"THE UNION—IT MUST BE PRESERVED."

SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 24, 1834.

FOR GOVERNOR:

J. B. DAWSON.

☞ Things to be remembered at the Polls. ☜

Remember, that Edward D. White voted in favor of a law, calculated to bring distress and ruin upon the great flourishing interest of our State.

Remember, that we sent him to Congress to advocate our rights, and to represent our wants.

Remember, that he sold the one and mocked at other.

REMEMBER, that John B. Dawson was raised among us—that we have grown up together, from a dependent province to an independent State—that he never deceived the confidence of his fellow-citizens—in short, that he has ever been respected as a gentleman, loved as a man, and honored as a judge.

SECOND SENATORIAL DISTRICT:

B. MARIGNY.

For Congress:—1st District, CH. GAYARRE,
" 2d " JAMES BRADFORD,
" 3d " J. WALKER.

The mail brought us New York papers via Charleston to the 15th and regular dates from the other cities. We received no Washington papers, but find the proceedings of Congress on the 9th in the Baltimore papers. They were usually of an uninteresting character.

The enquiries of the committee of investigation in Philadelphia proceeded rather slowly. great obstacles being thrown in the way by the bank. The correspondance of Mr. Rush, resigning his Secretaryship, had been published and dispatches to the wind; the idle surmises that had been circulated as to his motives.

The heavy commercial operations carried on by our enterprising citizens with Mexico, render any change in her revenue laws of high importance. It has been proposed to abolish the existing regulations and to substitute new ones of an entire different character in their place. This proposition has been presented to the general Congress for adoption, and as there is every reason to believe that it will pass that body, as it has the government influence to carry it, we have thought it would be doing our mercantile friends a service to lay it before them. The translation is as close as the idioms of the two languages per mit:

GENERAL MEXICAN CONGRESS.

Office of the Secretaryship of the Chamber of Deputies.

PROPOSITIONS to regulate the Commerce of Mexico.

Meeting of the first Public Session, on the 14th of March.]

Article 1. In all the custom-houses the free States shall nominate a comptroller at its expense; and any other State, if so disposed, may do the same, or establish custom-houses on the frontiers.

Art. 2. The comptroller may himself, or through his agents assist in registering, and all the other operations devolving on the deputy and commandant of the custom-house of the place, with regard to trading vessels which arrive at the ports of the Republic with merchandise; and if they discover any frauds committed, or attempted to be committed, they shall forthwith communicate the same to the judge of the district, that he may proceed to the investigation of the same.

Art. 3. The comptroller shall in addition to the duties recited in the foregoing article, attend to the equitable liquidation of the duties on imports, and shall see whether the regulations that are at present established to prevent smuggling, are complied with, and shall proceed against all frauds and infractions committed thereon, that he may discover.

Art. 4. No commandant general, or private [particular] of any port, nor other person employed, shall usurp the functions of a comptroller; and whoever does so, shall, without the power of pleading in his favor exemptions or privileges, be suspended from office for three months, without prejudice to any other penalty other laws may inflict.

Art. 5. In the case specified in the foregoing article, the comptroller shall give notice of the fact to the Governor of the State, who shall issue an order [expediente gubernativo] suspending the commandant general, the military chief, [gefe militar] or other officer, who shall have usurped his functions; and he shall without delay, transmit to the general government the necessary documents establishing the same, that it may take the proper steps. The general government shall authorize the judge of the district to proceed against the officer without taking any part in his suspension, or the nomination of a successor, which duties are exclusively vested in the Governor.

Art. 6. The vessels of all nations not at war with the United Mexican States, shall have free ingress to all their ports, upon condition of submitting to impost duties, observing the articles of this treaty, with all the rules prescribed, or which may hereafter be prescribed, by the Revenue Law.

Art. 7. A duty of seventeen reals,—about two dollars and twelve cents,—shall be imposed upon all foreign vessels visiting the Mexican ports for any object whatever—two of which shall be retained for the State to which the port may belong. [Note.—This duty is to be rateable according to the burthen of the vessel.]

