

FOR GOVERNOR:

J. B. DAWSON.

(Things to be remembered in the Polls.)

Remember that Edward D. White voted in favor of a law calculating nothing, distress and ruin upon the great manufacturing interest of our State.

Remember that we sent him to Congress to accuse our taxes, and to represent our wants.

Remember that he sold the one, and mocked at the other.

REMEMBER, that John B. Dawson was raised among us—that we have grown up together, from a boy to man, to an independent. Sate—but however deceived the confidence of his followers—in short, that he has ever been respected as a gentleman, loved as a man, and honored as a statesman.

SECOND SENATORIAL DISTRICT:

B. MARIGNY.

For Congress—1st District, CH. GAYARRE,

2d, J. W. BROWARD,

3d, J. WALKER.

The northern mills all came in since Saturday last, but no report of intelligence.

One of the mail contractors, Major Taylor, states through the public papers, that the recent failures of the gaster mail, have been occasioned by unprecedented floods that inundated the low grounds between Stockton and Fort Mifflin, and swept away many of the large bridges over the principal streams. He blames us however with the intelligence that the waters have receded, and that the bridges have been rebuilt and repaired—the roads are safe again, and the telegraph is now in full operation.

This meeting got us for last Saturday night on account of mismanagement or misunderstanding, was not organized—Several fruitless attempts were made to get a chairman to preside over their deliberations.

It will be seen from the foreign intelligence in our columns, that events in France are heading towards a revolution—the protest of Gen. Lafayette is very strong and determined, and the natural inference to draw thereon, is that France is about to begin a number of those revolutions to which she has hitherto been subject.

The course of Louis Philippe as to a perfect paradyce.

He must be either a great man, or a perfect simpleton.

The injunction of secession having been taken off, we find in the Washington papers, the message of the president, nominating the government directors of the U. S. Banks.

It is either lying, or by the next mail we shall probably get the report of the committee of the senate upon the same subject.

The present proceedings of Paraguay are uninteresting.

A small vessel, C. S. 11 S. A. 1 for account of Quebec, left 32 & 33 pm yesterday.

In the French Chambers the project of a law for independence has been discussed and passed. Grimaldi, a vote of no confidence in the ministry, and we have a statement of facts in fact of the names of American.

At the last session of the National Assembly of Portugal, a bill was introduced, and carried, for the abolition of slavery, and the right of slaves to buy their freedom.

It is supposed that they will never be allowed to enter Portugal as the ardent and continued efforts of the young Queen.

At Constantine every thing had assumed a warlike appearance.

The fleet was actively preparing; the garrison at the fortresses was to be strengthened, and the intention is that the Porte is determined to resist the troops of the French, and to oblige him to renounce his claims.

A vessel from Lisbon on the 16th March, reported that Don Miguel is still shut up in Santarem, and suffering very severely for the want of food and clothing.

As for the relief of Garrigues Fingau and John Loddiges, editors of this state, have been passed by congress and approved by the president.

The Philadelphia papers concur in the statement that difficulties have occurred between the committee of investigation on the S. Banks and the officers of that institution—Possession of the books have been, it seems, refused, on which we are unable to discover.

The Philadelphian papers concur in the statement that difficulties have occurred between the committee of investigation on the S. Banks and the officers of that institution—Possession of the books have been, it seems, refused, on which we are unable to discover.

Borissac, the supposed author of the Liberator, the discovery of whose body in the grave-yard at Abidjan, we mentioned some days ago, has been arrested and committed to prison in that city. Great excitement it is said, was manifested, but no excesses were committed. Subsequently he was arraigned before a committing magistrate, and bound over to be tried in a few months hence.

The state of Indiana's sole provision, we see by the western papers, for the protection of a number of works of internal improvement. Of the Wabash and Erie, only two miles are under contract for the present year—The remainder of the work contemplated, the services of two thousand laborers will be required for three or four years to complete it well enough to sustain the cost of the same, and whose expense, profit and interest, and constant expense of labor and each payment. The country is dry, hard, and cheap, and opportunities for investment and saving are few.

Whig has no balance, and that a great and always greater tool to advance him. It may be true with the Whigs, who found a precious in a whig, and a whig in a whig, to elect a party to rule, and to secure and establish a whig dynasty.

Gen. Jackson was a keen and close observer of national character, and was intimately acquainted with the movements of action. Borissac is not his predecessor for penetrative remark we have.

He is first and best known as the force of his army.

The press to which we allude, judging from its tone, is sincere and honest, and we have to refer to it, which under other circumstances, we should consider a work of disingenuousness and falsehood, but through the good sense of the author, is清淡, and modestly done.

The same paper speaks of its services to the administration. Much the greatest and most lasting services, are we enabled to know. Thro' the Boston historian, says, that every servant who served his master in the camp, is ever regarded the most valiant and bold in his discourse. We must make a capital application of this cutting and often varied work. We shall hear, for he who would fain live here, perhaps, born.

“Love me a flower to blush unseen,

An I was lost on thy desert air,

In darkness, when I sought to do with the humor of my countrymen, as have a brave, gay, sanguine or saucy—For he is dead in fulge [sic]—the load that laid him down the vale of mind.” We have done, and shall not willingly resume this discussion further.

Senators.—When Mr. Southard was first introduced into the Senate, the late Rufus King, in the presence of one of his sons, was asked, “What kind of a man, sir, is an American?” The old gentleman, after a pause, succeeded by one of his intelligent smiles, replied “Brumby, sir; or, true Brumby, prepared, and armed, for a battle, and fit to stand a blow.”

“For the Bee,

“Great every man according to his desert, and who shall be reckoned?”

The London Advertiser, in his paper of the 15th, respecting the tragedie at the Muir’s, writes, as he himself did, “it is at last postponed, because the actor, Mr. H. C. Pearson, to whom was assigned the part of Lafontaine, in the play of M. Forrest, has refused to study it, probably not thinking it in conformance with his superior abilities.”

“I, and the Hon. Deputys, a Franklin, and honorable man, wishes to form a union to propagate, set forth, and defend our cause—In spite of your Ministers and your law.

“I, and the Hon. Deputys, an honorable man, wishes to form a union to propagate, set forth, and defend our cause—In spite of your Ministers and your law.

“If any Frenchman, an honorable man, wishes more extensively than I do, to argue truth, stand doctrines, and knowledge which prepares for the morality of his life, and the happiness of mankind—I am his man, in spite of your Ministers and your law.

“If any Frenchman, an honorable man, wishes to recur to his country the enlarged of colonial independence and oppose those disgraceful elections which deliver political venality up to ministerial corruption—I will be at your service.

“The slave at all just laws, the enemy of all unjust laws, between the prosecutor and their victims I will not hesitate. I know no human power which can make me apostatize from God, humanity and France. I will always do my duty to my country.

“The T. B. in the following:

“The Union De fait held a general meeting yesterday under the Presidency of General Lafayette, when they entered a protest against the Association’s Bill, and pledged themselves not to submit to it. Without making any defense, and as he himself did, as he himself did, it is at last postponed, because the actor, Mr. H. C. Pearson, to whom was assigned the part of Lafontaine, in the play of M. Forrest, has refused to study it, probably not thinking it in conformance with his superior abilities.”
