NEW-ORLEANS BEE.

BY BULLITT, MAGNE & CO.
At No. 81 Chartres street.

DAILY PAPER, PUBLISHED DAILY, per annum $10 00
TRI-WEEKLY PAPER, PUBLISHED TRI-WEEKLY 5 00

Cash in advance. Mails and Public Journals excepted.

FOR PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,

HENRY CLAY,

OF KENTUCKY.

Subject to the decision of a National Convention.

NEW-ORLEANS:

THURSDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 24, 1839

Yesterday's mail failed beyond Charleston. The paper mail failed altogether.

We extract from the Courier of Tuesday, the following surprising and gratifying paragraph —

"We, however, deem [worthy of a national hand, subject to the supervision of interests. Whatever it was, we have a positive currency that will meet the wants of the various communities; they will require a paper currency of equal value with specie. To effect this, we must have a Regulator, under the control of the people, through their representatives in congress. THEREFORE, WE SAY, LET THE ADMINISTRATION COME TO OUR RESCUE, AND CREATE A NATIONAL BANK at Washington, with power to establish a branch in each state, when authorized by their legislatures."

This is downright whiggery! Is not our brightest streak of being stricken from the roll of the faithful? We cannot but be pleased that the Courier should thus advocate a measure, which is called for by the interest of the whole country. We acknowledge his zeal in such a behalf, and hope that his labors may prove beneficial to the cause of a "sound currency." It is difficult, however, to reconcile the teachings of the administration papers upon this important subject, for while the Courier is thus contending for a course of policy on the part of the general government, which would be attended with the greatest blessings, the loco-foco paper par excellence, is in the very throes and spasms of bankephobia.

Upon this very important subject then, the supporters of the administration seem to be divided. There who are not blinded by prejudice, whose minds are open to the conviction of reason, are advocating a national bank, and preserve in the commercial gloom and general embarrassment, which have come upon the people since the overthrow of the U. S. Bank, the verification of those prophecies which the whig statesmen proclaimed from the house tops, upon the consummation of the executive tinkering with the currency. So intimately connected is the circulating medium with the interests of the people, that we rejoice in the evidences of returning reason which every day evinces in relation to it. The people are fast awakening from the slumber into which the administration papers upon this important subject, for while the Courier is thus contending for a course of policy on the part of the general government, which would be attended with the greatest blessings, the loco-foco paper par excellence, is in the very throes and spasms of bankephobia.

Upon this very important subject then, the supporters of the administration seem to be divided. There who are not blinded by prejudice, whose minds are open to the conviction of reason, are advocating a national bank, and preserve in the commercial gloom and general embarrassment, which have come upon the people since the overthrow of the U. S. Bank, the verification of those prophecies which the whig statesmen proclaimed from the house tops, upon the consummation of the executive tinkering with the currency. So intimately connected is the circulating medium with the interests of the people, that we rejoice in the evidences of returning reason which every day evinces in relation to it. The people are fast awakening from the slumber into which the administration papers upon this important subject, for while the Courier is thus contending for a course of policy on the part of the general government, which would be attended with the greatest blessings, the loco-foco paper par excellence, is in the very throes and spasms of bankephobia.

THE LOCOFOCOS AND THEIR ORGANS

The locofoco organ calls us impudent. We deny the charge; if it were true, we should be guilty of a grievous fault, for impudence is usually sinful and unpardonable. We do not accuse our adversary of stupidity. No man can humbly conceive, is accountable for the defect of nature, and though he were as asinine as the dullest donkey in creation, we might not, could not justly censure him. But the locofoco organ is open to severe animadversion when it exhibits mendacity, because the first duty of an exponent of public opinion, is truth; and he who sacrifices it to the gratification of a silly whim, deserves to be held up to the scorn and execration of the community such as the dandelion of our quondam neighbor, who asserted, sans pericule, that the paragraph in reply to the ridiculous assumptions in his paper of Monday, was contained by one not connected with the editorial department of the Bee. The locofoco organ is so accustomed to the servile and unconditional obedience rendered by his party to the whims of the artful clique of officeholders and understrappers of the government, that it is no wonder it imagines other printe to be instigated by a kindred spirit. For the special edification of that journal we will state that this paper is perfectly independent, subject to no dictation what ever and under the sole control of its proprietors and editors. We do not require the gratuitous advice of self-constituted councillors to expose the flimsy and flippant errors of our opponents, or to lash an administration which first occasions and then derides the distresses of the country. No one whispers of us, as of some journals that we wot of, that we are the purchased property of the president of one of those institutions which the locofocos affect to regard with such intensity of horror. No one says of us that we were bought up when on the verge of dissolution, to the roaring Bosom of democracy, or that our quickly existence is kept up either by a levy on the charitable sympathies of the party, or by copious doses of government pap.

