NEW-ORLEANS: NEW-ORLEANS: WEDNESDAY MORNING, MARCH 25, 1840

The mail failed yesterday beyond Mobile. THE NEW JERSEY OUTRAGE We have just read the report of the minority of the committee on elections, detailing the proceedings of the committee and the conduct of the majority in forcing the loco-foco claimants into the seats belonging to the five whig members, who were forcibly ejected from the house refused to permit the minority to read th this state of the case, the minority have had the repor appeal to the American people; urging upon them the necessity of rallying in their strength, to rescue the constitution and the liberties of the people from complete overthrow. perfuly of the committee's proceeding, to state the fact, that the report of the majority depriving the commissioned stembers of their seats was made whilst those individuals were absent in New Jersey, taking ev dence, upon the faith of the following resolution, adop them.

"Received. That the chairman be requested to notify the seventh claimants aforesaid, that this committee will not proceed to a final decision of the question of inhuman right depending before them, until the account Monday in April next, at which time the committee will report, the proofs to be closed, and will not receive any testimny taken by either of the parties after that time, but mathing in this resolution shall prevent the committee at any time before that day from taking up and deciding said case, if the parties shall declars transletes resuly with all the testimory."

After the caseage of this resolution, the whig mem.

After the passage of this resolution, the whig members holding commissions of election, left Washington for New Jersey, in order to take evidence, are and the locofoco claimants were admitted to the instructions of the house, commanding them to report "forthwith," which of the claimant had received the greatest number of lauful votes." Great stress is lail upon the word lauful; intending thereby to convey the idea that the committee reported after an examination into the evidence, and upon satisfactory proof that the tory claimants had received the lages

The majority in their report declare that they did given. They contended that the word "forthwith," qualified the word "farful," and they accordingly reported "forthwith" and sgainst law-counting the votes given by aliens, men, hoys and citizens without discrimination. They did not stop to inquire into any of the allegations of either party. They took cerlaw, evidence, reason, right, the constitution, or any thing else, than the mere fact that according to those five of the ten individuals, claiming seats from the state of New Jersey received the greatest number of ing vote of the speaker, the majority of the committee voting in the house against the amendment. But notwithstanding the amendment was carried after an angry and stirring debate, the majority declare in their report that the amendment did not affect the sense of the resolution, and proceeded to report as though the word " lawful" had not been inserted.

HACKS

We pressive that the impaliest John, Juley's hank drivers, hever in defiguee of existing oscillances, resumed shell states on Canal street, heaven resumed shell states in communicate and even Chartres and Royal, to the inconvenie danger of the citizens who past along that consided thereughfare. That they day a lady relatively a laters these fillows outrage all decemby by their constants behavings and swearing. We gross the authorities will take prompt speasures to compile the hadiney exactness to remove to the stand sweighted them by the settlement of the settlement.

IMPRISONMENT FOR DEST. IMPRISONMENT FOR DISUITATION OF THE PROPERTY O half responsible upon a return of " no property found-will operate with great acceptly upon the debter. A bill abulishing imprisonment for dobt should regard the return of "no property." as evidence that the detter ought not to be incorrected for not paying, as it makes it apparent that he has not who ewithal to pay. The had in such cases should not be lightle for the delst, un-liast it can be shown that the deltor, made way with property, or herreted the same to the projudice of the creditor. Then the leal should be made to pay to the extent of the injury done to the redditor's claims.

This is not the only senture in the bill which is ob-jectionable; but yet we are not prepared to say that it should be vetoed. In making amend upnts in the law, is cannot be expected that the first essay should be persubsequent legislatures will take up the subject and remedy defects in the law. This is the history of the abblishment of imprishment for delt, in most of the States.

The writer of the communication admits that the bill is the form being activated and the states.

bill is far from being satisfactory; but argues that the general condition of the debter is better than unde the old law. If this is the case, the hill has provided some relief, though less than could be desired. We are not sufficiently versed in the existing laws upon this subject, to offer an opinion of our own as to the precise bearings of the bill lately passed; we therefore publish the communication—coming, as it does, from reflection, and who is as anxious as any other person for the repeat of all measures, unnecessarily harsh gainst the unfortunate debtor:

Since the above was written,

A bill has been introduced into the house of repreentatives, modifying the bill recently passed, abolish ing imprisonment for debt in a very material point.lishes the writ of arrest as a conservatory pro

It abolishes the wijt of arrest-as a conservatory process, except for causes pointed out in the 10th section of that act, which reads as follows:

Sec. 18th. Be it further enacted, &c., That if a debter, who has not voluntarily surrendered his property to his creditors, or has not been proceeded against or a surrender, under the provisions of this act, shall, in violation of any existing law, have within the year, given an unjusted vantage or preference to any one or more of his ereditors, by pavinent or otherwise, or shall have anticipated the payment, or provided for the paysuent of a debt not due, the effect whereof shall be to injure the complaining creditor; or shall gurchase property for cash, the delivery whereof shall be made to him, and then shall sell or dispose of the same, without paying his vendor, or shall remove the same beyond the reach of said vendor, or shall fail to pay over money received or cultected for, or deposited with him for another,) or shall have made a conseyance, or transfer or morigage, or pledge of his property, to the prejudice of the complaining creditor, any of such facts shall be held presumptive evidence of fraud; liable, however, fike all sther presumptions to be disproved.

This amendment of the law, we are, happy to add,
