J. B. DAWSON.

We had no regular sail; the Charleston papers, of the 19th of February, are the only ones which have duly come turcogh.

In a very lame comment on the momentary detention of the Spanish brig Habanero, in accordance with the instructions of the treasury department to the custom bouse of Charleston; the Arereary affects to be ignerant of the motive of such a proceeding at a time, when, by common consent, it had been publicly resolved that no case should be made under the ordinance, before the adjournment of congress. That the detention of the vessel was perfectly justifiable in the momentous conjuncture, is not difficult to be proved, i ocause eye y well regulated government must look upon an aggression as committed, when it has once been authorized But such is not our sim; we wish only to make a few strictures on the magisterial tone of the Mercury on the subject of the public resolves, suspending the operations of multifi-cation. What have we in the political Babel of South Carplina? A call of the people is made-delegates appointed to a convention—the convention of the state meets and frames an ordinance, threatening or rather envolving necessa y opposition to the supreme law of the land. The legislature of the state meets and passes certain enactments, prodirected on the principles of the ordinance, and intended to been fulfilled, both convention and legislature adjourn. On the very day that the ordinance and laws, consequent on its promulgation, are to take effect; by one of these accidents, which sometimes sport with the frailty of human reason, a case presents itself for the action of nullification. The officers of government, aware that an aggressive act once threatened, is already consumnated, and acting in the line of conduct, traced out to them by the legally constituted authorities of the nation, detain a vessel under considerations of duty and expediency. This, by the Mercury, is pointed out as a "federal aggression." A federal aggression, foresooth? Was not the object of the ordinance perfeetly understood? The period of its maturity at hand? What had intervened to prevent its operation? Governor and these people seldom stumble at the means of compass Hamilton, we are told, had previously called a meeting of the nullihers, who resolved, sous son bon plaisir to adjourn nullish ation to the close of congress! That is, ousting the reel Staton Pures-the lawful merry Andrews-Loin the cheas of Charleston; governor Hamilton plays the political mountebank, and true to his chamelion course, after having determined to nullify a law of congress, nullifies an ordina we of the people and the acts of the legislature of the state of South Carolina! L'étatt-c'est moi-Napoleon once said. General Hamilton ages Napoleon, and wears the relingate grise, with a rare grace, in south!

windows were tried were found on the premises, and they have the dog as a watch dog, and from such executationes it was necessary he should be a ferocious dog; they also proved that the plaintiff had been in the habit of playing with the dog, or tantalizing him, throwing water on him and also that he had snapped a whip at him.

In the course of the trial an anusing examination took place of a porter in the employ of the defendants: having testified that the dog was harmless and gentle, he was asked if he did not know or had not heard that he had ever him through the boot of one of the defendants, he said he had not seen him, but had only squeezed him, which squeeze turned out to be a biffer through the boot and skin. The plaintiff proved against the defendants that they were repetitedly warned of the dog's propensity to bite, and that they were also warned against placing him is that part of the yard where he had bitten the plaintiff.

The Judge charged the Jury that if the defendants knew tho had disposition of the dog, they had no right to keep him in any situation that he could do harn to any body—that for their protection as a watch to the store they had a graph through the boot and skin they kept him at their peril if he injured their neighbour, and it any rate they had no right to place a dog of suspicious nature in the place where the dog had been chained when he bit the plaintiff—that the yard was in common as proved, and the dog should not have been put so as to jopardize the plaintiff—that the yard was in common as journed, and the dog should not have been put so as to jopardize the plaintiff or his family while in the use of the yard. The jury found for the plaintiff fifty-one deliars damages.

First Celebration of O'Connell's birth-day.—The 6th of August, 1932, the anniversary of the birth day of the Irish Liberator, Dawist O'Connell, was celebrated in Washington City by the National Volunteers, under the command of Capt. John Foy, and by a large number of respectable patriotic citizens. George Washington Parke Custus, Esq. the unwavering friend of civil and religious liberty, presided on the occasion at the festive board, assisted by General Walter Jones, as Vice President. These gentlemen have just received from the "land of science and sone" the following gratifying letter and resolutions, the unanimens effusions of $1,000 grateful hearts. The original manuscipt has been transmitted to the National Volunteeos, to be for the present treasured in their archives as a precious relic, to be borne proughly triumphant on their green banner when Iroland shall be free.

LATEST FROM THE PACIFIC. The Bultimore American

Latest from the Pacific.—The Bultimore American and a slip from the office of the Bultimore Republican, furnish us with the following recent intelligence from the Pacific, received by the Lady Adams.

Lista, 25th Sept.—A few days since, Congress passed a special decree, admitting the American ship Alexander's cargo of tobacco, on conditions which were tantamount to a reduction of upwards of $20,000 in duties, in order to secure a certain sum in cash. This decree was expedited in the teeth of their tariff laws; but the crisis called for money; and these people addom stumble at the means of compassing what they design to do, even though it be at the expense of law, constitution or consistency.

The ship Ulysses is probably at this time in Valparaiso, direct from Guayaquil, and will leave the coast for home about the time the Lady Adams does; the Pagoda is still on the coast; the schooner Dash on her way hence for Valparaiso, and the brig Anawan, I believe is scalin.
