The foundation of my preference, is, that, Mr. Fillmore has administered the Executive Government with signal success and ability. He has been tried and found true, faithful, and competent.—HENRY CLAY.

I prefer the union of North or South, who will give an administration for the North, as the South, or for the South as against the North, and not the men who should vote if agreed to me. For my own part I obey my country, my whole country and nothing but my country.—MILLARD FILLMORE'S ADDRESS ON HIS LANDING AT NEW YORK.

THE TENDENCY OF THINGS.

The North a fraction of national Democrats. True, as Mr. Bee observes, their voice is all but in the roar of faction that clamors [illegible] though numerically weak. [illegible] probably hold the balance of power in more than one doubtful State. [illegible] been revoked by shocks, neither have they [illegible] the strong tendency of Democrats to fuse with the Fremont party, for the purpose of [illegible]. The evidences of this are numerous. In another [illegible] we publish a letter from [illegible] Freeman's paper, in which he says that the Democrats are [illegible] the project of uniting [illegible] Fremont Gazette—a [illegible] paper complains that the Administration of Ohio are [illegible] to secure the defeat of the Fillmore party. It charges that an emissary of the great Democratic party has been [illegible] in a section [illegible] slavery leaders attend the Fill[illegible] on the right place. [illegible] the stump, where, in [illegible] acquiescence in Buchanan, would be retaining the old Democrat is a Catholic, [illegible] the Fillmore party is about to [illegible] the great Democratic party [illegible] the party that has been [illegible] in a section [illegible] slavery leaders attend the Fillmore [