Art. 8. The vessel which may have paid the exaction imposed in the foregoing article in one port, shall be exempt from paying it in another, provided she export from the same, the produce, merchandise, etc. etc. etc. of the country.

Art. 9. Foreign vessels shall not engage in the cross-wise trade, nor shall they be allowed to land their goods at any other port then that named in their manifest, under penalty of confiscation.

Art. 10. Every vessel that shall cast anchor in any of the ports of the Republic without the intention of disembarking or embarking goods, solely with a view to repair damages, or to lay in provisions for the sustenance of her crew, shall be received during the time necessary for the purpose, without prejudice to her manifest or to the right of the officers of customs to send a guard on board to inspect her situation. If she be freighted with goods or merchandise, she will be treated in like manner as vessels of the Republic are treated in the ports of the nation to which she belongs, and is obliged to pay the usual tonnage duty.

Art. 11. The produce, merchandize, etc. of foreign countries, shall be subject to such per centum of duty as the Congress may annually impose, according to the value thereof in the ports of the Republic.

Art. 12. To regulate the value of foreign produce, merchandise, etc. rates shall be yearly established, agreeable to advice had from the Secretary of Finances, and merchants who may be able to suggest from practical experience the necessary alterations. These rates shall be submitted to a committee composed of six officers of Finance, to be appointed by the said Secretary. This committee shall fix the value of the said goods or merchandise conformable to the opinions of an absolute majority thereof, and in case no such majority be found, then the minimum of the votes shall be taken arithmetically, casting aside the overplus; and if there should be still a division, the Secretary of Finance shall have the preponderating vote.

Art. 13. The valuation of foreign goods or merchandize shall, as soon as established, be published by the Government, and on the 1st of March the list shall be transmitted to the House of Deputies, in order that Congress may ordain the duties corresponding thereto.

Art. 14. For this time, the list spoken of in the foregoing article shall be transmitted to the House of Deputies during the month in which these regulations shall be promulgated.

Art. 15. The foreign goods or merchandise that shall not be specified in the tariff of rates, shall pay a duty in proportion to that imposed by the General Congress, with a view thereto an estimation shall be made of their value by three experts, one of whom shall be named by the interested party, one by the Collector of the Customs, [administrador] and the other by the Comptroller or Comptrollers of the State, the majority of whose opinions shall be conclusive. In case of disagreement between them, recourse shall be had to the provisions of article 12.

Art. 16. Damaged goods, waste or merchandise, shall not be subject, on making the fact appear to the satisfaction of the Collector, to a higher rate of duties than their value in the market justifies, provided that the consent of the comptroller be first obtained.

Art. 17. The weights and measures that shall be used to ascertain the quantity, dimensions or bulk of goods, wares or merchandise according to their kind and quality, shall be those established in the Mexican States. The enumeration of value, having, in a gale, thrown over eight guns, and lost four boats.

The Bunker Hill Aurora states that the coopperers employed in the Navy Yard struck for higher wages, and left their work. They were to have been employed in coppering the Constitution.

The celebrated American novelist, Miss Virginia Monier, arrived at New-York on the 8th inst. in the brig Belle, from Barbadoes.

The Bunker Hill Monument Association have resolved to raise the Monument to the height of one hundred and fifty-nine feet six inches, and that it be considered as completed when raised to that elevation.

AMERICAN CLAIMS ON FRANCE.

We understand that the ship United States brings despatches for our Government from Mr. Livingston, American Minister to France, which are presumed to relate to the rejection by the Chamber of Deputies, of the bill providing for the adjustment of our claims for spoliations. On this subject we have much pleasure in laying before our readers the following letter from an intelligent American residing in Liverpool.

LIVERPOOL, 7th April, 1834.

