THE BEE.

PUBLISHED AND PRINTED DAILY BY
E. DUBOSQ, BAYOU.

TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 27, 1838.

FOR GOVERNOR,
A. DAWSON.

FOR MAYOR,
Col. PEIRE
RECORDER,
FELIX DE ARMAS.

By the capt. and passengers of the schr. Two Brothers, 9 days from Tampico, which arrived at a late hour last night, we learn that it was currently reported in that city, that a battle had taken place between the government troops and those of Vera Cruz, which terminated in favor of the latter. It is stated that 200 men were killed and wounded, among the latter, General Santa Ana. We hope to be able to give further particulars from our files to-morrow.

We have by yesterday's mail New York papers of the 12th, Philadelphia of the 13th, and Baltimore of the 14th instant. The papers are mostly taken up with intelligence conveyed by the Sampson at New York, and offer no striking occurrence in the domestic department.

Orphan Boys.—The liberal manager of the Camp street Theatre, acting up to his unusual practice, has generously granted the use of his house to a company of amateurs, who will, this evening, perform for the benefit of the orphan boys. Tickets are to be obtained at the principal hotels and bookstores. The box office opens at 10 of the clock this morning.

Is it necessary to say that the liberality of our citizens will not on this occasion, be appealed to in vain? We feel no hesitation in asserting that the munificent hand, which they have ever extended in support of this institution, will not, in the present instance, be withdrawn.

The veteran Cooper.—It is a matter of gratification to us, to have it in our power to state, that this meritorious tragedian, who has, for years, worn the honors of the buskin, with unsurpassed excellence, will appear to morrow at the Camp street Theatre, in his peculiar character of VIRGINIUS. We hope—we feel confident that his merits will not be found aught extenuated in public opinion; and that the war-worn centurion will not find a single Appius among the audience.

We beg leave to call the attention of our readers to the sale of real estate, situated in the vicinity of the cotton press, in the lower faubourg. We are gratified to observe that this part of our flourishing city is assuming the importance, in regard to commerce, to which it is entitled by its favorable position.

Mr. Wirt.—A report had gained circulation, stating that this distinguished jurist was about to settle in Louisiana, for the sake of improving his shattered health. The Baltimore Chronicle says, most positively, that the surmise is erroneous, and that Mr. Wirt has no intention of removing his residence from the city of Baltimore.

Congress.—After the rejection of the well grounded claims of Mrs. Decatur, the senate have returned to the interminable discussion of the apportionment bill, and the house, to the equally endless consideration of Mr. Claiborne's resolution for the appointment of a select committee to examine the concerns of the bank of the United States. On the former question, a clause providing for the representation of fractions was discussed for three long hours; and after amendments and subamendments, sundry and divers, the motion to amend the amendments was carried. The ratio of representation, in the amended state of the bill, is rated at 47,000; the bill has been ordered to a third reading by a majority of seven votes. On the latter subject, it was decided that the committee should be chosen by ballot, and directed to report by the third Monday in April. So much for the senatus consultus of the upper, and the plebiscitum of the lower house.

MR. EDITOR—For many years I have watched the progress of events in this city. Having become domiciliated, and my interests identified with its prosperity, I now regard New Orleans as my alma mater, and view every thing connected with its weal with an anxious and jealous vigilance.

The approaching municipal elections I deem pregnant with consequences involving our future welfare. The mighty march of population and enterprise of our common country has, literally forced our city to keep pace with this state of affairs. If we had an automaton in the chair of the mayoralty, the nature of circumstances, to a certain extent, would compel a corresponding advancement in our municipal affairs: But, sir, with a man of zeal, enterprize, combined with the necessary tact and knowledge essential to the judicious and successful administration of our city concerns at their head, to what an extent of internal prosperity might we not attain.

