Health of New Orleans

On Saturday evening a succession of heavy showers, and afterwards the wind blew heavily from the north-east, and the temperature fell to 65 degrees. The atmosphere has since undergone an extraordinary change, the thermometer has fallen several degrees. The weather is now calm and the sun shining on our bodies as usual. The weather continues cool to a remarkable degree, and though the sun shows brightly, it does not seem to have any effect on the temperature.

THE BULLETIN AND THE ELECTION
