The New-Orleans Bee.

No. 803 VOL. IX.—NEW SERIES. V. L. XXII.—WHOLE No. 3961.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF GENERAL COUNCIL AND FIRST MUNICIPALITY.....NEW-ORLEANS, MONDAY MORNING, APRIL 16, 1849

WAGNE & WEISSE, Proprietors. No. 93 CHARTRES STREET.

TERMS OF THE BEE

Daily Bee $12 00
Country Edition, from weekly, one year 5 00
[illegible] 3 00

A subscriber for the dollar for every TEN lines of [illegible] in the last insertion, and RATES [illegible] Advertisements of less than one dollar in each line [illegible]

Advertisements not specified as to time will be published one month and charged accordingly.

Advertisements inserted at intervals will be charged [illegible] for every TEN lines, for each language [illegible] insertion.

[illegible] the privilege of Annual Advertisers is [illegible] to advertisements strictly within the line of [illegible] business, and to extent to one square every [illegible] day.

The New-Orleans Daily Bee

Notice.

[illegible] Bee, [illegible] Morton Stock and Delaneo [illegible]

MAGNE & WEISSE.

New-Orleans 30 April, 1849.

Monday morning, April 16, 1849.

The Executive Committee of the Central Democratic Ready Club will meet at No. 70 Canal-st., on Monday, 16 inst., at half past [illegible] o'clock P. M., for the purpose of taking [illegible] steps to secure a full delegation [illegible] representative districts of this [illegible] State Convention, to be held at Baton Rouge on the second Monday of May next. A full and punctual attendance of the Committee is desired.

ROBERT B. STILL, Chairman.

The New Organ. We have from time to time seen statements in the northern papers, to the effect that our quondam associate, A. C. BURLITT, Esq., was about to assume the editorial supervision of a new whig journal, to be published at Washington. Although the name in this city with which Mr. BURLITT has been for several years connected makes no mention of the fact, recent denunciations of a certain tribal character by our whig press of Baltimore, give scarcely a doubt that rumor has in this instance proved correct. The correspondent of the Baltimore Patriot [illegible] at some length in his letter [illegible] He says:

"I learned, on a recent visit, that Messrs. Bailey and Burlitt were about to establish a paper in this city. I will be published in a few days. Mr. Burlitt, who has long been known as a ready and able writer, is the soul of honor, and a high principled man, of great talent, ability and industry. He will be a valuable acquisition to the editorial corps of this city. Mr. Bailey is a young man, who has been associated in business with his father, and is an intelligent and industrious writer with a fine taste and judgment."

[illegible] editor of the Baltimore Patriot, [illegible] Washington correspondent of the New-York Courier and Enquirer, [illegible] throughout the North and Canada, [illegible] for years, graciousness and [illegible] has been out of the [illegible] Washington, [illegible] Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Patriot, [illegible] Washington writer with a fine taste and judgment."

[illegible] Associate editor of the Baltimore Patriot, [illegible] Washington correspondent of the New-York Courier and Enquirer, [illegible] throughout the North and Canada, [illegible] for years, graciousness and [illegible] has been out of the [illegible] Washington