Memoranda.

The steamer A Boarner, which left Attakapas on the 17th instant, reports having been blown out to sea about 30 miles on the 21st instant, when she experienced a heavy gale from the North. Capt Johnson, fearful his ship would founder, was compelled to throw overboard about 100 bbls molasses and 150 bbls apples. While in critical condition, a schooner, name unknown, bound to Mobile, laden with lumber, came out to the leeward, carrying away the bulwarks, plank sheer and deck, broke steam pipe, and doing other considerable damage. After temporarily repairing pipe so as to make steam, the Boarner was two days out before she could make soundings.

The captain of the steamship Texas reports having been detained 48 hours after his time, in consequence of heavy gales from the North, which prevented communication with the shore—left at Vera Cruz brig Brownville, discharged, and ready to leave for Alvarado to load.