We really commiserate the loco focos. The United States' Bank according to them, is inominate sinner. That institution, after having for so many years afforded ample material to all the locofoco prints throughout the country for a daily discharge of concentrated bile and overflowing wrath, after having furnished the theme of so many glowing effusions of patriotic indignation and enormous expenditure of pent up virulence, has really given up the ghost. What will the loco focos do? They seem astounded at the denouement—they appear entirely capable of believing that the puissant corporation which has so often provoked their mischief rage and terror, is really lifeless. They appear to fancy that its disembodied spirit will still walk the earth 'to affright and annoy democracy. They eschew their leaves and draw their swords in readiness for an evil encounter even with the ghost of this defunct institution. We donot know what will be left them, when they discover that there is no longer a United States' Bank real or spiritual, to attack. They will have to close their incubrations to an exposition of the savagery of Price, Swartwout, Hawkins and Boyd; and to harmed essays to prove, that however excellent it was foo an office holder may be, he naturally, necessarily and inevitably becomes metamorphosed into a whig the moment his dsffalcation is discovered, unless indeed, it should happen to be too trifling to excite much attention beyond the immediate locale of its occurrence.

Post Office at Mobile.—The building now occupied by the Chronicle newspaper has been fixed upon as the new post office at Mobile. We wish that a new post office were established in this city. The present establishment is altogether too small and inconvenient for the multiplicity of business transacted by this department of the government. When unpaid intelligence is expected by mail not only is the building crowded, but the side walks and street around it are thronged by the merchants, who are compelled to wait a considerable time after the opening of the mail, before they can obtain their letters and papers.

Cotton is rapidly falling. The number of Arangers coming us, and of semi denizens of New Orleans who hibernate in our climate but flee away on the approach of summer, is increasing every day. There is the appearance of revived business in our streets, but as yet, it is little better than appearance. We must wait two weeks longer before it will become reality.

Fine Carp.—On Tuesday evening Holland delighted the audience by his whims and laughter moving antics as Thomas in the Secret. This crowning of farce grasps the sceptre of Momus with as much efficiency as ever. He will not spare his friends a single muscular contortion, but in spite of aching sides and cracking ribs, continues to keep them in ungovernable roars of laughter. We saw a portion of the 'Rent Day' which was not wildly uncaught, and that's saying a great deal. Mrs. Stuart is a queer and unassuming actress who rather falls short of acting than overleaps its modesty. Her Rachel Hayward was fair. De Bar's Silver Jack was excellent. This performer can always succeed—when he pleases. Indolence is his besetting sin. Mr. Morton we will say—"go study. Nature never intended you to be a moument in your profession, but by diligence and study you may become respectable. Your Martin Heywood lacked both energy and feeling." Of Mr. Hardy and of the rest, we will say nothing, as we feel disinclined to charm with faint praise, and as the whole dramatique is confessedly incomplete.

Doubtless the most ominous shoot in existence is the Ultra Tory organ, in London—the Times. It is even more abusive than the Washington Globe. We must add, in justice, that the Times is conducted with eminent ability. It vituperates most lavishly, but with a grace and vigor that almost reconcile the reader to its malignant supportings.

We have received, through the politeness of the Captain of steamer Majestic, the Natchez Free Trader of the 21st—from which we copy the following paragraph.

Health of Natchez.—We are sorry to say, that in the three last days there was an alarming increase of Yellow Fever. The epidemic has broken out in the jail. Interments, from Friday, 5 o'clock, P. M. to Saturday, P. M. on Saturday—night. From Saturday 5 o'clock P. M. to 5 o'clock P. M. Sunday, (yesterday)—five.

A clergyman was once accosted by a drunken, profligated dead, who asked him if he believed preaching to save souls. "Yes." "Did you ever see a soul?" "No." Did you ever hear a soul?" "No." "Did you ever taste a soul?" "No." "Did you ever smell a soul?" "No." "Did you ever feel a soul?" "Yes." "Well," said the other, "there are four of the senses against one, so the question whether there is a soul." The clergyman then asked, if he were a doctor of medicine? "Yes." "Did you ever see a pain?" "No." "Did you ever hear a pain?" "No." "Did you ever taste a pain?" "No." "Did you ever smell a pain?" "No." "Did you ever feel a pain?" "Yes." "Well then," said the clergyman, "there are four of the senses against one, that there is no pain, and I know that there is a soul!"

The author of "My Pighing Ground," in the Knickerbocker, has literally thralled the back of nature. Witness the following, from his second article in the September number —

"Here I am, upon my old ground again. — My companions, the trees and rocks, stand calm and eloquent as, and long. But nothing they look more sober seem, than when in the full tide of spring glory. The summer deepens; the birds have put on a more thoughtful demeanour; the old man's estate gravity of manner are no longer heard, but a sweeter and more plaintive strain breaks forth in their strain."

"Hark! Ching-a-ling! ching-ching! On the hill above me, thoroughly groom passes and his labor to charge his steed. There is music, and a most delicious rural charm, in the feasting of his wagon, which is only equalled by the tinkling of the sh pherd's bell. How tranquil and soothing the sound! As he passes, there but the solemn murmur of the crickets, and then the cry of his steed, as it sweeps through the grass, in one broad semi-circle. Is not this a life of poetry? Around him lay the sparkles, thick as the green waves of the sea. He is out in the great temple of nature, the heavens and earth are an open book to him, written in the finger of God to humanity, eloquent, no tedious voices are around him."

