

NEW-ORLEANS BELL

BY RUELLI, BULLEN & MAGNIE
A. M. & C. J. B. L.

THEIR INDEPENDENCE AND PECULIAR POSITION
NEW ORLEANS
THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 18, 1861.
FOR PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES
HENRY CLAY.
KENTUCKY

Sub to the delegation of National Convention.

VIRGINIA CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS

The cause was lost at the time of voting, as the Republicans were beaten by the political Democrats, and their loss in the opposing forces with the leading parties was with the party of the Confederacy.

The veteran editor of the Advertiser shows his "running of force" in parrying the threat of his antagonist of the White, for his singular and bold speech, notwithstanding, had been well met. His speech was well received, and the proceedings were closed in a glorious victory.

The Advertiser, "internal," "external,"
"treasury," and all, while the conductors of the latter are not slow in renewing their attacks upon their experienced and indomitable foe.

We could reward all who fed any way opposed to the lead of the South, and those who thought it best to withdraw.

We can heartily rejoice in the knowledge that they will at least exert the exact position of parties by doing, for Virginia, what remains of the kaledesos in countries shamed and disgraced by metaphysical cogitation, but they will see a most humiliating battle fought, with all general at the head of the army, and learn some lesson in party tactics.

The efforts of these resolute leaders is no slight cause also to be formed of the responsible and dilect task they have assumed, from the following brief and perhaps imperfect sketch of the nature of the materials which comprise their resolute forces.

At the commencement of last Congress, the parties were as follows:—The Whigs, 111; Democrats, 111; Free Soil, 11; Constitutional Unionists, 11; and others, 11.

On the arrival of the Cubans, we are in possession of their papers to the 12th inclusive.

In Galveston, a public meeting was to be held for the purpose of devising means to suppress gambling in and about the city.

The British Consul Ambassador, was to sail on Monday last for Liverpool, with a full cargo of on the British.

The Civilian (Galveston) states the whole amount of treasury notes outstanding to be $1,099,000, that the taxes amount to $500,000, and that the custom in all probability, amount to $1,200,000. That there is no new seat of government will bring with it a new center of wealth, and that Texas money will at any rate, be scattered, in the event of the failure of the $5,000,000 loan.

The Native Courier of the 15th says, that as a steamer captain, Mr. Kinney, was shot, and died, in a duel with a black slave, and was buried in the church of the British army, and was forwarded to the British government by the packet ship, Independence, while in New Orleans.

The British Consul Ambassador, was to sail on Monday
last for Liverpool, with a full cargo of on the British.
