Public Meeting.

New Orleans Jan 1.

At a numerous and highly respectable meeting culled at the Arcade this first day of Jan 1836, to take into consideration the best mode which may be devised to relieve and succor the sufferent at the little calamitous and dreadful catastrophe occasioned by the unparalleled confugration in our sister city of New York, Thou relieve and succor the sufferers at the fate caleminous and dreadful estastrophe occasioned by the unpraulicated conflugration in our sister city of New York, Thor-Urquhert Esq. was called to the chair and John Nicholson appointed secretary. The chairman having explained the object of the meeting, on motion it was nanimously resolved, that a committee of ten by appointed by the chair. The president nominated the iollowing synthemen—J B Byrne, Jas Fosterjun, Geriollowing synthemen J B Plancke, Thomas Barrett, A Hodge jun, Issac Ogden, W A Gasquet, John A Morle and Severly Chew, Begre.

On motion the president was added to the committee. The committee having retired, the fallowing resolutions were agreed upon and reported by the committee—whereupon the same were unanimously adopted.

tions were agreed upon and reported by the committee—whereupon the same were unanimously adopted:

Resolved—That this meeting truly and deeply sympathics with the suffering citizens of New York; and in common with every true friend of humanity, sincerely deplore the sad misfortune which has befallen them, from the calamitous and desolving fire which, on the night of the 16th December, and following dry, said waste and in ruins the fairer if not the richer potion of that beautiful city; and which at the ame time has blighted the food hopes, sad blasted the future grospects of many a family who but a moment before were living happy—in the enjoyment of ease and of constort if not of wealth and of luxury.

Resolved—That this meeting, hough not fully aware of the whole extent of this dire catastrophe, yet, from the most exact information afteredy afforded them perceives at once that its fearful extent is far beyond their limited means, of affording that relief which to be efficient must be prompt. They can therefore at this moment devise but one way, though in the unlooked for event of its failure, (soom any cause) they pledge themselves that every way within their power to alloviate as far as practicable, the mass of intense suffering from the sid calamity.

Resolved—That this meeting most respectfully and carnestly recommend and entreat the president of the U State and both houses of Congress, to take into immediate consideration they propriety and expedience of appropriating for the brompt relief of the sufferers, as a loss free of all intenses or charge, for such time as in their wisdom they nearly form the propriety and expedience of appropriating for the brompt relief of the sufferers, as a loss free of all intenses or charge, for such time as in their wisdom they nearly form the themselves to the United States to be returned at a future day or at different epoths, relying fully on the wisdom, the justice and, the thereing of the sufferent epoths, relying fully on the wisdom, the justice and, the thereing of t

Resolved—That this meeting consider this truly de-plorable event a national inistortune; and as of conseq-quence a subject of general concernment: insamuch as they consider the prosperity of New York as iden-tified with every city and hamlet of these United Suffee, as well, as of these of Europe; but of none more par-ticularly than that of New Orleans, the citizens of which have hitherto been proud of the rise and pro-grees of their sister city, and who are now jealous of rivalling all others, in affording suite to its citizens when overtaken by misfortume.