"There I have you! How he writhes upon my hook, scattering crystal lines, few drops of water, like globules of light, as he take a somersetter, he hangs suspended between the heaven and the earth. Would you had the gift of speech, my fine fellow! You would plead as sincerely as many a winner one has done before, who had been as foolishly caught. You are not the only one who's felt the barbed steel, from being too greedy. So world is filled with victims of misery, and their hooks are most ingeniously covered. Innocent sparrows sits all day with his long pole, and still longer line, tilted with bait, and 'bobs' from morning until night. It is not for me to say how many have had their gills torn. Messieurs Quackery and Humbug are most indefatigable fishers, and the people bite now as well as they did twenty years ago. It would be a rare sight to see all the victims on one string. There would be no distinction of rank or condition. Ignorance and talent, wealth and poverty, would hang side by side — So much for moralizing upon you, my little prisoner! Hush to the low whistle of the quail over the hill!— More wet I more wet!' There he sits, waiving the wheat-field, which runs in waves of gold before him. He 'tarns sauntcously every day,' and appears satisfied and contented. He is a junker in costume and demeanour; grave in his manner, and always appears in a suit of brown, rounded off in his rear. He is peculiarly fit harvest song; soft and melodious; singing in the silent noonday over hill and dale, when other birds are silent. He lingers around the heat-ridden fields, and sings and whistles until evening. He is one of the loveliest features of the season, and the task would more heavily without his cheerful presence."

"The wood is alive with squirrels. Black and gray, and red, continually dart past me and chatter for security. There is one now, perched on a long, gray, rotting limb, chattering nonsense with inconceivable rapidity. He sits up with his tail curled over his back, and addresses all his remarks to me. He challenges me to reach him; boasts of his ability to nut all kinds of hard names, and flirts and rattles around, to attract my attention. He knows I cannot shoot him with my fishing-rod, and that he may take special care of my situation to tantalize me. Oh that I understood the language of the animal creation. The squirrel talks French, as near as I can make out. His gestures and movements are all French; and Noah must have introduced this language into the ark expressly for his convenience."

"Above me, on a blasted limb, sits a crow, pearing curiously down at my pale, and setting up every moment a most dismal screech. He has been driven into the woods by some farmer's boy, who directed him shouldering his gun. His visit is only waiting until the coast is clear, to make a second descent. He is the most bald, saucy, and guilt-hardened of the feathered tribe. Like Rob Roy, he takes his tax from all alike. He has a cunning acquaintance with each species, every stripe of cloth, long hose, and chickchuck wind mills, that his fellows wear. In fact, he is such a physiognomist and phrenologist that he can decide their characters at a glance. He has a huge dislike of all mankind being a regular rover a bird of the woods. He is the first to flat crows scent an gunpowder at once, and set accordingly. He lives in sections by office, and have assisted in burying the dead on many a battle field. There he goes, glossy, black, over the green tree tops, screeching out a funeral. He has some waiting for him, and is sinister in distance, until nothing lives twixt that and silence."

"But the dusk draws on, since the sun has dropped low behind the hills. The dews have sucked the fragrance from the withered grass, the sweet-scented clover and the pea blossom, and they come down in the vale with mingled odors. The cows, low and cattle, as they gather and move from their pasturage falls on the ear. There is a deeper and more hollow roar in the glen, as the brook dashes onward."

The Daguerreotype.—One great obstacle to the use of M. Daguerre's photogenic process, is the difficulty of preserving the pictures when completed because they are of so delicate a nature, and so easily injured, that the slightest touch effaces them—even M. Daguerre himself has always found it necessary to protect them with a plate of glass, which is both inconvenient and troublesome; and it has, in consequence, been suggested, that if a varnish could be discovered, which might be easily applied to the surface of the plate after the completion of the pictures, and which, while it protected them from injury, should not impair their delicacy, it would considerably add to the value and usefulness of the process; we are happy, therefore, to hear that M. Dumas has discovered a chemical liquid, composed of one part of dextrine and five parts of water, forming a varnish of a colorless nature. It is said to be well adapted for the purpose, and further, possesses the advantage of being easily removed from the picture, by immersing the whole in boiling water. This, however, will be required to ascertain whether the varnish has any action on the peculiar mercurial compound of which the image is formed.—Athenæum.

