NASHVILLE RAIL ROAD COMPANY. The following, letter, which has been politely commu

SEXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, Juckson, Jun. 10, 1835.

Sire.

Your communication, in behalf of the New Orleans and Nashville Rain Road Association, under cover of the address and Nashville Rain Road Association, under cover of the address and fil. I Raintey, Esq., is now before me.—In consequence of the difficult communication from the Mississippi River.

Mr. Raintey did not reach this place, but requested me, by letter, to open any thing to his address at Jackson. In compliance with that request, I find a communication for myself, and one for the Executive of Tennessee—the latter of which I forwarded to the proper address.

I know of no authority that I have, as Gowernor of this State, to give the consent of the State for taking surveys of railways, or other objects of improvements, without the action of the Legislature first being had. Nevertheless, I feel authorised as an individual, to say that no objection will be made. Our Legislature will convene on the 19th ixst., when I will lay your communication before that body—it being the competent authority to act on such subjects. The projection of a rail road from New Orleans to Nashvike, ease.

I will say your communication before that body—it being the competent authority to act on such subjects. The propertion of a rail road from New Orleans to Nashwite, earning through the interior of Mississippi, cannot, by any seeming through the Mississippi cannot be a factor of Mis from this mere circumstance alone, that this country is pluced in a condition much more competent to compete with any European power, or all the Holy Alliances that ever existed, now, than when dependent upon the mere promises to pay of an overgrown bank monopoly, whose directors might find it to their interest to side with the enemy.

A WARNING TO DRUNKARDZ.—Yesterday moraing, a man by the name of George Newman, abent 30 years of age, was found on a limektin at the foot of Lombard street, Schuytkill, interally robated to death. The evening previous, but ge intoxicated, it is supposed that he fell in the kiln and was suffocated by the fumes.—[Phil. Sentinel.]

Ladies' Stays and Tioht Shoss.—A maneciote, from Lady Wortley Montague's Travels in the East, relative to the horror expressed by the Turkish ladies on seeing an English wom in tightly laced up with stays, brings to recollection the publication of an edict by the Emperor of Germany, in 1756, absolately prohibiting, under severe penalises, the wearing of stays, as of dangerous and sometimes fatal consequences, impairing the health and impeding the growth of the sex. The celebrated Dr. John Hunter strongly investible against ladies wearing tight shoes. 'Only observe,' says the enument surgeon in one of his lectures, 'if the statue of Medicean Venus were to be dereased in a pair of stays, and her beautiful fect compressed into a pair of easy, and her beautiful fect compressed into a pair of easy. statue of Medicean Venus were to be dressed in a pair of stays, and her beautiful feet compressed into a pair of executivity tight shoes, it would extort a smile from a Herachius, and whorse laugh from a cynic.' Not long since a gentlemit at a insetting of a learned society told an anusing story of a statue of a nymph of exquisite leastly which was exhibited as an antique discovered in the ruins of Greece, but which eventually proved to have issued from the workshop of a modern sculpter, from the ejecutivities of the annear. of a modern sculptor, from the circumstance of the appearance of the contraction of the toes, which could only have been caused by tight shoes, and a slight distortion of the waist, evidently from wearing stays. It was afterwards found to have been sculptured from a celebrated actiess, remarkable for her perfect form; but the stays and tight shoes spoiled her for a Grecian nymph of the antique.

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Ro presentatives of the State of Louisiana in go neral assembly convened.

In presenting you an annual statement of the Mairs of the Consolidated Association, as required by its Charter, the painfull task devolves upon me to inform you, that in consequence of the malver-sation in office of the late cashier and of two of the clerks of this institution, it will sustain a loss which will perhaps amount to about forty thousand dollars. As soon as this fact was made known to the board, they property made changes in its administration which have proved advantageous and promise for the future, a most important and ad rantageous result. The confidence inspired by the known probity, the zeal and talents of the president now in office, has already given a great impulse to its affairs; the individual deposits as well presented the favourite Comedy of the as the amount of the notes in circulation have con-some amendments to that instrument.

I believe that it would be for the interest of the bank, as well as that of the State and of the community, that the payment of a portion of the bond of the State should be protracted until the year 1848, and that the board should be authorized to make partial payments of the remainder of the bonds, at such periods prior to said year as they may judge expedient. The motive for recomme ding this postponement is not because any approhensions are entertained that these bonds canno be paid at the time when they are atpresent payable; but because it is believed that by defering this payment with the consent of the lenders, larger profits would be realized, and because by witndrawing this capital gradually from circulanon, this withdrawal will be less sensibly felt by country.

Although in the opinion of some, the Board are rate the Methedist Episcopol Church in the town at present autherised to take mortgages on preper-of Alexandria parish of Rapides which was read ty in the city to secure shares, it is desirable that
