerk, then the sergeant-at-arms, etc., lowering their tone as they were successively duped what they claimed is now becoming very near the little end of nothing. Van Buren is in the ascendant and rides rough shod over its antagonists. The officers of the house are now all elected as I shall presently report in giving a
