The siles of cotron during the last 5 days, amount to shout 13,000 hales; but little bought on speculation or by export buyers.

The chief sales making in Tpland are from 106 s 105, and in Mobile from 106 to 115.

We have had a dell conton market-saince the last tarket sailed, pertigularly the last three days, and since have declined 6d per 15 from the highest point; such air to the last three days, and since have declined 6d per 15 from the highest point; such uit, at which reduction the low and middle quelies are heavy,—while fine cotton meanly sustains the manufacture.

Such uit, at which requestion the tow and middle qualities are heavy,—while time cotton nearly sensitions the late atvance.

The speculative demand is suspended, and trade at Manchester is less active than it was some time ago.

We advised you by our circular of the Biss uit. of a further improvement of $\frac{1}{2}$ at $\frac{1}{2}$ by in cotton, since when the demand has been comparatively limited, and the market languid, particularly the last few days, and vinces have declined $\frac{1}{2}$ at which reduction there has been a fair quantity offering, and it would not be roweible to sell largely in the present state of the demand—at the same times there is no very considerable quantity presents on the starket. The sales on Saturday, 2d inst, were about $500 beles, and on Monday, 4th inst, 2000 a $100\text{bales, and since they have been about $900 beles per day. The decline is most decided in the low and middle qualities—in fine cotton there is lettle chapge. The secounts from the United States being still quite in favor of hotders, we must attribute the unfavorable change in the market mainly to the less animated state of trade at Manchester, and some decline in yarn there. Speculation appears suspended. We quote Uplands 24; Orlean 94; Mobile 94; Alabama 84.
