THE UNION-IT MUSTER PRESERVED." THURSDAY MORNING, DEC. 18, 1884.

The proceedings of the general committee of the mecratic party on Tuesday evening last are unavoidably postponed to our next number.

It will be seen by an advertisement in our columns that a meeting of the creditors of the New-Orleans Building Outspany will be held this evening at 6 o'clock precisely. The stockholders are also required to attend. .

It will be seen from the proceedings which we have copied from the Clinton Democrat, that our democratic brethren in and William Duits. Esq. was appointed secretary. that section of the country have taken the field in defence of true principles. We applaud the feelings which have elicited this expression of their sentiments, and trust that it may find universal imitation in every part of the State. It is time that Luminiana should re-socupy the favorable position she he'd in the memorable coursets of 1828 and 1832. Fedeand alism identified as it is with modern whigien should not be germitted to fourish smong ne.

We have perused with unmingled pleasure the president's mersage. It is a document which may well elicit the warmciliatory bearing in treating of our unhappy relations with France, as well as its determined and energetic tone, must command it to every man in whose bosom patriotism is not extinguished by the shackles of party prejudice. The country should be proud to acknowledge its dectrines, they from a state of vassalage to a position of envied prosperity and greatness which has been the lot of no nation, ancient er modern, to attain. It depicts in colors which must cause the heart of every good man to bound with joy, the happiaces of military of freemen, who, under one of the must like eral governments that the intelligence of man ever son esived, administered by a chief magistrate whose popularity is as extended as his views are just and liberal, are pursuing the great ends of national and individual aggrandizement and greatness. Never was the country in a more prosper ous condition -the farmer and the mechanic, the two mos sessential classes in society, find aready and rich reward fol their industry, cities prosper and fourish, while the unten anted wilderness is converted into shodes of elegance, case and lexury. This picture is not overcharged. We have just passed through one of the basest schemes of selfish politicians, to destroy the resources of a nation, perhaps on record. A panic got up for partizan purposes to prostrate the industry of our citizens, has most unexpectedly for its projectors, proved entirely abortive. We have stood the shock and have came forth unscathed. Public confidence which was for a time partially disturbed, has been entirely restored. and business is returning to its proper channel with renewed

Free from debt, and with no complicated public quest which are likely again to agitate the nation, our relations with foreign powers, with a solitary exception, present the most favorable appearance. We cannot better exemplify this than by transcribing the president's expose on this

"Our foreign relations continue, with but few exception to maintain the favorable aspect which they bere in my last think message, and promise to extend those advantages which the principles that regulate our intercourse with ther nations are so well calculated to secure."
"The question of the north eastern boundary is still pend

ag with Casat Britain, and the proposition made in accor-dance with the resolution of the Senate for the establish-ment of a line according to the treaty of 1733, has not been recepted by that government. Believing that every dispo-tion is feit on both sides to adjust this perplexing question is the satisfaction of all the parties interested in it, the hope syst indulged that it may be effected on the basis of that

With France we regret that our relations are not as friend ly as we would desire. The neglect of that government to pay the indemnity in accordance with our trenty, has made e cuercive measures upon our part of absolute necessity. Sail we have no reason to ant sipate that those difficulfi wil be of more than a temporary nature. The spirit of wisdom and foresight which has hitherto been so distinsuishing a characteristic of the present administration, is a sufficient guarantee that nothing harsher than the circumstances of the present case require, will be restorted to. The mude of relief pointed out by the president is calculated to moduce a favorable termination to the contest. The exer craw of this right is not of doubtful or navel origin. It is one of clear and positive application, and has been incorporated who laws of nations. Prages herself has sanctioned it, and therefore can effer no objection on the score of its le-

The following are the president's enggestions:

"It is a well-settled principle of the inter-national code, "that where one nation owes another a liquidated debt, "which it refesses or neglects to pay, the aggrieved party may series on the property belonging to the other, its citizens or subjects, sufficient to pay the debt, without giving the cause of war. This method has been repeatedly re-fearted do, and recently by France herself, towards Portugal, under circumstances less unquestionable." Doubtless, however, before our government feel compelled by a sense of what is due to the honor of the nation to resort to the foregoing measure, France, in that spirit of justice for which she is so conspicuous, will settle our claim and restore that harmony which is so ardently desired by the citizens of this country. It would be a painful circum stance were the American people called upon to meet their old and feithful ally as an enemy. This position the presi dent has very properly left to that nation to assume. It is for her then to decide, and an much as we should regret that this decision should be hostile, still we connot but be grati fied that in pursuing our remedy, we have nothing with

The Jarce of the "Poor Soldier" follo The larce of the "Poor Soldier" followed the above—the characters are all well sustained—Keene sang with his usual tasts, but not the usual applause—id; uses not a musical audience. Mr. Williamson sings with much taste and j.dgment, nor do I believe his talents as a vocalist are fully appreciated; in simple ballads he is excellent, a style of singing entirely expunged from the stage for what reason Heaven knows.

The 'Brigand" closed the evening's performance. There The 'estrigand' closed the evening's performance. There is a complete witchery about Mrs. Pritchard in this piece. I have sudeavored to analyze it, but first I must analyze my feelings, a thing impossible. Her manner—voice—action—grace—all combine to throw around it a charm which defies criteism—it is beyond it. She was ably austained by Mrs. Rowe as Mane Grazie. It is true the character gives but little acope to the actress, but in the formation of pictures, with which the piece abounds, this lady added an additional color and beauty.

On Saturday evening we were entertained at the American Theatre with Rob Roy, and the Brigand. We have not wifnessed so great a combination of talent this secasoo. Mrs. Prichard gave great satisfaction as Itelen McGregor; this description of bold, masculine character, appears to be her forte. Poarson's delineation of the cool, undaunted, darage, outlawed chieffain, standauned, the dilemma in which he finds biuself in the cool, undaunted, darage, outlawed chieffain, standauned alled; the dilemma in which he finds biuself in the part. Russell andertook too much, in attempting Baltic Javie, we strongly doubt if his dislect would be recognized on the northern side of the Tweed; we should prefer seeing Thorse in this character. The Dougai creature of Bristow was any thing but the daft highlander of Sir Walter; he was entirely out of his element; his language was not more appropriate than that of Itussell.—The lattle scene because a burleeges from the miserable deficiency of warriors on, both sides. DEMOCRATIC MEETING-

In conformity to a previous call, a meeting of the friends of the administration was held at the Clinton Hotel on Saturday the 6th inst. On motion of W. Waddill, fing, the meeting was called to order. Dr. Mark Bostner was unanimously placed in the chair,

The object of the meeting having been explained, on a mion, the meeting was aljourned over until Monday the 8th, on account of the inclemency of the weather, and to allow a greater number of the democratic citiens to parneipate.
On Monday the 6th, at 3 oclock P. M., a highly respecial le number of de nocratic citizens having conened, the meeting was called to order, and the Hon T. W. Sent placed in the chair. The object of the

An "Available Candidate"—WANTED I

"A Southern" in the U. S. Telegraph declares, that the South must rue a candidate for the Presidency—that Mr. Leigh is such a man (as would answer) in all things ease one—and that i, "he is not enough known"—and that "his friends have done him wrong in etting up as a mark for the shaft of calumny unprotected by that paneply of established reputation which would cover him were he as well known to the world as he is to them. But the Southerner conclude with the declaration, that there standeth one among us who is known; one who towers by the head and shoulders above the other children of this our Inrasi—and that men is LITTLETON WALLER TAZEWELL."

But Mr. Walsh declares, in the fellowing paragraph, that Mr. Tazewell will not do!

"A correspondent—Madison," presents to the country Generot LW Tuzesell, of Virguins, as a suitable candidate for the office of President. He ascribes to him every ment and qualification.
