The Bee.

NEW ORLEANS, MONDAY MORNING, JANUARY 30, 1837.

Texas.

The original Texas bill, reported by the committee, has passed the senate in committee of the whole, and now probably only awaits the formality of a third reading to pass the other house. The past conduct of the body in relation to this bill, is remarkable for the unanimity which has been witnessed here during the last eighteen months. Every vote has been taken by yeas and nays, and we have made it a point to preserve the names which have been recorded. Not a single vote has been given against the bill, under any aspect it has assumed, and we feel sure this, under any aspect it is preferable to the situation which has been offered to Texas, will receive the support of the senate. The circumstances would be unfortunate, if not disgraceful, in the extreme, if Texas, after having been recognized by the United States, as they were apparently ready to be by every consideration of public faith and honor, should be driven, by the neglect of congress, to seek an alliance elsewhere. Texas has been treasured here during the last eighteen months with the most delicate attention, and every step has been made to be felt—not heard. Her agents have been received with the respect due to the representatives of a nation struggling for its independence, and to make it respected by all other nations. Her commissioners would be sent here with any respect to the United States, under any aspect it was possible to be received, and they would be received with the means of doing it as the agents of a nation struggling for its independence, and to make it respected by all other nations. Her commissioners would be sent here with any respect to the United States, under any aspect it was possible to be received, and they would be received with the means of doing it as the agents of a nation struggling for its independence, and to make it respected by all other nations. Her commissioners would be sent here with any respect to the United States, under any aspect it was possible to be received, and they would be received with the means of doing it as the agents of a nation struggling for its independence, and to make it respected by all other nations.

Bank of Louisiana.

The following is the report of the committee appointed by the stockholders of the Bank of Louisiana, to examine the affairs of the institution, and to report thereon:

The committee appointed by the stockholders of the Bank of Louisiana, to examine the affairs of the institution, and to report thereon, have attended to the duties assigned them, and respectfully report:

That they have examined the books of the bank, and find the statement of the condition of the bank, published on the 1st of January, 1837, to be correct.

That they have examined the vaults of the bank, and find the specie on hand to be as stated in the said statement.

That they have examined the bills receivable, and find them to be good, and that the bank has a lien on the property of the debtors, for the amount of the bills receivable.

That they have examined the bills discounted, and find the notes and bills to be good, and that the bank has a lien on the property of the debtors, for the amount of the bills discounted.

That they have examined the real estate of the bank, and find the same to be worth the amount at which it is stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the bills of exchange, and find them to be good.

That they have examined the stock of the bank, and find the same to be correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the profit and loss account, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the contingent account, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the state, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the city, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the banks, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the individuals, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the stockholders, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the directors, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the officers, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the clerks, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the messengers, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the porters, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the watchmen, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the firemen, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the laborers, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the servants, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the slaves, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the animals, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the plants, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the minerals, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the fossils, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the petrifactions, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the organic remains, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the inorganic remains, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the geological formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the mineralogical formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the botanical formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the zoological formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the anthropological formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the ethnological formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the philological formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the grammatical formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the rhetorical formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the logical formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the metaphysical formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the ethical formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the aesthetical formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the theological formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the ecclesiastical formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the political formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the economical formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the financial formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the commercial formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the industrial formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the agricultural formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the manufacturing formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the mechanical formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the architectural formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the engineering formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the navigation formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the aeronautical formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the astronautical formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the cosmonautical formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the chronautical formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the horological formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the calendrical formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the almanacal formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the ephemeral formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the transient formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the permanent formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the eternal formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the infinite formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the absolute formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the relative formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the contingent formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the necessary formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the impossible formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the probable formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the improbable formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the certain formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the uncertain formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the doubtful formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the dubious formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the questionable formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the unquestionable formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the undoubted formations, and find the same correctly stated in the statement of the condition of the bank.

That they have examined the account of the bank with the indubit