Official Journal of the State, General Council, First Municipality and Board of Liquidators.

Thursday Morning, Feb. 20, 1851.

☞ The Northern Mail failed yesterday from beyond Montgomery, but brought the New York back mail of the 10th inst.

The Southern Press charges the Bee with an attempt to grow facetious at its expense. It must have been a wild crotchet of ours to undertake hilarity over so exceedingly dolorous a subject. A man might as well wax mirthful at a funeral, as get up a joke over the lugubrious looking column of the Southern Press. That journal is the HERACLITUS of newspapers, and does nought but weep over the fancied misery and degradation of the South.

But since the Southern Press will have it that we undertook to be facetious in our comments on its course, we premise, to avoid a misconception, that in the present article we are right grave and serious, and that we mean to answer the somewhat curious arguments of our cotemporary, without cracking a solitary smile. The Southern Press wishes to prove that the Compromise has not settled the slavery question, and that the people do not approve of that measure. The reasoning by which this proposition is sustained, is eminently original, and consists, in substance, of the following facts: That in Massachusetts, Mr. SUMNER, an opponent of the Compromise, has been defeated time and again in the election of United States Senator; that in New York, HAMILTON FISH, the Whig Candidate for United States Senator, who is suspected of being tainted with Free Soilism, has likewise been defeated; that in Ohio, the Legislature has adjourned without effecting any choice of U. S. Senator, rather than send an abolitionist to Washington; that in Pennsylvania, a law providing for the trial by jury of fugitive slaves, has not yet been formally repealed; and that in New Hampshire, Mr. ATWOOD, the Democratic candidate for Governor, has written a letter in opposition to the Compromise.

This is the array of arguments submitted by our Washington cotemporary in support of its position. We once heard of a pig that cut its own throat by swimming up stream, and the Southern Press seems emulous of following this notable example of stupid obstinacy. We promised to leave jocularity alone; but no inconsiderable amount of self-command is needed to enable us to preserve a respectful gravity in perusing such an exquisite agglomeration of non sequiturs. The Southern Press, while seeking to disprove our assertion, strengthens it with accumulated evidence. Let us see: The Compromise does not meet public approbation, quoth the Press—and why? Because Massachusetts REFUSES to elect a Free Soiler to the United States Senate. The Compromise is hateful to the people, argues the Press—and why again? Because New York repudiates HAMILTON FISH, who is thought to have a spice of Sewardism about him. The Compromise is utterly abhorrent to every body, maintains the Press—and why once more? Because Ohio would rather behold her Senatorial representation shorn of half its strength, than be misrepresented by an abolitionist! Sage and impregnable reasoning! Profound logic! Admirable conclusions! If this be the usual staple of the arguments employed by the great exponent of Southern doctrines, and puissant defender of Southern Rights, we are not much surprised at the slow progress it makes in bringing conviction to the public mind.

Let us not, however, be unjust to our cotemporary. Two of its illustrations—the Pennsylvania and New Hampshire cases—display a sort of faint adumbration of logic. They tell slightly in favor of the views assumed by the Southern Press. It is perhaps true—for we have not the record at hand—that Pennsylvania has not yet repealed her law in opposition to the recovery of fugitive slaves. There is some show in this argument, but its value is nullified by the simple fact, that a large number of black runaways have been reclaimed and recovered in Philadelphia and Harrisburg—the aforesaid law to the contrary notwithstanding. If the law exists on the statute-book, it is a dead letter. Public opinion is a hundred fold more powerful than the act of a former legislature. It is moreover altogether true, that Mr ATWOOD, the candidate of the Democracy of New Hampshire, has to the astonishment and chagrin of his party by which he had been nominated, under the full impression of his soundness on the slavery question, written a letter in which free-soil sentiments are distinctly and boldly avowed. But the Southern Press tells just enough of the facts to bolster up its opinions, and omits the rest. The nomination of Mr. ATWOOD having been made at a comparatively short period before the election, the Democratic party in New Hampshire finds itself unable to assemble another State Convention, and to select a more orthodox candidate, but one half of the journals of the State, and nearly all the public men denounce Mr. ATWOOD, and advise their friends not to sustain him. It is thought, with well-grounded confidence, that deep as the enormous democratic majority in the State, ATWOOD will be defeated.