The rejection is to be ascribed partly to bad faith on the part of the King, who is the soul of the Ministry, and can pass through the Chambers whatever measures he insists upon—partly to some squabbles between the Ministers themselves—and partly to the desire of the Members to gain favor with their constituents by an economical vote. There is another reason, however, the strongest of all perhaps, and yet no doubt the most difficult to persuade an American of. The United States have so little to do with the ordinary march of European affairs; they enter so little into the calculations of politicians of this side of the water—that we are not thought of at all, or only remembered to be underrated. We are so far off, so commercial, so pacific, so lucre-loving, that it is taken for granted we will submit to any indignity and any denial of our rights without murmuring, or at least without having recourse to those measures of redress which though they injure, and that greatly, those who have wronged us, will also diminish our own commerce for the moment. I hope Congress, by adopting some measures that will strike heavily the French manufactures, [the silks and wines] and consequently their large manufacturing towns, as Lyons, and their wine-growing districts, will convince the French statesmen of their error, and show them that we can make ourselves felt across the water. I hope you, as a merchant, will use your influence with your brother merchants to induce them to consent to a present sacrifice. They may rest assured that if the U. States consent to this wrong and insult, they will have many others in the future to endure, and that the honor and safety of our commercial name will be violently shaken on this side of the water.

FRANCE AND THE UNITED STATES.

From the New York Advocate.

We are favored with the following extract from a letter from an American gentleman in Paris, dated April 4 received by way of Liverpool.

"The late decision in the Chamber of Deputies on American claim, has created great excitement among the French as well as Americans. It was confidently expected by almost every one, and even many members of the Chamber, who voted against it, supposed there was no doubt of a majority, and now regret the act.

The King and Ministers have done all they could, and deserve great credit for their exertions which were above board and honorable. Louis Philippe will triumph, and you may look with a assured confidence for the payment next year.

Mr Rives should not have left France before causing the subject to be brought forward in the Chamber; and our Government should not still then have drawn for the instalment, which was neither mercantile or correct. To say the least of it, it was premature.

From the Journal of Commerce.

Joseph Buonaparte has addressed a letter of thanks to the subscribers of the petitions to the chamber of Deputies, (rejected by that body) calling for the repeal of the law of banishment, enacted in 1815, against the family of Napoleon.

He pronounces the assertion of Marshal Soult, that the brothers of Napoleon "had not refrained in foreign countries from the intrigues of factions," a calumnious charge; and defies the police of Paris to produce a single proof in its support.

He feelingly expresses the hope that "the France of July," which erected the statue of Napoleon, will not long continue the unjust proscription of his family—who's only crime is the name which he bequeathed them.

The following passage, places the patriotism of Napoleon in a new and unexpected light:

"Had Napoleon been alive at this day, he would have concurred with us—he would have recognized the sovereignty of the French people, who alone have the right to give that government which seems most to their interest, or according to their pleasure, may even according to its caprice.

"The Dictatorship, too long maintained by Napoleon, has made him an object of contempt with some persons,—This Dictatorship was prolonged by the perverseness of the enemies of the French revolution, who affected to deplore in his person the principles of national sovereignty, of which he was but the emanation. But at the general peace, universal suffrage, liberty of the press, and all the guarantees of enduring prosperity of a great nation, which he contemplated must have wholly unveiled him to the Nation, and must have enabled all his contemporaries to form the same judgment of human posterity will entertain of his whole thoughts were known to me, and my duty is to proclaim them loudly. He sacrificed himself on two occasions to avoid a civil war in France. Those who inherit his name would renounce forever the felicity of again breathing the air of that country, could they believe that their presence would be a source of the slightest disturbance to her peace. Never will they relinquish their appeal to the nation.

"Likewise are the principles, the opinions and feelings of the whole of the members of the family of Napoleon, of which I am the organ—all for the people and by the people."

We were yesterday shown a Counterfeit One Hundred Dollar Bill of the United States Bank, being the fifth one which has been presented at the Office in this city within a short period. The engraving and signatures are very well executed, but the paper is of a reddish cast, and of inferior quality. The general appearance of the bill is well calculated to deceive any one who is not a judge of counterfeits.—Merchants should be on their guard.—Charleston Cour.

