THE BEE.

PUBLISHED DAILY BY J. BAYON.

NEW-ORLEANS, FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 24, 1831.

LATE FROM MEXICO.

By the schooner Tepeyac, from Vera-Cruz, we have received Oajaca and Mexico papers of the 7th and 12th of the 12th instant. They contain nothing which can be very interesting to our readers.

Cadallos, the most resolute of the dismomored rebels, as previously announced, has been taken prisoner. He is to be arraigned before a war-council; this, in other words, means that a short shrift and twenty musket balls will send him where many a tall fellow has gone before. The execution of Guerrero was precipitate in the extreme, and Cadallos, in point of courage and patriotism, bears the most resemblance to that unfortunate chieftain.

We had nearly forgotten that the pontifical mitre had been placed on the brows of cardinal Capellari, when the circumstance was recalled to our mind, by a decree ordering the illumination of the temples and cities in celebration of the joyful event.

A gentleman, very lately from Mexico, informs us that the vice-president has of late evinced considerable partiality towards the clergy. He has associated priests to his council, entrusted them with public charges—which, to our view, looks very much like constituting a politico-theocratic government.

From the at Natchitoches Messenger.

The Steamboat Alps, has recently been purchased by Col. Milam, of Texas, for the special purpose of ascertaining whether or not it is practicable, for a boat to pass through the Raft up to the head, and on the Kiamish.

Col. Milam seems to entertain no doubt of success in his enterprise; if he succeeds, he will have the honor of taking the first craft of any description through the Raft. The advantages that will arise to this section of country, should the crew be successful, are vastly important, and will be properly appreciated by all. Too much praise cannot be bestowed on Col. Milam for his enterprising genius and public spirit. The boat started on Friday last in neat trim. Passengers on board, Lieut. Seawell of the United States army and George Kincaid, Esq. of Natchitoches.

Rail Road Convention.—The City Council of Charleston, South Carolina, have appointed Joel R. Poinsett and Henry N. Cruger, Esqrs. Delegates to attend this Convention, to assemble at Estillville, in Virginia, on the 6th June, to consider the best route from the Western waters to the Atlantic, in connexion with a line of Packets to Europe. The Rail Road Company of Charleston has also appointed their Chief Engineer, Horatio Allen, Esq. with Col. Cruger, to attend in their behalf.

COLUMBIA, Pa. June 2.

On Sunday morning last our attention was attracted by the appearance of three large road-wagons, filled with foreigners of all ages, from the suckling babe of the man of grey hairs. Their number appeared to be about sixty, and the space unoccupied by them was filled by household movables. We understand they were from that part of France which borders on the Rhine, and had left that country on account of the late disturbances. They were last from Baltimore, and were on their way to Lancaster, where they intend remaining until some of the company can proceed to Ohio and purchase land. They said it was their intention to cultivate the grape as a business, and as they have had much experience as vine-dressers they will probably succeed well.—They could speak both the German and French, and it is said they have brought considerable wealth with them. Spy.

The emigration from Ireland promises to be unprecedented this season. It is calculated it will exceed 50,000. From all parts of the interior, flocks of farmers and their families, who have saved the remnant of their industry from the absentee landlords, are hastening to the sea-port towns, which are crowded with country people, awaiting the sailing of the vessels to British American or the United States. This alarming state of things will surely impel government to set in operation without delay, a great national measure for the pacification of that misruled country. What a frightful mass of misery and crime would have been prevented, if government had followed up what we have unceasingly recommended for twenty years—the taking up the able-bodied and idle labourers, and setting them on waste lands, which would in a few years more than repay the State, and suppressing beggary by systematic relief to the infirm and factious. This wise and beneficent panacea for afflicted Ireland cannot longer be withheld, but at an expense for military and civil force, which a reformed Parliament will not be very apt to vote for the sake of the absentee landlords.

ITEMS.

A Pleasing Result.—A provincial paper, in noticing an accident caused by the giving away of some scaffolding round the Pavilion at Brighton, expresses its gratification that during the whole time of the constructing of the Pavilion, "with its lofty complexity of scaffoldings and towering minarets," there has not been any disaster, "the pleasing result," it adds, "of extraordinary skill and care." A writer who finds out that a disaster is a pleasing result, must indeed have a "lofty complexity" of mind.

It is calculated by Mr. Jacob that 32,000 bankruptcies have been declared in France since the revolution in July.

The Schoolmaster Abroad.—The following specimen of epistolary writing was sent to a watchmaker in this town the other day, along with the writer's watch, which was out of repair. Well we may say that the "schoolmaster is abroad," (i. e., not at home), when we see such elegant literary compositions:—Sir,—I have Sarey to Send this Watch Sow hoft She as Ben A Proved Goods Watchhown till Now But I think if She wark Hon this Way She will Lowes hir Caracter and youres all Sow She never gones 2 days to Gether She Peraps Stopes half anquter and then Gowes hof gaine But when the Serue Nalle Came hont there came a Smolle Pin how wit it And you Received the Same Be as good as to Search her well and Put ir to rites foo I haine A Shamed of hir.

A Pithy Narrative.—Sir John Sinclair, in his "Correspondence and Reminiscences," lately published, states that the following answer was given to him by the duke of Wellington, on his application to him for an account of the battle of Waterloo:—"Upon applying to the duke of Wellington (says Sir John) for his aid to complete the account I proposed to draw up of that celebrated engagement, he said—I can give you no information that would be of any use to you. My mind was so completely overpowered with the great events of the battle, that I could not pay any attention to its minor details. All that I can tell you is, that we met the enemy; that we fought a battle, and that we gained a victory."

Indian Relics.—A gentleman visiting this place from Philadelphia, had his attention attracted a few days since, while near the canal basin, by the singular appearance of the earth, which resembled an Indian mound or tumulus, as well as a drowned rat, where he was called to an account for his dripping condition.

Mother.—Why, Jack, where' have you been to?

Jack.—No where, but in the middle of the brook.—[Sullenly.]

Mother.—In the middle of the Brook child! how came you there?

Jack.—Why, Peter Polliwog—

Mother.—The villain!—did he push you in?

Jack.—He! who, Peter Polliwog? I should like to catch him pushing me in! He knows better than to undertake that.

Mother.—How did you get in then?

Jack.—Why, I jumped in!

Mother.—You jumped in!

Jack.—To be sure I did. Peter Polliwog told me I darsn't—and by garry, I'm not the boy to take a stump! Constellation.

COLUMBIAN EMBROCATION,

an infallible specific against sea-sickness.

THE undersigned, agent for Mr. E. Wright of Boston, offers to the public the above medicine as a preservative and specific against that dreadful affection, "sea-sickness." The application of the remedy is neither dangerous nor difficult: all that is required is to rub the pit of the stomach with it at the time of putting out to sea, or immediately as a nauseousness of the stomach takes place.

The necessary directions for its use accompany each bottle. F. P. DUCONGE, Agent,
