On the invitation of Mr. Dolbear, a Teacher of Pennianship, in our city, upon the Carstairiam system; we have carefully examined specimens of the writings of his pupils, whose ages range from 5 to 50 years, written through an entire course of instruction, and after having done so, it is with the highest agriculation, that we constructive to these entire course of instruction; and after having done so, it is with the highest satisfaction, that we can testify to the rapid if not unperalleled, progress which they have made.

From the specimens seen, and the examination of the system made, we cannot withhold the expression of a concurrent opinion, that the system is greatly superior to any hitherto taught. If to write legibly, elegantly, rapidly, and in good hale, be an accomplishment, useful or desirable, it is upon the principles of this system that it is to be acquired. We therefore anxiously solicit of the public a liberal patronage in favor of an Instructor, whose qualifications are of ronage in favor of an Instructor, whose qualifications are of the highest order, and whose labors promise to be so exceed-the highest order, and whose labors promise to be so exceedingly useful to this and other communities.

From an examination of the system, according to which Mr. Doibear instructs and foon sersonal observation of the proficiency of many of his pupils, I feel the utmost confidence in recommending him as the abiest teacher of the art of penmaneship, with whom I have ever met. His deportment, also, is that of a gentleman.