Rival to the Daguerreotype.—If we believe the German papers, Leipmann, of Berlin, has invented a machine for obtaining correct copies of circulated pictures, which is more ingenious than the Daguerreotype. For some years a little slender man, whose attire denoted poverty, was observed in the Museum of Berlin, where he was to be seen every week. Instead of walking through the galleries and admiring the valuable paintings, he was always in the Flemish room, stationed before some peculiar favorite of Rembrandt. He would remain there for hours together, his hands behind his back, and his eyes fixed upon the picture. This was ascribed to eccentricity, while it was a serious and singular study, leading to a discovery which will form an era in the history of painting. M. Leipmann now maintains upon the invention of a machine for reproducing oil paintings, and, after ten years of persevering labor, he has succeeded beyond all expectation. At his residence we are told he can show a hundred copies of that very head of Rembrandt, all of them of equal resemblance to one another. How he has achieved this, is his own secret. When one considers what precautions he must have suffered in realizing his idea, and understand the language of the animal creation. The squirrel talks French, as near as I can make out. His gestures and movements are all French; and Noah must have introduced this language into the ark expressly for his convenience.

"Above me, on a blasted limb, sits a crow, pearing curiously down at my pale, and setting up every moment a most dismal screech. He has been driven into the woods by some farmer's boy, who directed him shouldering his gun. His visit is only waiting until the coast is clear, to make a second descent. He is the most bald, saucy, and guilt-hardened of the feathered tribe. Like Rob Roy, he takes his tax from all alike. He has a cunning acquaintance with each species, every stripe of cloth, long hose, and chickchuck wind mills, that his fellows wear. In fact, he is such a physiognomist and phrenologist that he can decide their characters at a glance. He has a huge dislike of all mankind being a regular rover a bird of the woods. He is the first to flat crows scent an gunpowder at once, and set accordingly. He lives in sections by office, and have assisted in burying the dead on many a battle field. There he goes, glossy, black, over the green tree tops, screeching out a funeral. He has some waiting for him, and is sinister in distance, until nothing lives twixt that and silence."

"But the dusk draws on, since the sun has dropped low behind the hills. The dews have sucked the fragrance from the withered grass, the sweet-scented clover and the pea blossom, and they come down in the vale with mingled odors. The cows, low and cattle, as they gather and move from their pasturage falls on the ear. There is a deeper and more hollow roar in the glen, as the brook dashes onward."

The Daguerreotype.—One great obstacle to the use of M. Daguerre's photogenic process, is the difficulty of preserving the pictures when completed because they are of so delicate a nature, and so easily injured, that the slightest touch effaces them—even M. Daguerre himself has always found it necessary to protect them with a plate of glass, which is both inconvenient and troublesome; and it has, in consequence, been suggested, that if a varnish could be discovered, which might be easily applied to the surface of the plate after the completion of the pictures, and which, while it protected them from injury, should not impair their delicacy, it would considerably add to the value and usefulness of the process; we are happy, therefore, to hear that M. Dumas has discovered a chemical liquid, composed of one part of dextrine and five parts of water, forming a varnish of a colorless nature. It is said to be well adapted for the purpose, and further, possesses the advantage of being easily removed from the picture, by immersing the whole in boiling water. This, however, will be required to ascertain whether the varnish has any action on the peculiar mercurial compound of which the image is formed.—Athenæum.

Rival to the Daguerreotype.—If we believe the German papers, Leipmann, of Berlin, has invented a machine for obtaining correct copies of circulated pictures, which is more ingenious than the Daguerreotype. For some years a little slender man, whose attire denoted poverty, was observed in the Museum of Berlin, where he was to be seen every week. Instead of walking through the galleries and admiring the valuable paintings, he was always in the Flemish room, stationed before some peculiar favorite of Rembrandt. He would remain there for hours together, his hands behind his back, and his eyes fixed upon the picture. This was ascribed to eccentricity, while it was a serious and singular study, leading to a discovery which will form an era in the history of painting. M. Leipmann now maintains upon the invention of a machine for reproducing oil paintings, and, after ten years of persevering labor, he has succeeded beyond all expectation. At his residence we are told he can show a hundred copies of that very head of Rembrandt, all of them of equal resemblance to one another. How he has achieved this, is his own secret. When one considers what precautions he must have suffered in realizing his idea, and understand the language of the animal creation. The squirrel talks French, as near as I can make out. His gestures and movements are all French; and Noah must have introduced this language into the ark expressly for his convenience.

$5 REWARD—Ranaway from the subscriber, on the morning, a mulatto woman named CAROLINE, aged about 28 years of age, tall and plump, and speaking French and English. She formerly belonged to Mr. Coquerelle living in the Bayou road. She wore when she left, a black gown with white spots.

Captains of vessels and others are cautioned against harbouring or carrying off said slave, upon pain of prosecution.

o26-tf H. DUFILHO, 19 Conti st

THE subscribers have received by the late arrivals from France, a complete assortment of groceries, which they offer for sale wholesale or retail: Malaga grapes in jars; preserved cherries in their juice; fine brandy; liqueurs from Badin freres, in china bottles and other ornamented bottles; Holland curaçao in small and large jars; Zara maraschino in large bottles; Dantzic brandy; brandy cherries of Paris in white bottles; sardines in oil; truffle pies in assorted sizes; anchovies and other fish; ornaments from France in china pots; champaign wines of different marks; St Julien and other wines; old wines; champaign; cognac brandy, 1821, in half pipes; almonds, figs, raisins, pecans, &c.; lamp oil, and an assortment of family groceries. LOURELHIE & SLETON, o24 corner Royal and Customhouse sts

THE subscribers have entered into a limited copartnership, from the 10th inst, under the style and title of L. S. SEGURA & Co., for the shoe and boot business. Boots, brogans, shoes, of northern manufacture, &c. They solicit a share of the patronage of their friends and the public.

