A BEAUTIFUL HEAD OF HAIR is the greatest ornament belonging to the human frame. How necessary, then, that every means of nature and of industry should be employed to obtain so indispensable a blessing. Whoever possesses the Balm of Columbia, which is composed of the most balmy and fragrant herbs, can be assured that the hair will not only be preserved, but that it will be restored, even in cases where baldness has commenced. Its effects are truly astonishing; in a few days the hair will be found to have acquired a new growth, and in a few weeks to have attained the length and luxuriance of youth. Numerous certificates of the most respectable character can be seen at the office, specially in support of the virtues of Dr Gerard's Balm, which is sold at the low price of $2 per bottle.
