We can refrain no longer from giving due credit to the energetic and successful exertions of Alderman Gaiennie, for the general welfure of New Orleans.— His former leves ordinance was of the most necessary and beneficial kind; and his ordinance establishing a new police guard will entitle him to the approbation of his fellow-citizens—and not only to their approbation; but (we trust) to their suffrages, should be present hispselt as a candidate for next mayor. The public have had too much of Mr Prieur.

We have been censured as having severely animadverted on the report of Thomas H Lewis. The spirit which pervaded New Orleans, on the 33d of December, 1814, was awakened in this community on Saturdays, the 23d of January, 1836. About 10 o'clock coloned I wiggs expressed the wish of the government that the citizens of New Orleans should raise weismiteers to sid beg brave and snifering officers and soldiers, to meet, emperse and conquer the mostly hordes of 3k minoles has negroes, that are now spreading havoe, fire and susseers smong our countrymen in Florida. A public meeting was instantly called, the official proceedings of which are this day published.

The chairman, governor White, explained the objects of the meeting in this popular and thrilling style, which are peculiar to humself. The meeting was size selected Sparks.

Traciscon Leadry esq has been elected to the senate of this state instead of colonel Nicholas.

The russer robting to the capture of Fort King in Florids, has not yet been confirmed by authentic advices: still it had sufficient forea to operate on our citizens. Siting of Saturday January, 23, 1836,

On motion of Mr Allard, Mr Boienvenee, a membe of us legulature, was invited within the bar.

A letter from the mayor, dated 29th, was received and read.

On the first part, vetoing the prolongation of Robin atreet to Tchoupioulas street and the opening of Rofinac street larity between the sand system of note charge, when experience and habit unite to demonstrate the efficiety of our p esent organization. Let most the control of the improved, but not altered.

By the 6th article, it is ordered that the mayor shall receive the oath of all the city guard, before they enter in the exercise of their duties. I do not object to falfilling any duty legally devolving on me—but in the present instance, I cannot accept the obligation above monitosed unless I enjoy the right conterred at the amentioned unless I enjoy the right conterred at the amentioned unless I enjoy the right conterred at the amentioned unless I enjoy the right conterred at the amentioned unless I enjoy the right conterved at the amentioned unless I enjoy the right conterved at the amentioned unless I enjoy the right conterved at the amentioned unless I enjoy the right conterved at the amentioned unless I enjoy the right conterved at the amentioned unless I enjoy the right conterved at the amentioned unless I enjoy the right conterved at the amentioned unless I enjoy the right conterved at the amentioned unless I enjoy the right conterved at the former of whom was rejected, Mersers. Caldwell and Allard, the former of whom was rejected. Mersers. Caldwell and Allard, the former of whom was rejected, and the latter of the cannot be expected to the effect. On motion, the Council adjourned till Saturday next of the rounding the motion, the Council adjourned till Saturday next of the research of the research to a committee of its citterns.

This seems to me very difficult to accomplish. If in any one district, there can be found it citizens, who will, for a period of six months, undertake to watch the guard during the night, and gratuitously subject the same to numberless asconveniences, I am conveniences, I am conveniences and the resear will, at another mornent, show that it is unconstitutional for the council to invest other bodies of men with rights belonging to it only in part.

Art. 9th. The watchmen of each station will be divided so that the third part will serve during the day, and walk over a space of ground double that assigned to the night guard: and the two-thirds remaining will serve from 7 o'clock a m to 6 p m. According to this clause, the guard which will cost $133,000 to this city, for an effective body of 201 men, will have on service every night 134 men. The present guard only numbers 100 men, without in fluding the officers, to which number must be added 36 lamp lighters, who during the night do the same duty as the city guard—are on duty every night, and cost only to the city $45,000; and as the difference between 134 and 126 is 8, it results that to obtain that increase of 8 men on duty at night, the city shall have to spend annually $14,000.

However strange this may appear, it is a positive fact which I can prove to the council.

