The Southern mail due yesterday, did not come to hand. That of Saturday brought nothing of importance.

The trial of col. Wm. G. Taylor, for counterfeiting notes of the United States bank, after having occupied the district court during the last week, was concluded at a late hour on Saturday evening. The jury almost immediately returned a verdict of not guilty. The prosecution was conducted by Mr. Slidell, United States district attorney, assisted by Mr. P. A. Roote, and the defence by Messrs. Grymes, Mazureau, Preston and Kelly.

We respectfully call the attention of our readers to the proceedings of a meeting, held at New York, on the subject of a modification of the tariff, connected with the union, together with the remarks of the Courier & Enquirer thereon. It would seem from some of the New York papers, that the ultra tariffites are dissatisfied with the resolutions, endeavored, after their adoption, to kick up a row, in which they partially succeeded. The propriety of a similar meeting being held in this city, has been suggested. The suggestion meets our cordial approbation.

It appears by Levy's Price Current, that there are 104 vessels, of all descriptions, now in this port, a greater number than has been found here, at the same time of the year, during seven years. The stock of cotton is also greater than at the same time in any other year, except 1828-9, when it was 76,718 bales: it is now 70,442. The stock of tobacco exceeds, by about 7000 hhds. the stock of any previous year. These statements afford a good prospect to the owners of shipping, should business not be intercepted by the prevalence of an epidemic. As yet it is perfectly healthy.

Captain Rogers, of the brig Motion, which arrived at this port on Friday, from Havre, states in a letter to the editor of the Courier, that he took no more passengers on board than the law allows, and that seven of the twelve, who died on the passage, were children, "many at the breast, who died from the want of their mothers milk, the women having suffered much from sea sickness." The statement of capt. Rogers is accompanied by the certificate of doctors Tricon and Thomas, that the disease was not the cholera, assuring the citizens that there is no cause for the alarm which has prevailed. These medical gentlemen express the opinion "that if the cholera ever prevails in Louisiana, it will be from Europe."

The American Quarterly Review, for June, has at least a usual amount of interest. Two of the papers relate to topics of much importance in our domestic politics,—the disposition of the public domain, and the tariff; the writer on the latter article, assails the protective policy. As long as a question of this nature, however complicated in its relation, is canvassed on its broad grounds, without party bias, there is some hope of seeing it eventually understood. Involved in the angry politics of party, such a result to it is hopeless. Apart from them the respective champions would perhaps not find themselves differing as widely as they imagine. The paper merits attentive perusal.

There is an interesting article on the Mississippi Valley, and another on British North America. That upon "Oxford Prize Essays," contains some salutary hints on the value of classical learning. Lord Dover's Frederick the Second, a poor book apparently, suggests some interesting reminiscences of a remarkable but not very amiable sovereign. Mr. Sparks's new and valuable life of Gouverneur Morris, is also the subject of an article which we have found entertaining.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE BEE.

Sir: Please insert in your paper that the Ship AMERICA, of which I am commander, has loaded down at the Levee Steam Cotton Press, and has taken on board, in number, 48 bales, and in weight above 46,000 lbs more of cotton than she has ever taken before.

THE BANK BILL.

WASHINGTON, June 11, 1832.

The bill to continue the Bank of the United States passed to a third reading in the Senate, on Saturday last, by a majority of five votes. Had the three absentees been present, we understand the majority would have been eight.

The bill, as it has passed the Senate, contains in substance the following provisions:

1. The Bank charter to be continued for fifteen years, from and after the 3d day of March, 1836; that being the day on which the present charter expires.

2. The Directors may appoint two or more officers to sign notes less than one hundred dollars, which shall be binding on the corporation, in the same manner as if signed by the President and Cashier.

3. The Bank is not to issue or put in circulation any notes, or any checks or drafts of a less denomination than fifty dollars, which shall not, on the faces thereof, be payable at the bank where issued.

4. The Bank, and all its offices, shall be bound to receive, in payment of balances due them from other banks, notes or bills of the Bank of the United States, wherever made payable on their faces.

5. The Bank is to hold no real estate (except bank buildings and lands mortgaged, &c.) for a longer period than five years.

6. The Bank shall not establish or continue more than two offices in any one State.

7. The Bank is to pay two hundred thousand dollars a year to the United States for the benefits of the charter, during the whole period of fifteen years.