LOUIS S. SEGURA,
FRANCIS DUCOINS, Sen'r,
No. 140 Old Levee.

o24-3t

NEW MACKEREL, CODFISH, HERRINGS AND SALMON—20 barrels No. 1 mackerel; 75 do No. 2 do; 400 do No. 3 do; 135 half barrels No. 1 do; 125 do No. 2 do; 50 do No. 3 do; 120 quarter do No. 1 do; 60 do No. 2 do; 500 boxes codfish; 500 do No. 1 scaled herrings; 10 half barrels No. 1 salmon; 100 kits do do; in store, and landing from ship Charleston, for sale by PEIRCE & BELL, o21

BROGANS AND BOOTS—165 cases containing men's kip, calf, split and russet brogans, assorted and common sizes; men's kip and calf, sewed and pegged boots; boy's kip brogans; "Jack Downing's" calf shoes and slippers and lasting brogans, landing from ship Saxon, for sale by I BRIDGE & Co.

o24

NAILS—100 casks assorted sizes, landing from ship Saxon, for sale by GEORGE GREEN, & BRO, 26 Camp st

o24

TOBACCO—300 boxes and kegs, Missouri and Kentucky for sale by o21 P SHANNON & BROS.

MONONGAHELA WHISKEY—50 barrels in store and for sale by P SHANNON & BROS.

WINDOW GLASS—100 boxes in store, and for sale by P SHANNON & BROS, 57 Magazine st

MULES AND HORSES—A lot of fine young mules and horses, for sale, apply to MAUNSEL WHITE & Co.
o24-3t Gravier st

FIRE BRICK—10,000 Baltimore patent fire brick, landing and for sale by GEO BEDFORD, o24 No. 22 Bienville st

TARRED CORDAGE—Of all sizes, for sale by o24 P SHANNON & BROS.

LIME—1000 casks Thomaston stone lime, cargo of brig Raymond, from Thomaston, for sale by o24 GEO BEDFORD, 22 Bienville st

PORK—300 barrels mess pork, 500 do prime do, for sale by o24 M MAHER, 16 Poydras st

WHISKEY—200 barrels rectified whiskey, 30 do old rye do, for sale by M MAHER, o24 16 Poydras st

FLOUR—1000 bris superfine flour, in fine shipping order and for sale by M MAHER,
o24 16 Poydras st

BACON—50 hhds bacon sides, a first rate article, for sale by M MAHER, o24 16 Poydras st

SPERM CANDLES—300 boxes New Bedford, Howland's brand, and 100 boxes Peabody's patent sticks, landing from ship Charleston, for sale by o24 EDWARD SPRAGUE, 29 Customhouse st

VEGETABLES—150 bbls eastern potatoes;fifty do of onions, and fifty do beets, now landing from ship Charleston and for sale by EDW SPRAGUE, o24 29 Customhouse st

CO-PARTNERSHIP.—Having taken our Brother Mr. JOHN C. SHANNON, into partnership, we will continue to transact a general commission and forwarding business under the name and style of Pierce Shannon & Brothers

PIERCE SHANNON,
PATRICK C. SHANNON,
JOHN C. SHANNON.

New Orleans, 20th Oct., 1839.

THE FIRM OF PIERCE SHANNON & BRO. was dissolved on the 20th instant.—All persons having claims against the late firm will please present them for payment, and all persons indebted to same are requested to make immediate payment. The name of the firm will be used only in liquidation by either of the undersigned partners.

PIERCE SHANNON,
o23-3t PATRICK C. SHANNON.

CARPETS, BLANKETS, &c. at reduced prices C—English and Brussels carpeting, Persian and Turkey rugs, French and English blankets, of different sizes; three point do, for negroes, white and colored flannels; woollen table and piano covers; linen do do do; linen sash cotton sheetings; plaid and striped cotton; Lowell cottons, sheetings, shirtings and osnaburgs; cassimeres, &c. &c. now receiving, and will be sold very low, by ROTTA & Co.
o23-3w corner of Canal and Chartres street.

STRAYED OR STOLEN from Basin street, between Customhouse and Bienville street, on Thursday the 17th inst, a sorrel MULE, with the mark of T 3 on the hind quarter, and scratched which side. Any person returning the same to No. 50 Rampart street, or giving information where the same may be found, will be liberally rewarded, by applying to P. DALY.
o23 3t

NOTICE.—Mr. F. L. BEINSCKE, of the firm of Reinecke, Dofer & Co., having just arrived from France in the ship Rubens, has imported the following articles, made in the latest fashions which the subscribers offer for sale at their store, to the public in general, that he has removed his store from St. Peter to 169 Chartres street, between Conti and St. Peter streets. He also takes the liberty of informing the public that he has received by the late arrivals from France, an assortment of French canezous and clothes—Also, fine vests which he offers for sale.
o23-6t

Gas Light Banking Company,
Gas Department, October 21st, 1839.

