NEW-ORLEANS:

TUESDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 7, 1837.

☞At a meeting of the Proprietors of the Daily and Weekly Press of the city of New Orleans, held yesterday (Monday) evening, 6th February, upon motion, it was,

Resolved, That the meeting adjourn to Thursday next, the 9th inst, at 5 o'clock, P M, at the Committee Room of Banks' Arcade, and that the proprietors of the different Job Office in the City be invited to attend.

JOHN GIBSON, Sec'y.

Havana.

By an arrival yesterday from Havana, we have received regular files of papers to the 28th January inclusive. They contain nothing of striking import.

Advices from Trinidad de Cuba are to the 10th.—The first division of the army arrived at St. Jago encamped for a few days in the city; but had left the day preceding for Havana in the same vessels which had transported them. The most undisturbed tranquility reigned throughout the Island.

A grand dinner had been given to the officers of the expedition prior to their departure for Havana. The utmost hilarity prevailed at this festival, and every guest appeared to rejoice at the result of the contest in the issue the prosperity of the Island has been secured, and its commercial and political destinies placed upon the most solid basis.

The packet from Cadiz, the Coreo No 4, had arrived at Havana in a passage of 54 days. The dated the 16th ult. three weeks behind those we have received via France and France.

We notice no material changes in the prices current of the 28th

STATE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.

Monday, Feb 6, 1837.

Mr Scott gave notice that he will shortly introduce a bill to reimburse to the officers of the company of Baton Rouge Cavaseurs, a certain sum of money, advanced by them.

Mr Winn, from the committee of claims, to whom had been referred the petition of Bridget Grant, reported a bill for her relief.

Mr Hoa gave notice that he will shortly introduce a bill to increase the number of the judges of the Jefferson court.

Agreeably to previous notice, Mr Bossier introduced a bill to amend the act authorizing A D Guenon and Josephine Bozonier his wife to adopt a certain child.

On motion of Mr Johnson the senate dispensed with its rules, and proceeded to the second reading of the bill to amend the act authorizing the governor to purchase certain arms for the use of the state and for other purposes.

Mr Johnson said that the bill has been several days before the senate, and it was necessary to pass it with as little delay possible, in order that the governor may transmit instructions on the subject to adjutant general Smith, who is now in the north.

On motion of the same member the bill passed a 3d reading, and was passed.

Mr Winn moved that the senate take into consideration the bill authorizing the calling of Springfield in the parish of Rapides—adopted.

Mr Hoa, some consented to withdraw his objection, and it was adopted.

SEA-ORGANS AND NASHVILLE RAIL ROAD.

The special order of the day was the bill, authorizing the transfer of the title to subscribe three millions of the stock of the New Orleans and Nashville Rail Road Company.

Mr Penn moved a motion had been made to reject the first section of this bill; he believe a there is no question before the Senate who is not anxious for the success of the company. But perceiving that there was a portion of the opposition to the passage of the bill, as it now lies before the Senate, he thought there was a mode of proceeding which would reconcile all opposition. To such a friend, therefore, he would move to lay the whole subject under the bill for the present bill, and in order that no time might have time to reflect on the subject, he would move that the subject be laid on the table to no morrow, and that the new bill be made the special order of that day.

Mr Winn observed that it is a very important question. It would be well to print the bill in order that each member may be able to form a correct opinion on the time the discussion came on. He moved that the bill be printed.

Mr Penn saw no necessity for this measure. The bill was before the senate the enactment. The question was whether the Legislature will grant, under good security, a loan of $300,000 to the Nashville Rail Road Company. By the first bill, a subscription was asked for, now it is only a loan for the purpose, he decide whether or not the securities are sufficient.

Mr Brownson said he also would the bill to be printed. If, as the gentleman from St. Tammany, Mr Lobdell, the bill involved only one proposition, the question was easy to decide. But he should like to know of the securities offered to the State as a security for the loan of a sum. Under that point of view, the subject appeared to him sufficiently important to induce every member to be careful how he took up his opinion. He was in favor of the printing.

Mr Penn assented to the motion of the gentleman from St. Mr Sloo, but he would add as an amendment that the bill be made the special order of the day for the next Thursday, and that the translation of the Senate documents in preference to any other. Adopted.

Resolutions of the post communities of the two hemispheres, to which was referred that part of the Governors message, which relates to abolition.

By the first section the Legislature approves the views of the Governor on this subject.

The second section approves the resolutions adopted by the Legislatures of Kentucky, Virginia, South Carolina and Georgia.

The third section calls a convention of the slave States, at such time as may be designated.

By the fourth section is determined that the object of the convention shall be to take such measures as may be necessary, to obtain amicably and peaceably, if possible, or by force, if necessary, the maintenance of the rights of these different States, which are threatened by the bold attempts of the abolitionists.

By the last section the Governor is requested to send without delay to the Executives of the States hereafter named, a copy of said resolutions, and to use in general a prompt adoption of them.

Resolution appointing a public stenographer of both houses to inquire into the expediency of establishing a State Library.

Resolution requesting the Sixth regiment to make a survey of certain land, situate between the bayous of Vermilion and Teche, and other matters relating to the improvement of the navigation of those streams.