If the Southern Press has any more arguments like the preceeding, it may as well abandon the subject. If it has any better ones, send them along, and we shall see what they are worth.

THOUGHTS OF A RAILROAD SYSTEM FOR NEW ORLEANS.—This is the title of an admirable article in the last number of DeBow's Commercial Review, which has been republished in pamphlet form, and is for sale at Morgan's. We shall refer to it more fully hereafter.

LARGE CARGO.—The ship Meridian was cleared yesterday by Messrs. Giffiney & Lovell, for Liverpool, with 4200 bales cotton, 140 hhds. and 571 boxes bacon, 22 tierces beef, and 7000 staves—equal to the bulk of 5000 bales cotton, being the largest freight ever cleared out of New Orleans. The ship and cargo is estimated to be worth $250 000.

JENNY LIND'S SEVENTH CONCERT.—The programme for Miss LIND's Seventh Concert tomorrow evening is extremely attractive. We notice among the pieces to be sung by Miss Lind, "Dove Sono," from the marriage of Figaro; the glorious finale to La Somnambula, Meyerbeer's Trio for voice and two flutes; the Scotch ballad, "Auld Robin Gray," and the Bird Song. Signor BELLETI will execute several favorite morceaux and the Orchestra will perform the beautiful overtures to Oberon, and the Magic Flute.

SPECIE.—The ship Vicksburg, Capt. Berry, arrived last night from New York, brought $100,000 in specie to P. Conrey, Jr.

HAVANA LOTTERY.—The following are the principal drawn numbers in the Havana lottery of the 11th inst:

Stubs, Hyde & Co., will sell THIS DAY, 20th at 11 o'clock, at the Armory Hall, Camp street, the choice of Seats for Miss Jenny Lind's 7th Grand Concert.

☞ The particular attention of city and country Dealers is called to the extensive Dry Goods sale by Catalogue to take place THIS DAY, at 11 o'clock, A. M., at F. H. Pettipain's auction room, No. 8 Canal street, consisting of large invoices of English, French, Swiss and Domestic Dry Goods, to be sold on liberal terms.

☞ The attention of our readers is called to the sale of Slaves at auction, by J. A. Beard, auctioneer, at Banks' Arcade, THIS MORNING, at 12 o'clock, comprising Field Hands and House Servants. See advertisement.

THE CONCERT LAST NIGHT.

Despite the inclement weather last evening, the St. Charles contained within its walls the most brilliant and fashionable audience of the season. It was emphatically a soirée des dames, for not only were the first and second circles thronged with beauty, but the ladies invaded also the orchestra and parquette, in large numbers, and even the pit was graced with the presence of the fair sex.

Such was the sixth concert of JENNY LIND in New Orleans, and it speaks volumes in favor of her matchless powers, that she was enabled to attract within her magic circle a larger auditory than was present at the first concert. It is not our intention to speak in detail of the performances, suffice it to say that the charming vocalist exhibited her wonderful faculties to the very best advantage. "I Know that my Redeemer Liveth," from Handel's Messiah, was sung most exquisitely, as was also the air from Haydn's Creation, "With Verdure Clad" But the applause of the evening was as usual reserved for "Home, Sweet Home," an air to which JENNY LIND lends a most peculiar charm, and in which we are persuaded no living artist can equal her. "Casta Diva" pleased us much better than on the first occasion; she threw more passion into her execution, and the allegro with which this sublime piece of vocalization concludes, was rendered in such a style as completely to disarm criticism.

Signor Belletti sung the Cavatina from "The Barbier of Seville," in magnificent style, as also La Tarantella, both of which were encored. He possesses an organ of much flexibility, and is deservedly a great favorite with the public.

Mr. Joseph Burke, surprised us by his brilliant performance of that difficult fantasia on the violin "Il Tremolo." He executes with remarkable precision, and displays great taste and feeling.

☞ Under the heading "A Union of Union Men," the New York Mirror has an article recommending a general fusion of the Conservative Union men of both parties for the next Presidential election. The Mirror says:

Upon this broad and independent issue of the Union, we believe either of the following tickets may be triumphantly elected:

For President.	For Vice President.
Millard Fillmore.	Robert J. Walker.
Daniel Webster.	Linn Boyd.
General Scott.	Howell Cobb.
Henry Clay.	Dan'l S. Dickinson.
Sam Houston.	Thomas Corwin.