COKE AND COAL—The price of coke has been fixed for the ensuing season at fifty cents per barrel, in the works yard, and taken in quantities of one hundred barrels, will be delivered free of cost age.

The superiority of the coke for fuel being easy of ignition, and being free from any unpleasant smell or smoke, should induce every family to make use of it. Coal will be furnished at the lowest market prices. Orders received at the Gas-office, Bank Alley
F. W WELLS, Secretary.

BAGGING, BALE ROPE, NEGRO WOOLLENS, &c. &c—250 pcs heavy 44-inch Kentucky bagging; 50 do Dundee do; 750 coils best Kentucky and Missouri bale rope; 400 lbs assorted bailing twine; 100 bales negro blankets; assorted sizes and prices; 80 bales negro jeans, best manufacture; 1000 dozen negro woolen socks, assorted sizes; 500 bags corn; 30 bbls common whiskey, 50 do Baltimore gin—in store and for sale by SPROULE & BUCHANAN,
o22-1w 68 Camp st.

WHITE LEAD AGENCY—The subscribers, as agents for Lewis' Philadelphia white lead, offer for sale, to merchants, dealers, and steamboats, on the most reasonable terms—1,500 kegs No. 1 lead, 25 lbs each, 100 do do do 50 lbs each, 100 do do do 100 lbs each, 100 do do do 500 lbs each; 200 do No. 2 do do 25 lbs each, 100 do do extra.
JARVIS & ANDREWS,
o22 corner of Common and Tchoupitoulas streets.

SOAP AND OIL—400 boxes No. 1, J Gould and J H Morton brands; 100 do No. 1, Jackson and Tyson brands; 100 do No. 2 do; 100 do No. 1 and No 2 soap; 30 barrels refined whale oil; 12 tierces peltat blanched oil, in store for sale by
o22 DAVIS & HOBART, 18 Customhouse st

PICKLES, CATSUP, &c—100 boxes pickles, in gallon, half-do and quart jars, Underwood's, Lewis & Haskell's, and Wells' brand; 100 boxes fresh tomato catsup; 50 boxes walnut and mushroom do; 40 boxes mustard, Stoughton's citric fruit vinegar; Cayenne pepper, raspberry brandy, lemon and orange shrub; lemon syrup, &c., for sale by
o22 DAVIS & HOBART, 18 Customhouse street

NOTICE—The partnership known under the name of Pehau & Co., is from this day dissolved by mutual consent. Ulysse Pehau is alone authorised to settle the affairs of said firm.

ULYSSE PEHAU,
oct 22-4t P BOE.

PATENT PLATFORM BALANCES, for sale by KIDDER & HEAD, oct 21 99 Camp street

ROPE & BAGGING—for sale by o22 R GRONING & co

HOLLAND GIN—15 pipes of superior quality, landing and for sale by oct 22 R GRONING & co

HAVANA SEGARS—365,000 segars of different qualities, for sale by
oct 22 R GRONING & co

HAVANA SWEETMEATS & Guava Jellies, for sale by R GRONING & co
o22

BEEF—275 bbls prime beef, landing, for sale by
o22 R GRONING & co

NOTICE—The subscribers have removed from No. 24 Poydras to 99 Camp street.
oct 21 KIDDER & HEAD,

HOSIERY—18 cases childrens', women's, and men's hose, for sale by F. C. GOERGEN & Co.
22o-3t 83 Chartres st. upstairs.

NAPKINS—2 cases German linen napkins, and 1 pattern, for sale by F. C. GOERGEN & Co.
22o-3t 83 Chartres st. upstairs.

FISHHOOKS—6 cases Hemming & Son, assorted sizes, in store and for sale by F. C. GOERGEN & Co.
22o-3t 83 Chartres st. up stairs.

RHENISH WINES—a general assortment of the best growth, for sale by F. C. GOERGEN & Co.
22o-3t 83 Chartres st. up stairs.

COLOGN MILLSTONES—a large assortment, for sale low by F. C. GOERGEN & Co.
22o-3t 83 Chartres st. upstairs.

HAVANA SWEETMEATS—100 boxes, for sale by ABRAHAM TRIER, o22 31 Gravier st.

GERMAN GOODS—viz Rhenish wines, genuine cologne water, pencils, and stockings, for sale by ABRAHAM TRIER, oct 22 34 Gravier st.

CHEWING TOBACCO—of favorite brands, for sale by ABRAHAM TRIER, o22 34 Gravier st.

CORN—1000 bushels, in store, for sale by o22 ABRAHAM TRIER.