Bill supplementary to the act to determine the limits of the Parish of Point Coupee, and other purposes.

After which, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Monday, February 6, 1837.

The house met pursuant to adjournment.

Mr Rogers presented the petition of sundry inhabitants of New Orleans, praying that a certain road may be established in the Fourth Municipality, and in the parish of Orleans.

Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr Wilson, from the joint committee appointed to visit the penitentiary at Baton Rouge, presented a report accompanied by documents. Reading dispensed with and ordered to be printed.

Mr Brashear, from the committee of internal improvements, to whom was referred a resolution requiring said committee to inquire and report on the speediency of purchasing for the use of the state the privilege of using the pile-driving machine worked by steam, reported in favor of such purchase, and offered a resolution to that effect. Read 1st time.

Mr. Brashear, agreeably to notice, introduced a bill for the relief of the deaf and dumb in the state of Louisiana. Ordered to be printed.

Mr. Paris introduced a bill to determine the mode of making compensation to the commissioners of roads and levees.

Mr. Parrow gave notice that he will shortly introduce a bill for the relief of A. Haralson, district attorney for the 3d district: and also an act to confirm the powers of the West Feliciana Railroad Company.

Mr. Coulon gave notice that he will shortly introduce a bill to incorporate the town of Thibodeauxville.

The house took into consideration the amendments of the Senate to the act to incorporate the Clinton and Port Hudson Railroad Company, and concurred in them.

A message from the senate requesting the concurrence of the house in a resolution instructing the board of public works to survey the river Tensas, the bayous Walnut, Brushy, Roundaway, Vicodelle, and Masson—passed to a 3d reading, with an amendment by Mr Paris

The same message also requested the concurrence of the house in a resolution granting leave of absence to G. W. Keaton, parish judge of the parish of Concordia, and to Fr. erick Williams, notary public of the parish of Natchitoches, and authorizing S. W. Hynes, to sign in the place of said Williams, during his absence.

Mr. Canon moved to reject the resolution.

Mr. Kenner would like to hear some reasons for granting leave of absence to a parish judge

Mr Wells said there was scarcely any necessity for the parish judge of Concordia staying in the parish during the summer months—that there was very little or no business doing there at that season, except marriages, and young people were very fond of crossing the river to Natchez, for the purpose of performing that ceremony.

Mr. Canon moved to divide the question so as to take the question on the first clause of the resolution, which was rejected.

Mr Gaynes said, in relation to the last clause of the resolution, that there was only one mode of appointing a man to office, to wit, by the governor and senate. We has to authorize Mr Hyanes to sign as notary, which would be equal to appointing him. Mr G. moved the rejection of the clause.

Mr Johnson said that the bill has been several days before the senate, and it was necessary to pass it with as little delay possible, in order that the governor may transmit instructions on the subject to adjutant general Smith, who is now in the north.

On motion of the same member the bill passed a 3d reading, and was passed.

Mr Winn moved that the senate take into consideration the bill authorizing the calling of Springfield in the parish of Rapides—adopted.

Mr. Walker moved the adoption of the resolution, as the object was worthy of the patronage of this and the next Congress. The second resolution requires the senators and representatives to be given to the East Baton Rouge and Clinton Railroad Company.

Mr. Sloan moved for its adoption.

Mr. Brashear said he was opposed to the word instructions. It was only our senators and representatives in Congress that were instructed, and moved to substitute in its place the word request. He wished it understood now and forever that he did not think we have the right to instruct our Senators—it was in effect reducing the first Legislative branch beneath the second. This did not meet our views of constitutional propriety. In order to record his vote against the contrary doctrine, he moved for the ayes and nays.

Mr. Canon called upon Mr. Sibell to give some reasons for the motion.

Mr. Sibell said he had in a concerve himself bound to give reasons on all the subjects as this, on which his own mind was made up, and on which the house was nearly unanimous. The right of instruction had been practised for thirty years, and was so generally exercised for us to have become an axiom.

Mr. Canon said the instruction should be given to senators, like other mandates, before their appointment, not after their functions or minds would be biassed by the bestowal of the office out of office. It was absurd to instruct senators after the election Before the election we have the right.

The question was then taken, and there were 7 in favor of Mr. Brashear's resolution, and 22 against it.

Mr. Sibell moved to postpone the further consideration of the subject to to-morrow—adopted.

The concurrence of the house was then requested in a bill passed by the senate to incorporate a Marine and Fire Insurance Company in the parish of Natchitoches with a capital of $300,000.

It was the bill to amend the act incorporating the Roman Catholic congregation of the church of St Louis in New Orleans, which authorizes the congregation to borrow the sum of $200,000 for the purpose of building a Cathedral—and to extend the duration of the charter to the year 1870. Read the several sections to regain their passage till 1840, when a new election is to be held.

Mr. Canon moved to take up the penal code prepared by Mr. Livingston.

Mr. Lawes moved that the consideration of said code be postponed till the next session in order of the general business only to be furnished in the mean time with a copy of the code; read a first time.