It will be time enough to discuss this proposition six months hence.

☞ We are indebted to Mr. MAYO, Camp street, for a copy of a very beautiful prayer, composed by Ludovic Hanau, and sung by Miss Sallie Price, at St. Patrick's Church, on the occasion of the installation of Bishop Blanc.

☞ It is unlikely, after all, that JENNY LIND will visit Mobile. Mr. Barnum has sent the editor of the Advertiser the following note:

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 16, 1851.

Editor of the Advertiser:

SIR—In answer to numerous inquiries, will you permit me to state that the engagements of Jenny Lind at the North are such as to render it impossible for her to visit Mobile, unless her concerts in this city are concluded at an earlier period than at present appears probable.

Truly yours, P. T. BARNUM.

P. S.—Should it be possible for her to visit your city, a week's previous notice shall be given, in order that the intelligence may reach the interior in time. P. T. B.

Under these circumstances we advise the Mobilians, as the best thing they can do, to come over to New Orleans. It is about their only chance of hearing the Nightingale.

☞ The New York Express says that a newspaper is to be started from the ashes of the Globe, after the 4th March next, by Messrs. Blair & Rives, which is to support the following ticket at the next election: For President, Thomas Hart Benton, of Missouri; for Vice-President, John Van Buren, of New York.

FROM ECUADOR.—Advices from Guayaquil announce the termination of the Presidential election in the triumph of the Novoa party.

The government of Quito gave a certain quantity of money to the garrison of Cayambe, in order to raise a movement. The troops raised, with the names of Movoa and Valdivieso on their banners—but, very soon after, the neighboring people of Tabacundo took arms, fell in with the soldiers, disarmed them, and put an end to this pronunciamiento. The government of Quito sent troops in order to protect this movement. The two armies were in presence of each other, near the parish of Quinche.

It was believed that the Quitenos would, very soon, attack Manuel Maldonado with a column of infantry, as the troops under the command of Imbabura.

FROM BOLIVIA.—This republic continues in a state of tranquility, and there is no cause to fear fresh disturbances. General Belzu had left Sucre for the northern provinces, and was expected to arrive in La Paz early in January. Ballivian had returned to Copiapo, having had to abandon his revolutionary schemes. On account of the large quantities of contraband Cascarilla, which had been seized, the smuggling of this article was considerably on the decline. The quantity existing in the hands of the company at La Paz was said to be 7,154 quintals.

INDIANA CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.—The convention recommended that the vote on the adoption of the new constitution be taken on the first Monday in August next; but the Legislature has the power of fixing the time. If adopted, the constitution will go in force on the first day of November, 1851.

There will be an election for members of the Legislature, as usual, on the first Monday in August. All Senators holding over will go out of office in October, 1852. The members of the next General Assembly will be sworn under the new constitution, if adopted.

LATE FROM CHILI.—By the Georgia, files of the Valparaiso Neighbor to the 2d of January have been received.

The U. S. ship Vincennes, from San Francisco, arrived at Valparaiso on the 10th of December, and sailed on the 10th for Talcahuana. Hon. Bailie Peyton went in her to visit that port and Conception.

The Neighbor records a large fire at Valparaiso, by which property to the amount of $250,000 was destroyed. It says:

The buildings belonged to Mr. Waddington, and the loss on them is estimated at $150,000; however, this is covered by insurance. But the greatest sufferers are among shop owners, mechanics and small trades people. Not a few of this class, who had just made a beginning and fitted up their shops handsomely, have lost everything. Counting families, tradesmen and mechanics, thirty-four have been burned out.

The extra session of Congress met on the 16th of December. Jose J. Perez was chosen President of the House by Deputies.

A law had passed Congress authorizing the executive to reform the entire system of custom house regulations. This authority is to continue until the 7th of September, 1851.

We copy a few items from the Neighbor:

VOLCANO.—A person writing from Santiago, states that on the 5th of December the volcano of the Portilio broke out in an eruption. This was the day preceding the earthquake which caused so much alarm. It is said to have been in a perfectly quiet condition since 1845 when its last eruption occurred.