SILK VELVETS—two cases assorted colors, in store, and for sale by F. C. GOERGEN & Co.
22o-3t 83 Chartres st. up stairs.

CAMBRIC HANDKERCHIEFS—an assortment, plain and embroidered, on hand and for sale by F. C. GOERGEN & Co.
22o-3t 83 Chartres st. up stairs.

WHITE HAVANA SUGAR—50 boxes of superior quality, in store, for sale by o22 ABRAHAM TRIER, 34 Gravier st.

HAVANA COFFEE—100 bags in store, for sale by ABRAHAM TRIER, o22 34 Gravier st.

HAVANA SEGARS—300,000 of different qualities, for sale by ABRAHAM TRIER, o22 34 Gravier st.

SPERM CANDLES—100 boxes for sale by ABRAHAM TRIER, o22 34 Gravier st.

LANDING per ship Alabama—16 casks American Cologne, 4 do. English Sealwax, for sale by KENNEDY, DUREL & Co.
o20 86 Customhouse st.

BOOTS & BROGANS—30 cases fine calf boots, 10 cases calf brogans, 10 cases russet brogans, 10 cases women's kip brogans, in store, for sale by o20 DAVIS & HOBART, 18 Customhouse st.

EXCHANGE on PHILADELPHIA and New York, for sale by ANDREWS & BROTHERS, o20 50 Camp st

TO RENT—Two Rooms on the second floor suitable for offices. Apply on the premises, No. 99 Camp street at the firemen's insurance office.

COUNTING-ROOM TO LET, in the second story of No. 36 Poydras street—Apply on the premises. o23

TO LET—A Store, situated in Toulouse street, between Royal and Chartres. Inquire of R. BRUGIER. o17

TO LET, on the 1st November, a Dwelling-house, in Chapitoulas street, between St Anne and Dumaine.
Apply to
R. BRUGIER.
o17

TO RENT—A two story house situated on Old Levee, a few doors from Canal street, and nearly opposite the custom house. Apply to J & L GARNIER, o16-3t 180 Royal st

THE SUBSCRIBERS have received by late arrivals, a large assortment of winter goods, manufactured in the latest Paris fashions, of superfine wadded, assorted colored cloth paletots, do do do kerseymere do do do do velvet do; do do cottonade; do do do wadded, assorted colors, cloth hunting shirts, do do do do do do do do do kerseymere, do do do do, velvet, do do do, beaver cloth, do do do blue and superfine, wadded, assorted colors, cloth sacrouds, do do quality, do do do, beaver cloth, do do do blue and green, velvet thomas, do do cottonade, superfine sedan black cloth frock coats, do do do, do do do, do do stone colored do; do do do green do, do do do Dorilla, do do do superfine coats; assorted colors, do do do, round jacketed and blue and maroon colored cloth; do do do satinet grey and blue; very fine cassimere goat skin do; cloth do do pantaloons; very fine morning gowns; fancy colored kerseymere pantaloons; black satin do; do do do; do do do; satinet cotton do; cottonade do, different qualities; crossed silk waistcoats; silk velvet do do; black satin do do; do do; black satin do do; fancy colors do do, red and white and blue and maroon do; assorted colored do do; black satin cravats; fancy do do; velvet satin do do; figured silk and red, blue and maroon merinos do; satin stocks with bows; do do plain; satin and bombasine do; satin and velvet in the form of cravats; fine elastic silk for suspenders; fine cotton do; white cotton do; colored thibet gloves; glazed kid do; buckskin do; assorted quality; embroidered cambric handkfs; colored cambric do; kalt merino undershirts, different qualities, do white cotton do; do do unbleached do do do, silk do do do, flannel do do; do do; do do; flannel, molleskin; plain white and gray woollen half hose; assorted white cotton do; do, unbleached do do, silk do do, Gros de Naples cravats of 24 and 36 inches, gingham do, assorted colors, grand canvas umbrellas, gold and silk do loaded; do do of iron and rose wood mounted with gold and silver; do do of ivory; a large assortment of hats of every kind and new fashions.

CHILDREN'S CLOTHES.

Waddled child's cloaks, different colors; do do pantaloons do do; fine cloth frock coats and paletots, black blue and maroon colored cloth coats; striped kerseymere pantaloons, different colors; satinet do do black, blue and maroon round jackets; do black satin and fancy silk do; cotton and gum elastic suspenders; silk and fur hats of different kinds, for sale at moderate prices.

J D DENEGRE, 16 Customhouse st

THE subscriber offers for sale, on reasonable terms, the following articles, now in store — 1000 barrels Manhadan dash; 2,500 gallons fall sperm oil; 1,500 do do winter do do; 100 brittanners' oil; 50 do Roman cement 100 do hydraulic do; 100 do Missouri lime, a new article, 400 casks Manilla cordage and bowsers; 200 do Kentucky 100 packages gunpowder, imperial, hyson, young hyson and orange pecco teas; 50 bags Sumatra pepper; 50 do Spanish segars, assorted; 100 do Champagne cider; 400 do brandy, 50 do Jamaica rum, 50 do gin, 10 quarter casks do brandy, 50 boxes genuine Copenhagen snuff; 50 do Spanish segars; cordials in boxes and barrels; wine and Stoughton's bitters, &c.
THRO E BAILEY, 14 Bienville street.