COMMUTATION OF AJUCTES AND GAINS.

The house took up a bill reported by the judiciary committee to modify the Constitutity of Ajuctes and Gains, as by law established.

Mr Canon moved for the rejection of the 1st section until Monday next.

With regard to the 1st section, now become the 3d, in consequence of the rejection of intervening sections, Mr. Canon observed that he was decidedly opposed to it. A fitter rule for the bill would be, to "abolish contumacies," for it abolishes those tacit mortgages which are enacted into force against debtors, and repeals one of the most important principles in our jurisprudence, relative to domestic and social regulations. In those cases there was no need of a written contract, or other form a mortgage—the law must and naturally does do it. In the country it is not so easy, and our legal population is sometimes to be deprived of those safeguards for their dearest interests. He was opposed to every provision, merely because it is difficult to find a notary. Mr. Sparks, I will remember manifest the greatest of all evils, to the people of the State, by supposing a case. A young couple get married, their love entertaining but love and good health, which is wealth indeed for marriage. They settle on a piece of waste land—which they clear, and by their industry in the course of a few years they become rich. Well the thousand they would children. By this section of the bill, the husband is debarred from making out his farm and turn the widow out of doors, although she had contributed as much to make the property, as the husband did. How is she to secure herself? She trusts the husband will respect this section of the bill. He places the wife in her proper station as an intellectual being, and not to make her a mere machine for increasing population.

Mr. Gaynes said the bill was intended to remedy those gross and palpable evils which grind jolt and deplored at an impoverishment for the state, for the population, to our prosperity, to the security of our property and the tranquility of families. What is it that prevents this calamity so frequently of wealthy individuals from coming to bankruptcy with their families in their capital, to the distress of the uncertainty and inefficiency of our laws on the very subject which we are now discussing? Some have to go to the expense of proceedings, which if they had to send for a copy at the office of the notary, which is often twenty or twenty five miles distant, very vexatious delays would be the consequence, and the execution of justice would be greatly impeded.

Mr. Hoa, some consented to withdraw his objection, and it was adopted.

SEA-ORGANS AND NASHVILLE RAIL ROAD.

The house took up the bill, authorizing the transfer of the title to subscribe three millions of the stock of the New Orleans and Nashville Rail Road Company.

Mr. Penn moved a motion had been made to reject the first section of this bill; he believe a there is no question before the Senate who is not anxious for the success of the company. But perceiving that there was a portion of the opposition to the passage of the bill, as it now lies before the Senate, he thought there was a mode of proceeding which would reconcile all opposition. NEW YORK, January 29.

ONE DAY LATER FROM ENGLAND.

The New Jersey arrived at Boston on Friday evening from Liverpool on Sunday the 22th—and consequently brings intelligence later than were received by the Philadelphia packet ship.

Extensive Failure in Manchester, England.

A gentleman of this city (says the Boston Transcript of Friday evening) has just placed in our hands a letter from his correspondent in Manchester, England, dated Dec 26th, from which we are permitted to make the following extract:—One of the large Banks in England, having its head in Manchester, has just stopped payment, for the sum of over £1,500,000—by about $7,000,000. Manchester will be all in an uproar to-morrow, when it is known; and half the merchants in the country will be ruined. The New York fire was nothing to what this will be, and you have first intelligence."

FORGERY.—A young man, clerk in the counting house of Edward D. Peters, Boston, was arraigned on Thursday, for forging a check on the Atlantic Bank, in the name of Lambert and Slade for $500 dollars.—He has a wife and one child.

TWENTY-FOURTH CONGRESS.

SECOND SESSION.

Reported for the Baltimore American

IN SENATE.

Saturday, January 28, 1837.

As soon as the Journal had been read

Mr Van Buren rose and took leave of the Senate in the following address:—

Senators: The periods at hand which is to terminate the official relation in that existed between us, and I have probably never to return to live among with which I have been elected, will be to some remain whom I found here fifteen years ago, and in the progress of public duties, personal associations have strongly forgotten. From such scenes it cannot retire without emotion.

But can I give to the Senate the usual opportunity of addressing my colleagues in the exercise of the functions, without expressing the earnest consciousness of the profound obligations which I owe to the confidence and support of this body during the period of my service in the Senate? Whatever of success in the discharge of my duties, I have always found in the counsels and co-operation of the Senate. Whatever errors I have committed, I have found the Senate disposed to judge them with the utmost indulgence. I cannot hope that in my intercourse with the Senate I have entirely escaped those causes of collision which are inseparable from the conduct of public affairs, but I am sure that I have never knowingly given cause of offence to any member of the Senate, and that I have never been conscious of any diminution of their confidence and respect. Whatever may be my future destiny, I shall ever look back to the Senate with the most grateful recollections of the kindness and courtesy which I have received from its members, and with the most earnest wishes for their prosperity and happiness.

Mr Buchanan presented a memorial of the Philadelphia Bar, praying for the passage of the bill for the relief of Judge Peters.

Mr Clay presented the petition of Mr Ingersoll, praying for the passage of the bill for the relief of Judge Peters.

Mr Clay presented the petition of sundry citizens of New Orleans