Agr. 19. Frovided, That the watchmen on duty during the day shall clean and light the lamps. I think proper to observe to the Council that the work to be performed by the men designated by the name of lamp lighters requires some experience, which cannot be acquired in a few days. The practice consists in being able to put a lamp to pieces, to clean it, to establish out overheating the glasses so that they should break; and ultimately, they have to appreciate the quantity of oil to be deposited in the lamps, according to the brightness of the moon shine. There are men who would be a very long time before they learnt this, and all the while the city mod before they learnt this, and all the while the city mod before they learnt this, and all the while the city mod the lamps according to the brightness of the moon shine. There are men who would be a very long time before they learnt this, and all the while the city mod the stables with our institution.

gas, I conceive that my observations shall be quite uscless.

Art 32 Seems to me incompatible with our institutions for how could a private citizen, not invested with a public character, and only because he is a member of a vigilance committee, order the city guard to enter in the yards and houses in search of criminals, thieves, or persons suspected or accused of having violated the laws? I ask you again how could a private citizen possess the unlimited privilege to violate the residence of his fellow citizens, when the laws declare that residence sacred; and when, in granting only to a magistrate the right to enter it, shay have clearly and positively defined in what cases and in what manner ha could use such a privilege?

I cannot discover any similitude whatever between these laws so well known to all our fallow citizens and your ordinance; far from it. I conceive they are at complete variance.

Art 34 provides that part of the men stationed at the guard house of the city hall, shall do duty at the criminal court and the jail. On that subject I will only observe that I believe the parish to be neh esough to apport a special geard; and that I do not think it would be just or necessary to impose that duty on the city snard.

inal court and the jail. On that subject I will only observe that I believe the parish to be rich etought or port a special guard; and that I do not think it would be just or necessary to impose that duty on the city guard.

Art 25 enacts that the men stationed at the guard of the jails and of the shagazine shall be provided with a loaded musket, a cartridge box and a sabre, that they shall have the right of itsing on any person attempting an attack on said establishments, or on all prisoners attempting to excape. Gentlemen, I believe the guard possess at this time the right you wish to grant them, but it is not written in any of our ordinances; therefore I think the conneil ought to have granted such powers, with a less liberal hand, those men who may enforce strictly, without sny consideration, the dates thus imposed upon them; and they ought to have the use of their same ounfined to cases of personal defence, or after public summons being made.

Art 27 says that five of the guard bouses established by the ordinance, shall have each of them a field piece. This seems to me a measure fraught with danger, for the significant would at once find themselves provided with as many guns, and could d stroy the city before the citizens could offer any resistanca.

Against article 19 I will only object that by fixing their salary to 850 per mosth, instead of 30 they now receive, you will not have better men in the guard, though this in rease of salary will swell the annual expenditures to a sum of forty-eight thousand deliars.

Art 35, so worded—"There stall be appointed by the council a committee of five members so organize the new city guard," is in direct opposition to two legislative acts, which ought to be remembered. The lith action of the law of February 17th, 1805, already quoted enacts that "the mayor shall appoint all measurers, weighers, guagers, marshals, constables, layee guards, and all other persons to be employed in conformity with the ordinances of the council." and the 8th section of the law of Septembe ing the formation of a city guard, but to the Mayor is reserved the right of selecting the member of send guard, submitted to the spiroval of the council. If the council as a body, and enjoying all its privileges, that not the right to nominate the guards, how fould it transfer that right to a commit ee, either formed of its own members or any other class of cirlgens. Such a proposition cannot be maintained, nor approved by me in respect to the law. A city goad formed as it is intended by your cidinance would not be legal, and would no mere support your authority than the authority vested in me for the maintenance of the public peace and order. It could not ossim protection from the community, nor enforce obsidience in the name of

of the second second seed by the third the second s mintee, when mountaines carried, and the following gentlement also det. Besiers. Caldwell; Beldwin, Gaisnais, Bergand Richot.

On that part of the message felative to the construct one on the lot adjoining the present, and that a same of $15,000 be appropriated for that purpose. A third message was received from the mayor, appoining as the directors of the Draining Company, in the place of those relieved, Messrs. Caldwell and Allard, the former of whom was rejected, and the latter elected.

On motion, the Conneil adjourned till Saturday mext at 5 o'clock.
