TALLAMASSEE, March 31.

The most recent intelligence from the seat of war is up to the evening of Tuesday, the 22d inst. Gen Scott, then at Fort Drane, in immediate command of about two thousand men, contemplated marching on the 25th or 25th inst. to wards the Oithlacouchee, where he expected to be joined by the forces under General Eustis from the southward, and Gen. Gaines' late command, now under Gen. C'inch.
In our last paper we suggested the belief that this disposition of the army would be attended under proper are and vigil ance with the happiest results, and we still feel inclined to think that if the Seminoles will risk or have already risked a general battle, the issue cannet be a matter of doubt. We fear, however, that they have as usual cusningly avoided coming to any ductieve engagement. It was expected that our army would encounter their united force on the day before year-refay, and we may therefore reasonably expect an express here in a day or two hence.

Current through the Straits of Gibraltar.—A writer n the Nautingi Magazine for September, explains thus the curreffechich sets constantly from the Atlantic to the Mediterranean, through the straits of Gibraltar. The specific gravity of the water of the Mediterranean, has been ascertained to be 1030, while that of the Atlantic is about 1038. The depth between Ceuta and Europe point is 4300 feet. A column of water of the specific gravity of 1030, and of the 4200 ft. would belance one of the specific gravity of 1030, and et the 4200 ft. would belance one of the specific gravity of 1030, and et the 4200 ft. would belance one of the specific gravity of 1030, and of the leight of 4308 1.2. The difference of level of the two seas, if a barrier were placed across the surface, and equilibrium produced by the pressure on the water below, would be 8 1-8 feet. The waters of the Atlantic tend to press in therefore at the surface, while the denser water of the Mediterranean flows out at the bottom. Observations in proof of such an undercurrent have been made.—Jour Frunk Jase.

The Kentacky State Arsenal, at Frankfort, was destroyed by fire on the 18th inst. All the arms contained contained in it were consumed.

American Energency.—A merchant from New York was at the London Coffee House in Ludgate Hill, when the news of the great fire which lately occurred in that city arrived. His premises were totally consumed, and he found himself, as in a moment, a ruined man. His plan was instantly formed. In fifteen minutes from the time his eyes had rested on the paper, a chaise and four was at the door in which he harried to Dover. Arriving in the night he hird a steam boat for 75 guineas, which seth landed him at Calais. Thence he hastened, with all the possible expedition to Lyous. He reached that city eight hours before the news of the fire, and employed his time in purchasing silk goods to such an extent, and on such terms as to secure a profit of at least £28,000, the destraction being principally of French silks, and to so large an amount as to require more than all the existing speck at Lyous te make it good.—London paper.