8. It shall be lawful for Congress to provide by law, that the Bank shall be restrained, at any time after March 3, 1836, from issuing or keeping in circulation, bills of a less denomination than twenty dollars.

9. The cashier shall report annually to the Secretary of the Treasury the name of all stockholders; and the Treasurer of any State, on request, shall be furnished with a list of stockholders who may be citizens of such State.

It will be perceived by our readers, that, with the exception of the section continuing the charter, and that authorizing the signature of small bills by other officers besides the President and Cashiers, all the provisions and enactments of the bill are limitations and restraints on the Bank, or increasing its burdens. First, as to the issues. For the present charter, and for the whole twenty years, the Bank paid one million and a half of dollars; for the new charter, and for the shorter period of fifteen years, the Bank is to pay two hundred thousand dollars a year; that is to say, three millions in all.

2. The circulation of small checks and orders is prohibited.

3. All notes issued at any office shall be payable at that office.

4. All the offices are bound to receive the notes of all other offices, when offered in payment of balances due from State banks.

5. The very important power is reserved of restraining the circulation of all bills under twenty dollars. This provision was inserted for the alleged purpose of giving up a large portion of the circulation of the Bank to the State institutions, if the States shall be of opinion, that the public good requires a withdrawal from circulation of all notes under five dollars, with a view to the introduction of a greater potion of specie into the general circulation.

6. The number of Branches is limited to two in any one State.

In Committee of the Whole a section was introduced for distributing the bonus among the several States, according to numbers; but this section was subsequently rejected, and the money is to be paid, like other public monies, into the National Treasury.

It seems to us that this bill very fairly presents the question, whether the Bank of the United States shall be continued; since it introduces no new cause of dispute, but, on the contrary, contains several restraints on the Bank, introduced to give greater security to the public interest.—Nat. Int.

NEW-YORK, June 9.

GREAT UNION MEETING—ADJUSTMENT OF THE TARIFF.

[illegible] waters begin to [illegible] constitution is [illegible] Last evening one of the largest, most respectable, and most enthusiastic meetings, was held in the Stanton House in the Park, which ever was seen in New-York within the memory of the oldest inhabitant. At seven o'clock, before the shades of the evening had fallen over the city, the people began to collect in hundreds and thousands near the western entrance of the Stanton House. The whole vacant space, from the portico of the buildings to the iron railing on Broadway, comprising the vacant space on the Park, was crowded with the people in immense numbers. The fever and excitement throughout the immense mass of people, was solemn, as well as spirit-stirring. At eight o'clock the doors were opened, and the crowd rushed in thousands, and the Hall was totally inadequate to contain the multitude who passed forward for an entrance. The venerable Chancellor KENT officiated as Chairman, and the meeting was addressed by PETER A. JAY, Esq. We cannot a full report of the proceedings.

This commences in the greatest city of the Union, a movement among the people in favor of preserving the Union, and of adjusting the Tariff, which will be followed by every city, town and hamlet throughout this state, and throughout the nation.—The daring attempt made by an ultra Tariff and DISUNION FACTION against the integrity of the confederacy are met when they first made their appearance in the North, and will be rolled back to the obscurity in which they ought forever to have been hid. The patriotism—the fervor—the holy sentiment for the Union, prevalent throughout the great body of the meeting, surpassed any thing that ever was witnessed. The effect of this meeting on the country and on Congress, cannot fail to be highly salutary to the peace and harmony of the country.

But while the people may exult in the spirit of union, of compromise and conciliation which characterized this meeting, we would fail in our most solemn duty to the public, did we not express freely the indignation which was felt at the conduct of a portion of the 281 DISUNIONISTS who recently met at the City Hotel, who impudently thrust themselves into this assembly, evidently for the purpose of riot, confusion and uproar.—During the early period of the afternoon, inflammatory hand bills were circulated in the upper wards, instigating and exciting the people to attend the meeting, and to destray its harmony.—It was in character with their principles, though utterly disgraceful to them as men and citizens. About the close of the meeting, therefore, a small squad of NULLIFIERS and DISUNIONISTS, who would see this UNION broken into fragments sooner than give up their ill gotten gains, attempted by noise, gesticulation, hisses, groans, to break up the meeting in confusion. This little band was headed by Mr. REDWOOD FISHER, Mr. NOAH COOK, and a few other of the congenial spirits who raised the toesin of discord in the City Hotel. Under ordinary circumstances, charity might suppose that such an attempt would only have proceeded from delusion and despair—but a such at crisis in the destiny of this yet united country, it was undoubtedly meant as practical experiment—a natural exhibition of their own purposes, against the integrity of the Union, should the Tariff be modified. Mr. Redwood Fisher stamped, gesticulated, hawled out and vociferated like a person not absolutely in a state of sanity. Mr. Noah Cook followed suit in the same temper, and for the same purposes. But above all things did we regret seeing Mr. Hugh Paine, a gentleman of respectable private character, mixing in this shameful and humiliating attempt to sully the character and destroy the harmony of the meeting. His purposes may have been pure and honest, but his conduct had only a tendency to raise the torch of discord.

