We acknowledge with sincere gratitude the public support which has been so generously extended towards our paper; and shall continue to use our greatest efforts to merit the favor of our patrons. We shall strive to render our journal free and impartial: and make it a valuable medium of information to all parties, classes and interests. As soon as the arrangements we have taken shall be completed, which will be in the course of two or three weeks, the BER will be issued in the largest form of any other daily paper in the United States—larger even than the Mammoth Courier and Enquirer of New York. This may be considered as an earnest, that we are not unmindful of the patronage we receive; and that we desire to keep pace with it. In the meanwhile, we crave the indulgence of the general reader, as we are obliged in order to publish advertisements to rerench the reading matter, until our new press arrives which will give us more space.

bers, which is nearly twice the number of any paper in the city. It cannot be pretended that any other Journal can give so extended a circulation to merchan-tile and other advertisements.

It shall be a favorite object of the editor to make the principal feature of the BER commercial; and from its extended correspondences throughout the United States, Europe, Mexico and Havans, he flatters himself that its great resources will enable him to fulfil his purpose. Internal improvement and the interests of the mercantile community shall at all times command FROM MEXICO.

By the schooner Louisiana we have received regular files of Mexican papers. Our dates from the city of

We find nothing of interest in them: the papers are principally filled with extracts from foreign papers, and with local matters of no importance abroad. The Louisiana reports that she was boarded forty miles off Tampico bay by the Texian armed priva-teer Thomas Toby, Captain Hoyt; the commander of the Thomas Toby informed the captain of the Louisia ana, that he had been cruizing off Tampico tor several days; that he had declared the ports of Vera Cruz and Tampico under blockade; had fired into the port of that town several shots; and that he had taken as a prize the Mexican schooner formerly known as the Mentor, and hed sont her to Galveston. He had likewise conveyed a challenge to fight any vessel belonging to the Mexican navy.

This may be all very fine sport to these gentlemen, but they must be careful that our commercial relations and trade with the Mexican republic be not disturbed or invaded. Moze Specie .-- The Louisiana brings eighty-eight thousand three hundred and thirty-one dollars, in specie, to the following commercial houses, viz; Mesara Lizardi & Co.

It would seem. from a paragraph in the last Globe that the Mexican Minister at Washington has left that city in a hostile mood. We cannot exactly comprehend he subject asyyet, but it appears there are more grounds or his sudden departure than we had at first suppose We shall probably get further particulars by the mail of to-day. We hope our government has given no reasonable cause of provocation, altho our citizens have, by their participation in the struggle in Texes The opening of the ports of the Mexican republic to Spain, and the manites' d.-position to conciliate that power, looks ominous: yet we believe it would be the worst policy Mexico ever pursued, to get herself em-broiled with us, as with all the assistance she might obtain, we could crush her at a single blow.

The Philadelphia (Bicknells) Reporter and upon good authority that the Bank of the United States of Pennsylvania, at its next session, to abandon their charter, provided the bonus which has been paid be returned to them We do not know what confidence to place in this statement, but regard it as very doubtful. That institution may make this movement after the Presidential election, but certainly not before.

We observe a very sensible article in the last Cincinnati Mirror, upon the subject of rail roads, and their great utility. In the course of its remarks, that paper takes occasion to state the following points:

1st It is a fact that rail road companies have multiplied within ten years, with unprecedented rapidity, in England, America, France and Belgium:

2d It is a fact that this multiplication is founded on the belief of their immense profit, both to the public and the stockholders. 8d It is a fact that in respect to the first great element of commerce, velocity-no other means of transportation can compete with them. 4th It is a fact that the cost of rail roads has been continually diminishing, as experience has in-

5th It is a fact that the cost of rail roads in the West and South, is twenty five per cent less than those made, under the same circumstances, in the northern hundred miles of rail road in that little island-at great expense to the companies obtaining the charter with their extensive of their execution. Belgium has just constructed a rail road from Brussels. These are made in countries filled with canals, and where great efforts are made to induce a belief that steam on canals will answer the purpose of rail roads. In this country it is notorious how large the number of charters obtained, but it may not be equally known how vast a chain of rail road communication is now constructing and constructed. From Boston to New York—rauch of the way is completed, and the rest soon will be. From New York to Philadelphia—but a soon will be. From New York to Philadelphia—but a small link is wanting to complete the whole. From Philadelphia to Baltimore—it is all chartered and constructing. From Baltimore to Frederick, complete, and to Wheeling, is now constructing. From Wheeling to the Ohio canal is now chartered, the road, we are considering, is one link in this wast chain which is to units the Avrenue north with the Ohio and with is to unite the extreme north with the Ohio and with the extreme South, for from this place it will be con-structed to Charleston, Savannah, Mobile and Fayetteville. If we look to the interior of the North and the South, we shall find rail roads, of immense length and cost, actually finished. In the North, we find the Utics, and the Boston and Previdence. In the middle states, the columbia. In the South, from the Potomac to Wolden and to Releigh, a distance of one hundred and fifty two miles in a centinuous line, of which the greatest part is completed. From Charleston to Augusta—from Athens to Augusta. now constructing, will make two bundred and fift y miles in one

2d That these are made under the belief of profit is evidenti from the fact that the great majority of them, as for example, the Boston and Providence, the Utics, the New Jersey, and, all the southern rail roads-are likely to yield larger dividends than any incorpo-rated company in America.

rated company in America.

3d In respect to redpoint, it is only necessary to say, that men do, and will ply higher for that than any other means of commerce, and that rell reads furnish it to any desirable limit.

4th That experience has diminabled the cost of rail reads, it is only necessary to refer to the extravagent out of the Liverped and Manchest er, Baltimore and Fradrick countered with the Universed.

EXTRACT OF LETTERS.

"The elections in this State, took piace yesterday In this District, the Van Buren party have succeeded in electing their whole ticket—Mr. Sorer is, of course thrown over-board. The District above, so far as heard from, gues in favor of Hamer, for Congressby a large majority, & he is no doubt electedover Fisshea k, the Whig candidate. I have just commetted my circuit, and with me there is not a shadow of a dou't as to this State's voting the Van Buren ticket by a decisive majority. The finest spirit prevails amongst our friends, and they will go forth to the Presidential contestwith a confident assurance of victory. You see from the Whig papers here, actices of great changes against us; it is all said for effect—there is not one word of truth in the assertion. So far as my observation extends, the changes are in our favor. The Whige commenced their action too soon. We have had time to expose their frauds, their chicanery and shuffling, and the people have become wide awake to their true interests, and begin to compehend fully, the nature of the contest. The aristocracy and friends of monopolies on the one side, the democracy and friends of the power of the people, on the other side. Since wrifing the above, a letter from Mr. Taylor, Webster gives us the glorious information, that old Butler county has given the Administration ticket a majority of 1,350 vetes, being an excessioner from victory perches on our banners. I tell you again, our success in this State is certain.
