TOTICE:—On Monday 1st of November and on the right bank of the river, possible and the river possi understood navigation; they were short of provisions, sails all torn to pieces, nething on board to repair them with, and the brig very lesky; that her corgo consisted of 100 casks palm oil, 1500 lbs. ivory, and only $200 in specie, and and that they intended to go to St. Thomas with the second to do.

Do not believe the Absolutism which is ascribed to the Government of Spain. With you, as well as in the rest of Europa, the real position of this country is but little known. The fever, and that there was no one on board who understood navigation; they were short of proand that they intended to go to St. Thomas with the brig.

We found the following in the log book kept by the W Indian. 18th August 1820, between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock. Capt. Woodbury departed this life, after a lingering fever, from the Coast of Africa, having no officer on board after him, so the crew think it fit to make a minute of the State—in the first place, for the complimation, so the crew think it fit to make a minute of the state—of him departments this more of the state—of him departments this more of the state—of him departments this more of his department of the state—of him departments this more of his departments.

The civilization of this country does not cortain the first place. the time of his departing this world, for which reason they have all signed their names, Thomas Bowen, Wm. Stripe, Thomas Collinet, Joseph Gadet, Jose Antonio Demaris, Joseph Marion Goviel, Jacob Bristol.

At 61 P. M. hove to abreast of the brig, when the supercargo, 2d mate and one of our crew went on board (leaving the W. Indian on board the Mentos) to examine the vessel and see what state she was in, and found 13 inches water in her sails in very bad order, and nothing to repair Consul. He was asked if he understood navigahe should not go, and as it was squally and dark, the best left immediately for the Mentos, and on arriving on board he voluntarily confessed, as sentatives should, at the next Session, make well as Mr. Bowen, the horrible fact that Copt Woodbury was barbarously murdered on the knife and then thrown everboard Demarais then west forward and called the Saptam's watch on deck ; all obeyed but Strikes, who was ordered to remain below, but was afterwards ordered on deck, and dragged aft by Demarais, who made him feel of the denis in the nencoop, and informed him he had murdered the Captain, and at the same time ordered him to remain on deck-in case he was found below his brains would be blown out. Immediately after the confession of Strikes and Bowen, the W.Indian and Italian were put in irons, when they also confessed that S. and B's, statement wa correct.

It getting to be squally and very dark, and ha ving no provisions to spare, nothing we could re-pair the sails with, and not a sufficient number of men attached to our own vessel to man both Bowen with us, also the brig's papers, log book, Stc. and a number of letters addressed to different merchants in the U. package of gold dust, and handed it to us for each keeping, it being his proportion of the gold. He also informed us that he had left on board about 900 Spanish dollars, his share of the silver. Had he given us this information in the first place. we should have endeavoured to have got posses sion of all the silver and gold, but at the time, the brig was from 7 to 9 miles, or out of eight windward of us, and it would have been impossible for us to have got to her during the night, and the Orbit being well armed with two six pounders, muskets, pistols, cutiasses, &c. and we not having any arms, decined a prodent to let heres Strike and Bowen refused to proceed on cape. board the Orbit, saying they would rather be thrown overboard by us as a plot had been laid three days previous to murder them and one other, as some as they made the land, this was also confirmed by the Willadian. Both males had been discharged on the Coast of Africa, and the brig left there without any.

The civilization of this country does not correspond with yours. At present, the establishment of a Representative Government in Spain would throw us back half a century; the education of a whole people cannot be effected instantaneously, in a single day—it must be gradual; if it is precipitate, its duration will be short, and its retrograde movement certain. What has happened in 1820 and 1823, furnishes an instance of it.