NOTICE.—The undersigned named JACQUES BECQUE, having fallen in the river, on the 18th inst., notice is hereby given to plantations, that he is found, to make known the same at No. 181 Bourbon street. He was dressed in a blue check frock coat, white linen shirt, mixed colored trowsers, black cravat with a white ring, black boots. He wore a gold watch and chain, a diamond ring with another plain ring, and a jet breast pin set with hair JEAN ORELLY.

THE undersigned have formed a partnership for the best cotton business, under the firm of LONGER & DESMARE. They solicit the patronage of
A. LONGER,
A. DESMARE.
New Orls 20, October 21, 1839. o21-1t

THE subscribers offer for sale the following merchandise:—163 bbls Missouri tobacco; 96 bbls tobacco stems; 950 coils Missouri rope, small size and 375 pieces Kentucky bagging, 44 inches wide; 500 lbs lard; 100 bags Java coffee, 2 years old; 23 brls old Monongahela whiskey; 200 brls lily white flour, 57 brls middlings; 70 sacks shorts; 980 do bran; 40 bags plantation port; 88 casks bacon sides, and 20 do shoulders, Cincinnati smoked; 30 half brls family mess pork; 40 do Florida and Missouri sugars; 30 bundles English blister steel, 10 bundles do spring do; 10 bags lead; 51 empty molasses barrels; 4 pipes hour glasses; 5 half do Cognac brandy; 2 casks and 1 do Madeira wine; 13 cases first India do do, and 36 cases pale sherry.
BOGERT & HAYTHORN,
o21-1w 63 Gravier street.

DOMESTICS—400 bales Lawrence and Indian Head 4 4 sheetings, for sale by
o21 DAVIS & HOBART, 18 Customhouse street

CRANBERRIES—Cranberries in half and quarter barrels; landing from ship Tremont, for sale by DAVIS & HOBART, o22 18 Customhouse street

BRANDY CHERRIES—30 boxes superior Paris cherries, in store, for sale by o22 DAVIS & HOBART, 18 Customhouse st

NOTICE—Vessels bound to Vicksburg, Natchez, Grand Gulf, or the Coast, can be supplied with a steamboat for Towing, by applying to the undersigned, best PIERCE SHANNON & BRO.
o21 57 Magazine st.

CASTOR OIL—18 bbls white nut; 1 superior reto; 6 do do do do do do do do do do do do o21-1t JARVIS & ANDREWS, No. 1 Tchoupitoulas st.

CHANDELIERS—one pair large size and splendid workmanship, suitable for a drawing room or public hall, in store, for sale by P. H. GALLWEY, o21 6 Conti st

LINSEED OIL—50 casks English linseed oil, just landed and for sale by o21 JARVIS & ANDREWS, 1 and 3 Tchoupitoulas st

SALT—1000 sacks common and 500 sacks fine Liverpool salt on board the Unicorn, for sale by o20 S HEATH & Co, 95 Common st

SEGARS—Regalias, Imperials, Canones, Trabucos and 1st and 2d quality cigars, received by the last arrivals, from Havana and for sale by o20 J M CABALLERO, 30 St Louis st

BAGGING—500 pieces heavy bagging in store and for sale by ANDREWS & BROS
o20 50 Camp st

COAL—Landing from ship Orient, 30 casks best broken and screened Peach Mountain coal, for family use, for sale by J D DENEGRE, o20 16 Customhouse street.

CODFISH—200 boxes new codfish, landing from the Tremont, for sale by
o20 DAVIS & HOBART, 18 Customhouse street

OIL—7 casks linseed and whale oil, landed from ship Alabama, for sale by o20 S & J F WHITNEY, 73 Camp street

LARD—1,000 kegs superior leaf lard, in store for sale by G. DORSEY, o20 44 New Levee

FLOUR AND WHISKEY—54 barrels flour and 36 bris whiskey, landing from steamboat Oconee, for sale by G. DORSEY, 44 New Levee. o20

SPIRITS TURPENTINE—10 barrels spirits of turpentine, for sale by o20 JARVIS & ANDREWS, 1 and 3 Tchoupitoulas street

BAGGING—41 pieces Kentucky bagging, landing from steamer Oconee, and for sale by o20 FORSYTH & LIMERICK.

FOR SALE—The grocery establishment at the corner of Camp and Poydras streets. Apply on the premises to F. ZORN & Co. o21-6t

NOTICE—If Mr. LUCIEN ALLIBERT is in New Orleans, he is requested to leave his address at the office of the Bee, as soon as possible, as important information is to be communicated to him.
o21-3t

BAGGING AND ROPE—194 pieces Kentucky bagging, and 96 coils rope, landing from steamer Columbus; also 450 pie