THE BEE.
PUBLISHED BY J. BAYON.
No. 118 N. 1st St. New Orleans, La.
TUESDAY MORNING, DEC. 19, 1894.

THE EXPRESS MAIL.
FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT NO. 1st.

The Zoological Institute, the great national museum, has just been opened. Our Solons are organizing, and nothing definite has yet been done. The press is clamorous for action. It is to be expected that the two houses will be expected to the different parts of the Union immediately afterwards, a measure which is optional with Mr. Kendall, and for which he deserves the thanks of those who are connected with the press. A most interesting fact in connection with this subject is that it is founded on a personal and intimate acquaintance with that gentleman, whom I regard as one of the ablest of our functionaries.