STATE OF SEIGE.—The state of seige declared in the provinces of Aconcagua and Santiago ceased on the 17th of this month, in conformity with a decree of President Bulnes of the 7th November; tranquility having been restored, and no such extraordinary measures as were expected being deemed necessary.

There had been considerable anxiety in relation to the wheat crops. Nearly three times the usual amount of grain had been sown, and the rust has appeared in some localities. Accounts from Santiago, Conception and other places, however, promise an abundant harvest.

A public meeting has been held in Valparaiso, at the office of Marine, to consult about a plan to hinder, if possible, the desertion of seamen, of which abuse so many complaints have been continually made of late.

LATER FROM PERU.—The only intelligence of interest from Peru relates to the Presidential election. ECHENIQUE has been chosen by a majority over all others.

A CLIMAX.—The Boston Post thus enumerates the schedule of crochets that constitute the creed of the New York Tribune:

"Phrenology, Fourierism, Vote-yourself-a-farm-ism, Abolitionism, Tom Painism, Mesmerism, Come-outism, Abby Folsomism, Biology, Spiritual Rappings, and the election of Hamilton Fish."

CENTRAL AMERICA.

The New York papers contain later intelligence from Nicaragua, Guatemala and the other states of Central America. Much of the information given rests upon the authority of Mr. JAMES SMITHEY, who had just arrived from Nicaragua, having left Grenada on the 13th ult., and the news he furnishes is said to come from parties more remarkable for zeal than discretion in their endeavors to provoke a difficulty between this country and Great Britain, in regard to the Nicaragua question, and the occasional and unwarrantable insolence of Mr. FREDERICK CHATFIELD. We take the following from the advices received through Mr. SMITHEY:

The Alcade of Realejo, in a letter to the Government of Nicaragua, dated Dec. 17, announces the discovery of a rich placer of gold, eight miles from Realejo, and one from Chinandega. On the discovery being announced, the alcade made a personal examination, associating with him M. Mercher, a French gentleman of science. They tested earth taken from three different points, with such satisfactory results as to leave no doubt that this is much the richest placer in Central America. One man, it was stated, who had been working two days, obtained from two to three ounces per day.

The crops in Nicaragua had been threatened with destruction by the appearance of flocks of locusts. A great deal of anxiety and alarm was felt in different parts of the country, on this account. The Government of Nicaragua has issued a decree opening all the ports of the State, and making all kinds of grain free.

The state election has taken place, and Don Jose Sacasa has been chosen Director of Nicaragua. The term of the present incumbent, Norberto Ramirez, expires on the 1st of May. The delegates to the National Convention of the three states of Nicaragua, Honduras, and San Salvador, met at Chinandega, on the 21st of December. Don Jose Barrundia, who was the first President of Central America, and the author of the Constitution of 1821, was elected President of the Convention, and Don Jose Silva, Secretary.

The San Salvatorian papers throw some light on the movements in that state, and the difficulty which was alleged to have arisen between it and Guatemala. There is no war between Honduras and San Salvador on the one side and Guatamala on the other, as the Belise Observer stated. The troubles were in the latter state alone, and were caused by the refusal of the Montaneses, or inhabitants of the mountain provinces, to concur in the policy adopted by the Central Government.

The department of Esquintla and the cities of Esquipulas and Chiguimula have made pronunciamentos against the Central Government and in favor of a Federal union of the States. It was in attempting to put down this opposition that the fight at Chiguimula took place, and the Government troops under Carrera were defeated. The Governments of San Salvador and Honduras have been merely raising troops and stationing them on the frontiers to defend their own territories in case of need, as already reported.

Mr. Chatfield's letter, sent to the Minister of Foreign Affairs of San Salvador, on the 6th of August last, says:

"I proceed to make a formal demand that reparation for the following injuries be immediately made:

1st. I demand of the Government of San Salvador the promulgation of an act of decree, pledging itself to execute faithfully, in letter and in spirit, all the articles of the two contracts made by Don Miguel Montoya and Don Juan Antonio Alvarado, commissioners of the Governors of San Salvador, with me, charge d'affaires of Her Britanic Majesty, on board the steamboat Gorgon, in the port of La Union, Nov. 12, 1849.