The Fredericksburg Arena announces John Tahaferro, Esq. as a candidate for Congress from one of the Virginia Districts. He formerly represented the same District from the year 1801 to the year 1830, inclusive, and is said never to have given a vote which did not receive the approbation of a majority of his constituents.—Ibid.

IMPUDENT THEFT.

About three o'clock yesterday, a servant man of Judge Watts, No 3 Broadway, saw a boy coming out of his master's house with some things rolled up in a cloth. The man immediately stopped him and examined the bundle, which he found contained a silver fish trowel, silver forks, spoons and other articles belonging to the Judge.

The boy was immediately brought to the police, where he said his name was George Rocket, and that he was 17 years of age. On searching him, 14 false keys, of different sizes suitable for opening doors, and several small keys for opening desks, drawers, &c. were found in his pockets. There was also found a pair of gentlemen's dress shoes. While in the Police office, he behaved himself with the most extraordinary coolness and audacity, and exhibited a reckle-sness that one could only expect from an old and hardened offender.

DIED—Yesterday evening, after a short illness, Mr. HUGH REINAGLE, (artist of the American Theatre) aged about 46 years. His friends and acquaintances are particularly invited to attend his funeral this morning at 9 o'clock, from his late residence corner of Poydras and Camp streets.

COMMERCIAL.

HAVRE, March 30.

Some arrivals have occasioned affairs to revive; there has been more doing in Sugars than last week; but Cottons have been particularly sought after, and important transactions have taken place.

Since the 23d instant, 2 whales ships, 3 from Hayti, 1 from Valparaiso, 1 from Buenos Ayres, 1 from New York, 3 from Charleston, 1 from Mobile, and 2 from Guadaloupe have arrived. There have sailed, 1 vessel for China, 1 for Rio, 1 for New York, 3 for our Colonies, 1 for Hamburgh, and 2 for Lisbon

COTTON—4,021 bales arrived, and 8,677 bales sold.—The news from New York of 1st March, received the 25th, which continued to announce but few shipments for France, and the continuation of the crisis, has been the cause of the activity which we have to signalize.—Good news from Rouen and several other manufacturing towns.

HAVRE, April 1.

Cottons continue to maintain the late advance. The sales of Uplands have been at from 120 to 135: Virginia 116 to 119; Louisiana 122½ to 150. During the last week about 9000 bales have changed hands. The stock is 12,200 bales—6000 of which are in second hands.

April 4.

Owing to the Easter holidays, business has been dull, and we have no sale of importance this week to report.

Coffee has declined. A few lots Hayti sold at 141, a cline of half sous on last sales.

New York, May 10.

COTTON.—Import from the 3d to the 10th inst. 5286 bags. The sales since our report of the 3d inst. amount to about 2000 bales—say, 1600 uplands at 11 a 14 cents, and 400 Floridas at 12 a 14 1-4 cents. Prices have continued steady. Our market for the last two days has been rather dull, and holders evince a disposition to realize.

MOLASSES.—The import has been about 1500 hhds, which has rather checked the market. The sales, however, have been about 1 00 hhds, viz:—400 New Orleans at 30 1-2 cents; 520 Porto Rico at 28 a 31; 100 St Croix at 32; 300 Cuba at 25 a 25 1-2 for sweet.

SUGAR.—New Orleans is the only description that is out in brisk demand; St Croix, Porto Rico's and Cuba's are all in request and go off at good prices. The transactions of the week are 400 hhds—Porto Rico at 7 1-2 a 8 1-4; 200 St Croix at 7 1-4 a 9; and about 400 boxes Cuba at 7 1-4 a 7 3-4

FREIGHTS.—The rates of freight to Liverpool are nominally 3-8d. per lb for cotton in bales, and 1-2d. per lb. in bags; turpentine 2d. per bbl; to London per cotton 1-4d. per lb; naval stores, 3 a 3 6 per bbl; to Havre 1-2 a 1c. per lb. for cotton; $6 a 8 per ton for ashes, and $10 per ton for Rice.
