STATE OF LOUISIANA.—Parish Court of the Parish and City of New Orleans.—I do hereby certify that on the 24th February 1834, judgment was rendered in the suit of Charles Lemaitre vs Désirée Dardennes his wife, in the following words and figures, to wit:—No. 6318—Charles Lemaitre vs Désirée Dardennes his wife.—The Court after duly weighing the evidence produced by the plaintiff, the defendant having offered none considering—

1st That direct proof of adultery is seldom, if ever to be obtained, and in fact is not required.

2d That although the testimony of none of the witnesses heard on the trial of this cause, goes so far as to show that the defendant was detected in the actual commission of adultery, still seven persons who appear perfectly disinterested, and whose veracity has not been impeached, all concur in relating a series of circumstances from which an adulterous intercourse between the defendant and one Antoine Valette must irresistibly be inferred, and which have operated in the mind of the court, a moral conviction that the adultery charged in the plaintiffs petition has really been committed by the defendant.

3d. That the only question now submitted to the court is, whether the divorce prayed for is to be granted or not, the other questions arising in the suit, being reserved for further decision.

It is ordered, adjudged and decreed, that Judgment of divorce be entered in favor of the plaintiff, that the bonds of matrimony hitherto existing between him and the defendant be dissolved; that Charles Lamaitre, a child about seven years old, born of the marriage, be confided to the plaintiff, and that the defendant pay the costs,—the fate of another child born since the institution of the suit, as well as the monied concerns of the parteis, is to be hereafter settled by the decision of this court.

New Orleans, March 1, 1834.
[Signed] CHARLES MAURIAN, judge.

Judgment recorded in Judgement Docket C. p. 80—Costs of court $66 62½; sheriff's fees —.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the said court at the city of N Orleans, on this 1st day of March, in the year of our Lord, 1834, and in the 58th year of the independence of the United States.

WRITING.

MESSRS. T P & R DOLBEAR, have the pleasure to inform the citizens of New Orleans that they have returned, and re-opened their Writing Establishment, (this day,) at their former location, (48 Canal street,) where they have numerous specimens, exhibiting the improvement of their pupils, in this and other Cities, which they will be happy to present to their friends and public generally. Those persons who did not complete their lessons previous to the sickly season, are invited to call and do so now, without extra charge. Ladies who prefer, can receive lessons at their own residence.—The following testimonials are inserted for the satisfaction of those transient persons who have not yet had an opportunity of witnessing the result of their method of instruction:—

From His Excellency Governor Roman.

I have examined with attention, the system of writing taught by Mr. Dolbear, and it is with pleasure that I certify to its superiority over any other method with which I am acquainted. Mr. Dolbear, having given private lessons in my family, I consider it but justice to add, that I believe him as much worthy of public patronage on account of the correctness and mildness of his character, as on account of the rapid improvement of those who receive his lessons.

New Orleans, July 2, 1834. A. B. ROMAN

NEW ORLEANS, 12th May, 1832

On the invitation of Mr Dolbear, a teacher of Penmanship in our city, upon the Carstairian system; we have carefully examined specimens of the writings of his pupils, whose ages range from 8 to 50 years, written through an entire course of instruction; and after having done so, it is with the highest satisfaction, that we can testify to the rapid if not unparalled progress which they have made.

From the specimens seen, and the examination of the system made, we cannot withhold the expression of a current opinion, that the system is greatly superior to any hitherto taught. It to write legibly, elegantly, rapidly, and in good taste be an accomplishment useful or desirable, it is upon the principles of this system that it is to be acquired. We therefore anxiously solicit of the public a liberal patronage in favor of an instructer, whose qualifications are of the highest order, and whose labors promise to be so exceedingly useful to this and other communities.

THE STUDY OF YEARS Reduced to AS MANY HOURS.

DUHERTIS'S incomparable systems of free, elegant and standard Penmanship, suited to every purpose of life and business, and adapted to every age and capacity, continues to be taught perfectly in Six easy lessons of one hour each;—also, the delightful art of Short Hand taught in Six Lessons. Academy No 43, Camp Street, corner of Gravier, New Orleans. Ladies taught exclusively on three days of the week. His stay is limited. Comments on his system, he, himself, deems unnecessary further than to say, that in Europe it has become the standard and generally adopted one, while America,

Points out its worth, with an impartial eye,

And lifts its labeled banner to the sky.

Many hundred specimens of improvements made by persons of various ages to be seen at the Academy which is open daily from 10 a. m. to 2, and from 5 to 8 every evening.

☞ This system differs in every respect from any that has ever been offered in America; and mean time Mr Dubertis begs to call attention to the following:

☞ At a meeting held in London, at the Argyle Rooms, Regent street, on the 11th January, 1828, when were present, these distinguished characters: Lord Brougham and Sir Francis Burdett, also the members of the Royal Society of Arts and Sciences, the Society of Schoolmasters, &c. amounting in all, to about 340 personages. After a lecture of two hours and a half, having been delivered by Mr. Dubertis, on his newly invented system of teaching the art of writing in Six lessons, and on the various causes that prevented persons from attaining perfection in the art, according to the ordinary mode of teaching; Sir Francis Burdett then proposed, that the meeting should decide upon a resolution relative to the gratification which they felt in bearing testimony to the great and unparralleled advantage of Mr. Dubertis's system of teaching the art of Penmanship. After some deliberation it was unanimously resolved, that, Mr. Dubertis's system of teaching the art of Writing in a few lessons, (six only) appears to us as the most extraordinary improvement in the method of instruction, which the ingininuity of the human mind has hitherto devised. feb 5