2d. I demand that the government of San Salvador address a letter to Don Marcos Idigoras, English consular agent in San Salvador, relieving him from the exercise of the policy which he has been compelled to use by order of the government.

3d. I demand that the government of San Salvador direct a letter to me, as charge d'affaires of her Majesty, contradicting the notoriously false assertions which the public prints of San Salvador have frequently published, respecting the conduct of the British government and its functionaries.

In consequence of the refusal of the government of San Salvador to comply with these demands, notice was given on the 16th of October that the ports of the state would be blockaded.

The remainder of the news amounts in substance to this. The landing of gunpowder at Tyre Island or its neighborhood had been prohibited; that Mr. Chatfield had addressed a letter to the Nicaragua Minister of Foreign Affairs, dated December 5, 1850, declaring that the British Government would consider the boundaries of Nicaragua, contiguous to the Musquito territories, the same as they were when Nicaragua declared its independence of the Spanish monarchy, but that his government was willing to treat upon the matter in a friendly spirit.

The Herald's information about Mr. Chatfield being recalled is not confirmed by these advices.

PADUCAH, Feb. 10, P.M.

We have had heavy rains for the past forty hours up to this morning. The Ohio has risen 2 feet 6 inches in the last twenty-four hours. It is now cold and cloudy. A very large number of boats have passed since Saturday evening. The Georgetown passed down this afternoon.

EVANSVILLE, Feb. 10, 8 P.M.

The Wabash is rising rapidly. At Vincennes and Terre Haute it has risen 18 inches. The rise has caused much commotion and excitement here. A number of boats have been lying here awaiting a rise and they are all now making preparations to start.

The Bostona passed down this afternoon.

A BLOODY WEEK.—The last ten days, says the Macon (Ga.) Messenger and Journal, have been unparralleled in the annals of crime and death. On Saturday week, two men named Benson, father and son, were killed near Fort Valley, in Houston county, by a man named Smith and a gang of negroes which Smith was overseeing upon the Southwestern Railroad. From statements of this affair, as detailed to us by a member of the Jury of Inquest, it was a most atrocious transaction; but we forbear comment, as the whole matter will undergo legal investigation.

On Friday occurred the terrible Vineville Tragedy, for which there is perhaps no parallel in history. On Saturday night, a man by the name of West, in East Macon, was stabbed by Edwards, a reformed convict, who was pardoned out of the penitentiary some ten days since by Gov. Towns. Yesterday West was still alive. Edwards had escaped.

The Vineville Tragedy, alluded to above, was the murder of her four children, the oldest about fourteen, by a Mrs. Swinden. She cut their throats with a razor, then locked up the house, set it on fire, and burned herself with the bodies of her children. She is supposed to have been deranged.

THE FRIGATE LAWRENCE, sailed on the 11th from New York to England, with the American contributions to the great Industrial Exhibition at London. The articles deposited at Boston and other places than New York had been forwarded to the latter port to go by the St. Lawrence, so that she will convey nearly all the articles sent from this country. They amount, we understand, to ten or twelve hundred packages. Mr. Charles F. Stansbury, of this city, goes out in the ship as the agent of the Central Committee, to attend to the interests of such American contributors as may not have obtained the services of another agent.

THE COTTON EXPERIMENT IN JAMAICA.—"The first Report on the Progress of Cultivation, from 21st Oct. to 31st Dec. 1850," has been presented by the manager. Mr. Williams states that he has hardly had time to carry out his arrangements; but he feels as confident as he ever did, that cotton can be grown in Jamaica to compete, in every respect, with that of America, provided that sufficient and continuous labor can be obtained when required. On his taking possession of Greenwall, there were already planted seventeen acres in cotton, from which he anticipates obtaining three or more bales of white, and nearly one of yellow wool, by the 1st March. The breaking out of the cholera, and the intervention of the holidays, tended, in a great measure, to retard his operations; but the people have commenced to work, and he hopes that the cultivation will now go on without further interruption. The expenses of the undertaking, to the 31st December, amounted to £172 19s 2d.—Cordova's Advertising Sheet, Jan. 23.