Want of room and the lateness of the hour prevent from enlarging on this unusual and disgraceful exhibition—an exhibition of the most alarming character which has appeared in this country since the present constitution went into operation. We shall recur to it again, for there is much to be said on this great and exciting topic.

At a meeting of the citizens of New York, convened by public notice at the Sessions Room on Friday evening, 8th June, 1832, the meeting was called to order by Prescott Fish.

James Kent was chosen president, and Stephen Allen and Gideon Lee, vice presidents.

Cornelius W. Lawrence and John A. Stevens were chosen Secretaries.

The following resolutions were moved by Peter Augustus Jay seconded by David B. Ogden, and were carried.

1. Resolved, That the preservation of the Union of these States, upon which are involved our property, felicity, safety, perhaps our national existence" is an object of paramount importance never to be endangered for particular interests, nor sacrificed to abstract opinions.

2. Resolved, That in order to a satisfactory and equitable settlement of any of those important questions, which at times must variously affect states "differing in situation, climate, habits, and particular interests," it is necessary that each should relax on some points; and always to recollect that our happy constitution itself was declared by its august Framers to be the result of a spirit of amity, and of mutual deference and concession which the peculiarity of our political situation renders indispensable."

3. Resolved, That an arrangement of the Tariff question during the present session of Congress, on such principles as may allay discontent and restore harmony to the different sections of the country, is essential for the preservation of peace and union.

4. Resolved, That this important object cannot be effected otherwise than by sincere mutual deference and concession, evinced by great sacrifices of opinion and of interest on both sides; by acquiescence in special protection to certain branches of industry on the one hand, and on the other by an abandonment of exorbitant protective duties, and of the most obnoxious and oppressive provisions of the system.

5. Resolved, Without pretending to decide what amount of revenue is adequate to defray the expenses and to meet the exigencies of government, that a reduction of the existing duties to that extent is essential, under any modification of the Tariff, to preserve the undivided confidence of the people in the general government.

6. Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting, certified by the President, Vice Presidents, and Secretaries, with a copy of the notification calling it together, be transmitted by them to the Senators of this state, and representatives of this city in Congress, with a request that the same may be laid before both Houses, and that they will themselves endeavor to effect a settlement in the spirit and upon the principles before mentioned.

Whereupon the meeting was ajourned.

New and important Invention in the art of Printing. A new process in the art of printing has just been carried into effect at Brussels, for making fac-similies of French books and journals. This process consists in transferring, by means of an operation which takes scarcely half an hour, the whole of a printed sheet to a lithographic stone, so that the printed letters are removed from the sheet, which is left blank, and are fixed, uninjured, upon the stone. By means of a chemical composition, the application of which requires an hour, at the most, the letters transferred are raised so as to resemble types. The stone, thus prepared, may be then used as if it were a real form of metallic types, and from 1500 to 2000 copies may be printed from it which will be perfect fac-similes of the original sheet. Those who are at all acquainted with the usual operations of printing, will, at once, perceive what an immense saving of time and labor may be made by this invention; a trial of which has just been made in reprinting the Gazettee de Trimnaux, of Paris, to appear at Brussels, under the title of Causes celebres, et Anecdotes judiciaries; Redertoire de la Jurisprudence des Codes Francaise.' This reprint will be very cheap; and the process, it is anticipated, will soon be applied to the reprinting of all the interesting Paris and London periodicals.—Dilettery Gazette.

Nominal.

