EUROPEAN INTELLIGENCE.

EUROPEAN INTELLIGENCE.

Lonnon, 23d Oct.—We have received by express the whole of the Paris papers of Monday. The intelligence they bring from Spain is altegether favorable. The rebels had no where gained any ground, and 'is quite evident that the spirit of insurrection had made no progress of any importance. The troops marching upon Vittoria and Bilboa are under the orders of the Count Armides Toledo. No doubt was entertained of their efficiency in putting down the insurgents, and causing the Queen's authority to be acknowledged and respected. It is evident from the accounts received in France from when you are processed in the page of Spain, that no disposition has been any pected. It is evident from the accounts received in France irom various parts of Spain, that no disposition has been any where evinced by the regular troops to declare in favor of Don Carlos. Great importance is attached to this manifest fidelity of the army to the government of Donna Isabella, as the monks and royalist volunteers can no where hope to make a serious impressing so long as they are likely to be opposed by regurar troops.

PARIS, Oct. 21.—The Courier du Nord, of the the 16th instigives the following: "We have just received positive information that the head quarters of the Army of the North will not be broken up. as wes reported, but will be transferred to Vation that the head quarters of the Army of the North will not be broken up, as was reported, but will be transferred to Valenciennes. It appears that the Government, instead of leaving the northern frontier unprotected by troops, intends on the contrary, to keep up there an imposing force, while other troops will be concentrated near the Pyreenees."

A letter from Alexadria shows that the Viceroy of Egypt neglects no means of consolidating his power. The enneglects no means or consolidating his power. The eligineers in his service are occupied in making entrenchments for the purpose of strengthening the important defile of Mount Taurus, in the district of Adams, the possession of which was so long and so warmly disputed in the late degociations for peace. However, as Ibrahim has no abundance fund. Makent Ali in similar collecting the ndance of funds, Mehemet Ali is rigidly collecting the axes imposed upon all classes of his subjects. The late metoric phenomena has been observed in every part of the United States; and it is pleasing to remark that in almost every instance recorded of that event, it was beheld by our citizens with admiration rather than affright. There have been indeed some isolated instances of superstition, but these have necessarily the modern of the modern content of the stition; but they have generally been confined to the weak-ly guilty, or the ignorantly foolish, or the enthusiastically Such a reception of such an unusual appearance is a manifest indication of the growth and extent of intelligence among our citizens. Perhaps no nation ever yet existed where such would have been received with similar ealmness and delight. The prophetic power ascribed to such phenomena has lost its centrol; and men now endeavor to ascretain the secondary causes of such effects, rather than to consider those effects as coercive causes of some sublunary movements. These aerial phenomera may be pro perly treated as prognostications of pa ticular changes of weather,—these changes differing perhaps in different elimes. For instance in England, they generally denote westerly winds; but in another country, their weatherly influence may be different. With us, the weather following former phenomena has not been so definitely noted nor reas to give any clue to future indications. - But we trust that such a deficiency will not now occur; and that we shall be as well enabled to predict concerning the weather from meteors as from mist—from the aurora borealis as from the distant thunder.—Phila. PERSONAL IDENTITY.—A trial of some interest was held Passonal IDENTITY.—A trial of some interest was held before Judge Irving, yesterday, the principal point in which depended upon proof of the personal indentity of Leonard Gosling, the blacking manufacturer in Nassau street, who for some time past has endeavoured to give consequence to his blacking by trumpeting it through the streets in sensal style. It appeared that a Mr. Leigh, of Lendon, sold in 1838, a quantity of goods to a man by the name of Abraham Lord, who soon after was among the name of Abraham Lord, who soon alter was among the missing.