THE FRENCH LIBRARY IN 1850.—According to the Journal de la Libraire, the number of books, pamphlets, &c., of all kinds printed in France during the year 1850, was 7,208. In Paris 4,711 works were published; in the departments 2,460, and in Algiers 37. Of the whole, 1,360 works and pamphlets were reprinted, or new editions; 5,848 were new works; 6,661 were in French, 68 in provincial dialects, 53 in German, 64 in English, 2 in Arabic, 51 in Spanish, 83 in Greek, 9 in Hebrew, 16 in Italian, 165 in Latin, 14 in Polish, 16 in Portuguese, 4 in Roman, 1 in Russian, 2 in Turkish, 2 polyglot books. They comprised also 281 Journals, partly new and published during the year of 1850, of which 79 have been printed and have appeared in the departments and 73 were lithographed pamphlets, 2,897 engravings and lithographs were published during the year; also, 122 geographical charts, 579 pieces of vocal music, and 625 works of instrumental music in copper plate and lithographed.

CURIOSITIES OF ART.—It is singular how many men have directed their energies of mind to perfecting toys, which, although displaying wonderful inventive power, yet have never conferred any benefit on mankind, nor ever been even used for any other purpose than as a piece of amusement.

Jerome Faba, an Italian priest, a native of Calabria, exercised himself in a species of industry, wonderful from its difficulty. He finished a work of box-wood, which represented all the mysteries of the Passion, and which might be put in the shell of a walnut.

To the same person was attributed a coach, the size of a grain of wheat, within which were to be seen a man and a woman, the coachman who drove it, and the horses that drew it.—These were presented to Francis I, and Charles V.

In China, the tomb of Confucius has been made in a small miniature, no larger than a nut, but wonderfully composed of precious metals, and adorned with a profusion of gems; but its value consists of the labor of execution. Its landscapes, dragons, angels, animals and human figures, would require several pages of description, which would, after all, without a view of the model, prove tedious and unintelligible to the reader.

Charles V. of Spain had a watch which was confined in the jewel of his ring; and a watchmaker in London presented George III with one set in the same manner. Its size was something less than a silver two-pence, and it contained one hundred and twenty-five different parts, and weighed altogether no more than 25 pennyweights and 7 grains.

ST. MARY'S PARISH.—Although St. Mary is every where highly spoken of, and her soil, climate and scenery, local advantages, and rich resources, and the peace and plenty that here abound, render her a pleasant place of abode, yet half has not yet been told, nor even understood by her own citizens, that may with truthfulness be said relative to her merits. The soil of the parish is naturally very rich, and that which has been cropped severely for forty or fifty years may be made extremely productive by manuring slightly. The lands of the Au Large, the Teche, the Atchafayla, the Bay, Bayou Sale, the lakes and numerous bayous are marked by features and qualities which will eventually render St. Mary distinguished far beyond what she has ever yet been. Our cypress swamps are filled with valuable timber, the quality is superior, and the amount inexhaustible. On the sea marsh that borders on our bays and the Gulf, are immense numbers of deer, that increase as fast as they are destroyed by the sportsman; our bays are visited yearly by millions of brant, wild geese and other water fowls; and these waters, and all our lakes and bayous, are swarming with fish of numerous kinds; and wild ducks in abundance are found in most parts of the parish. The islands on our southern borders are beautiful, and those visiting them for health or pleasure find in the waters around them plenty of turtle, fish and foul, and these with healthful sea breezes and fine bathing, render them pleasant places of resort for our citizens during the warm weather of summer and autumn. All things considered St. Mary is one of the most desirable places of abode in the whole country.—St. Mary Planters' Banner.

A YANKEE CAPTAIN.—During the last war with Great Britain, a small schooner laden with silks and other valuable articles, belonging to Stonington, was hailed on her home voyage from France by a British armed brig, when the following dialogue took place between the commander of the brig and the captain of the schooner:

Officer—Schooner, ahoy!
Yankee—Hallo!
O.—Who commands that schooner?
Y.—Brother Jonathan used tew, but I dew now!
O.—Brother Jonathan! Who the devil's Brother Jonathan?
Y.—Why you must be a darn fool not to know Brother Jonathan. Every body in town knows him.
O.—Send your boat on board.
Y.—I don't know whether I shall or not, for the boat's all soggy, and I hain't got no new clothes. Brother Jonathan's got a new coat—if he's a mind tew go, he may, but I'm sure I shan't.
O.—Strike!
Y.—Strike! Why, I hain't got nobody to strike but dad; he's cooking and he's crazy, and if I strike him he will strike back again, so tain't no use.
O.—What are you loaded with?
Y.—Bale goods, and hens, and hen's husbands, and hob-goblins, and long-faced gentry.
O.—Where are you bound?
Y.—Sto-nin-taown.
O.—Where's your bale goods? [By this time the officer had boarded the schooner.]
Y.—There they be. [Pointing to some bundles of clap-boards and shingles.]
O.—You confounded fool, do you call them bale goods?
Y.—Why sartain! Don't you?
O.—Where's your hens and hen's husbands?
Y.—There they be in that coop there.
O.—Where's your hob-goblins?
Y.—There they be, in that 'tother great coop there.
O.—Where's your long-faced gentry?
Y.—There they be, in that pig-sty.
O.—Have you anything to drink on board?
Y.—We had some rum when we cum away, but the keg's down under the load; and if you try, you can't get it, so it's no use.

The British officer received but little satisfaction, and having, no doubt, become disgusted at the ignorance of the Yankee, returned on board the brig, and left the poor simple creatures to take care of themselves. A few days afterwards the vessel arrived at Boston with a cargo valued at $100,000!

PLACIDE'S VARIETIES.—The favorite piece of the "Chaste Salute," will be performed to night, and also the Operatic Ballet of "La Bayadere." A new comic piece entitled "The Trumpeter's Wedding," will likewise be enacted.

ORLEANS THEATRE.—Verdi's magnificent opera of Jerusalem will be performed to-night at this fashionable establishment. The house will of course be crowded.

SENT DOWN FOR TRIAL.—C. C. Whitley, who keeps an auction store at the corner of Gravier and Tchoupitoulas streets, was examined yesterday before Recorder Caldwell on the charge of having swindled Mr. J. E. Breland out of $60, by means of the usual mock auction process. The investigation resulted in the committal of the accused for trial before the First District Court, and three other individuals who were parties to the transaction and swore falsely, were sent down on charge of perjury.

LARCENY.—Peter Woods, a warehouseman in the employ of Kennedy and Fisher, was arrested on Tuesday night in the act of removing some goods from the store of these gentlemen. He was remanded for examination.

VAGRANT.—Charles Edmonds was arrested yesterday in the First Municipality as an incorrigible vagrant, and was committed by Recorder Genois for trial before the First District Court.

ASSAULT.—F. Gallet was charged yesterday before Recorder Genois with having assaulted F Coecourt and subsequently sent a challenge to him. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

DISCHARGED.—The examination of Louis Bermotte charged with larceny, Nicholas Lamoth accused of a breach of trust; Louis Gomez arrested for the same offence and Jose Delgado charged with stealing was to have taken place yesterday before Recorder Genois, but in neither of the cases did the prosecuting witnesses appear, and the accused were accordingly discharged.

GOURAUD'S
ITALIAN MEDICATED SOAP.

LANGUAGE is powerless to set forth one tithe of its wonderful properties, but the high meed of public approbation has so decidedly and unchangeably stamped the superiority of this remarkable Soap, that to doubt its efficacy in the curation of tan, freckles, sunburn, sallowness, pimples, ringworm, obstinate old sores, salt rheum, worms in the skin, and other cutaneous disfigurements, is to imply a doubt of the existence of truth itself. It is, besides, the very best shaving Compound ever used.

Equally famous is Gouraud's Poudre Subtile, for eradicating superfluous hair from any part of the body.

Gouraud's Hair Restorative, or Circassian Gloss, is a beautiful preparation for the hair, preventing its falling out, increasing its growth, and making wiry, harsh hair, soft, silky and and glossy. Trial bottles, 25 cents each.

Gouraud's Liquid Hair Dye will instantly change red or gray hair to a beautiful brown or black.

Gouraud's Liquid Rouge is a superb article for giving a rose stain to pale lips and cheeks, defying detection by rubbing.

Gouraud's Lily White is an unrivaled production for rough, flushed, sluggish complexions.

Dr. Felix Gouraud's preparations can only be had genuine at his sole agent.