We remarked in our last number, that the market was extremely dull, and that our quotations were nominal; such is yet the case, though there is now inquiry for the article. The particulars of several sales made last week, to which we then referred, are, viz: 2000 bales Mississippi, at 8¼; 600 do. do. 500 Alabama at 8¼ and 9¼; 700 do. at 8¼; 500 do. averaging about 9; 1000 Tennessee, at 8¼, and 50 do at 7¾ cents per lb. The arrivals are now unimportant, and will soon cease entirely, as it is probable that the whole crop with small exceptions, has got in. Shipments continue to be nearly all on planters' account.

Sugar.—No change in price has come to our knowledge, and the article remains as dull as ever. Cleared this week for New York 95 hhds., Charleston 15 hhds. and 1 bbls., Boston 38 hhds.; together 268 hhds, and 1 bbl.

Molasses.—Small parcels in the city continue to command 24 a 25 cents per gallon, cash or credit. On plantation we hear of nothing doing; there is little or none to be had. Cleared this week, for New York 48 hhds., and 60 bbls., Charleston 50 bbls., New Haven 94 hhds. and 114 bbls., Newport 85 hhds. and 40 bbls.; together 219 hhds., and 284 bbls.

Tobacco.—At the present there is not much doing, those otherwise disposed to purchase, delay doing so in anticipation of a reduction in the rate of freight, in such event it is thought that large transactions would take place, as it is, few or no sales, for exportations can be made at an average over $2,40a$2,60 per 100lbs. The sales since our last report, are, viz: 64 hhds. ½ of each quality at 2, 3 and 4 cents; 460 averaging $2'66; 50, 1st and 2d quality, at 3 and 4 cents, and a lot of 85 hhds. of very superior quality from Loutre Island, Missouri, viz: 9 hhds., 1st quality, at 5; 15 do. at 4½; 11 do at 3½; 3 do. at 4; 12, 2d quality, at 3½; 5¾, at 2½; and a lot of 140 hhds. at the average of our quotations 2, 3 and 4 cents per lb. Arrived this week, 340 hhds.—Cleared this week, for Liverpool 142 hhds., Bremen 210, Genoa 101, New York 588, Boston 410, Baltimore 36; together 2095 hhds. Stock remaining, inclusive of all on ship board not cleared on the 21st inst., 17,500 hhds.

Flour has been dull throughout the week, and sales have ruled at $5 per bbl. Arrived this week, 5856 bbls.

Lard.—We quote a sale of 1500 a 2000 kegs, at 8 cents per lb.; the quality was superior—inferior has no demand at any price. Arrived this week, 4883 kegs

Pork has had a better demand this week than for several weeks past; sales generally have been at former quotations. Arrived this week, 562 bbls.

Whiskey, in the hands of the commission merchants, is generally limited at 24 cents per gallon; occasional sales have been made at 25 cents per gallon. Arrived this week 1240 bbls.

Lead.—We have heard it said, that sales have been made at $6 25, but as far as we could learn, holders are firm at $6 31½ per 100 lbs. Arrived this week, 7,019 pigs, and 10 boxes bar.

NEW YORK MARKET, June 9.

Cotton.—the transactions have been more extensive, but without any improvement in prices. On the contrary, several considerable parcels brought forward, have been sold on rather lower terms; but the general complexion of the market is not altered, and our quotations remain the same. The sales, for the last three days, embrace about 900 bales Upland at 9½ 11 cents; 600 N. Orleans, 10¼a11; 300 Alabama 9½a11¼, and 200 Florida, 9½a10¼ cents—making a total for the week of 2400 bales. Accounts have been received from Liverpool to the 9th of May. There was no material variation in that market from the previous advices.

Molasses.—There is but little now in first hands and higher prices are demanded. New Orleans is held firmly at 31 cts; a lot of about 40 hhds. superior St. Croix is supposed to have brought something over that price—the precise rate not transpired.

Sugars.—We notice sales of about 250 boxes Havana brown at 8¼a8¾ cents, and some white within our range.—Muscovados continue inactive and the transactions confined to small lots. By auction, two parcels, 180 hhds., New Orleans were sold at 5¼a5¾ cents, 3 and 4 mos. The import of all descriptions has been considerably less than last year to this period.

Tobacco.—The only transactions we have to notice, is a sale of 30 hhds. inferior Kentucky, at 3½cents. Import—from Maryland, 20 hhds. Total, since 1st inst., 114 hhds.