The retiring modesty of Col. PEIRE, one of the candidates for the important office of mayor of this greatly increasing metropolis, has, for seventeen years that I have known him, been proverbial. He is not known as a coffee house politician, nor as an idle sauntere in those haunts of brawling debaters; nor is he "thale fellow" with "Tom and Jerry" in "the place where merchants most do congregate." He has uniformly pursued "the even tenor of his way" as a good citizen, deserving head of a family and estimable member, of society. He is known as a man of sound judgment, pledged to no sectional or local interests, and, should he reach the Mayoralty Chair, will exercise its paramount duties firmly, impartially, and with "a single eye" to the public weal. Schooled under the keen eye of the defender of the Mississippi; whose pupil he may in some respects, be deemed; although trammeled by no undue predelections, he will enter upon the duties of office with peculiar advantages. Man inured to military service, we can impartially allow, are in every respect, adapted to civil rule; a remark which would have been judged problematical; had not experience proved its verity. As managers of police, in its more extended, as well as minor details, military men have a decided advantage, more particularly under the present military system of our gens d'armes or city guard. And I will, unhesitatingly, venture to predict, that a reform of no veritable a character will ensure in this all important branch of city government, that robbery and murder, which have so unblushingly stalked abroad at noon day, will flee from our borders to a more genial region. I will not dwell on military pretentions of an individual for civil office, to a people tenaciously jealous of their civil rights.

It is high time for this community to put down blustering politicians. Let modest, retiring worth be promoted to posts of honor, when accompanied by corresponding ability. True merit is always modest, for

"'Tis the witness still of excellency,
To put a strange face on its own perfection."

Col. PEIRE, to his irreproachable conduct prior, during and subsequent to the memorable [illegible] for exemplary demeanor in civil life, for the good citizen, for undeviating, his dignity of deportment and firmness of character, I deem, with many of my fellow citizens, a most truly fit person to be placed at the head of our municipality. For one I shall give him my vote and heartily support, and believe, from my knowledge of the man, that my countrymen of the upper liberties, cannot find a firmer or more devoted supporter of their rights and privileges.

AN OLD AMERICAN RESIDENT.

WASHINGTON, March 11.

CONGRESSIONAL.

The senate did not sit on Saturday.

In the house of representatives, Mr. E. Everett, from the committee on the library, reported a resolution directing the clerk to purchase two hundred and forty copies of the documentary history of the bank of the United States. After a short debate the resolution was agreed to. The bill to establish post roads, and to alter and discontinue others, and for other purposes, was read the third time and passed. Mr Doddridge moved a reconsideration of the vote rejecting the bill for the benefit of Mrs. Decatur; but before the question was decided, the house adjourned.

Extract from a letter from a gentleman of this city in the interior of England.

Frequently the first question put to me by Englishmen, upon being introduced as an American, is "have you ever been in England before?" "No indeed!" my tutor, surprised perhaps to find that I have not a horse's head or alligator's tail. The next heading remark is, "we read you plenty of negroes, your state of society must be abominable, how is it you protect them?" The third query most is impolitic, and unkind to say. The [illegible] in praising the [illegible] trade. Another favorite subject of remark is our [illegible] the [illegible] citizens of the United States. [illegible] cannot lose my temper in contemplating the [illegible] do they relate concerning us, yet not one

A VALUABLE SUGAR PLANTATION.

ON Tuesday the 27th inst., at 12 o'clock, at the Exchange coffee house, will be sold without reserve, a valuable Sugar estate, formerly owned by judge Lewis, situated in the parish of Plaquemine, about 56 miles below New Orleans, on the right bank of the river, bounded on the upper side by the plantation of Messrs. Shepherd and Montgomery, and on the lower side by that owned by Mr. Augustus White, measuring 31 or 32 arpents front, by 40 arpents in depth, widening as to measure about 36 or 40 arpents in the rear. The improvements thereon, consist of a Sugar and Mill House, Grist Mill, Keeles, and every thing in readiness to take off the crop, except the Sugar and Sugar Mill, which require some repairs. There are 80 acres of Cane now planted and in a thriving condition, and it is believed there is sufficiency of good land for 100 hands to cultivate, and a sufficiency of wood to last any number of years. There are two ten foot canals running through the plantation, and an extensive and valuable range for cattle. Further particulars are deemed unnecessary; persons disposed to purchase are invited to examine the premises. Also, at the same time and place, 50 valuable acclimated slaves, all in the prime of life, and possessing excellent characters—they will be brought to town several days previous to the day of sale, so that persons disposed to purchase, may have an opportunity of examining them. Terms.—For the plantation, $250 for each front arpent, to be paid in June next, without interest with the privilege to the purchaser of extending the payment four years longer, by adding 8 per cent per annum interest. The balance of the purchase money payable in 1, 2 and 3 years, from the day of sale, without interest. The slaves will be sold on a credit of 1 year, for notes drawn and endorsed to the satisfaction of the vender, secured by mortgage until final payment.
