From the Boston Commercial Gazette, May 6. DISTRESSING FIRE WITH LOSS OF LIVES.

A most calamitous fire broke out on Wedne day evening, between 10 and 11 o'clock, in the block of buildings in broad-street, well known as Quincy's bake-house. The lower part of the southerly half of the block in which the fire originated, was occupied by Mr. Maynard, as a base-house; over this was a bread-room, and here we are informed the fire was first discovered. It was occasioned probably by a flew in the upper part, or it might have been from a crevice in the flew of the chimney. Be this as it may, the whole building was in a very few minutes for four hundred thousand plastres, in conseenveloped in flames. The two upper stories & a part of the second were occupied by seven families, comprising nearly fifty individuals. principally Irish, most of whom made their escape when the alarm was first given, in a state trade with Turkey has considerably increased 6, his leg above the nucle is 3 1-2 puches approaching to nudity. AMERICAN LATERATURE. - It is highly gretfying to perceive that in literature, as in every hing else, our trans-atlantic friends are making the most vigorous exertions to keep pace with the brilliant example of the "mother country." The name of Irving, Halleck, Brown, and Cooper, are all as so many stars conferring Justre on he literary hemisphere of the country of which they are proud, and which, in truth, has some eason to be proud of them. Like us, too, A merica has her "Literary," as well as " Commercial Gazette:" and in her "Annuals," though lacking our typographical beauty, and the splen dour of our embellishments, the literary department is in many instances equal, and in some superior, to our own. Among the many now published, we have lately been much granticed by serusing a lew numbers of "The New york Mirror, or Repository of a olite Later dure and t e Aris." al work lwhich unites much executive reagnes with literary qualities of a high order. dany of its essays are written in a tone of pure moral feeling, and in its poetry there is freque at ya fine sense of the beautiful in imagery, and mastery in patinos and passion. The writers signing "M," and "Porteus," are a credit to their country.
