Commercial.

NEW-ORLEANS, FRIDAY NIGHT, January 13, 1843.

There is but little of interest to notice in the various commercial transactions which have occurred since our former review, business has been rather quiet, and somewhat unsettled, in consequence of the existing uncertainty as regards the future course of freights. The few changes that have transpired, will be found under our official remarks at foot.

A sudden and severe decline has suddenly taken place in the issues of the Second Municipality, which were sold yesterday at 30 @ 32 per cent discount, but as they have almost ceased to perform the functions of a circulating medium, it has not excited much attention.

The weather has been intensely cold within the past few days. The river remains at the same stage last noticed.

The demand for Cotton since our last has been very limited, and the market is drooping, in consequence of the advance in freights, which interferes materially with operations. The sales on Wednesday were 3,000 bales; yesterday 2,000; and to-day, 3,200; together, 10,900 bales. The principal purchasers were for the English market, and we continue our previous quotations, which are still steadily maintained.

SUGAR. During yesterday and the day previous, a large business was transacted in Sugar, amounting to about 700 hhds; but to-day there is only limited sales in consequence of lower rates being accepted by holders. We now quote inferior to prime, 2¾@4¼c. To lay the market was rather dull, but the above prices are nearly sustained. We have not heard of any sales on plantation.

Havana sugars continue slow of sale, at previous prices, 4 @ 6½ for brown, and 9½@10 for white.

MOLASSES.—A fair amount of business has been done in this article since our last, but prices have declined in consequence of the heavy arrivals, and we now quote 11@12c for cask and 9@10 cents barrels. We do not hear of any sales on plantation.

FLOUR.—In our last we noticed that the market was drooping, as many holders disposed to realize at lower rates. On Wednesday holders met the market, and in consequence a large business was done, amounting to about 3,500 barrels, at $3 75. Yesterday there was less disposition to sell, and to-day holders advanced their rates to $3 75@$4 00 per superfine, at which prices we only hear of retail lots being sold.

WESTERN PRODUCE.—A moderate business has been done in the Provision market since our last, and there is yet little change to notice in prices, as the stock is not yet greatly accumulated. Navigation in the Ohio is still partly obstructed by floating ice, but this cannot last long and as the upper Mississippi is clear, we anticipate to look for abundant receipts. Pork—We quote Mess $8 25@8 50, Prime $8 00@8 25. Lard in kegs, prime, $4 25@4 50, and in tierces, $4 75. Bacon—Sides, 4½@5c; Shoulders, 3½@3¾c. BAGGING AND SALE ROPE.—The market has experienced no change for the better, on the contrary, it is more depressed than ever. Our quotations remain unchanged—say for Kentucky Bagging, 11@11½c, cash, and 12c, on time—India 10 11 @ 10 12 c, according to terms and consignation.—Kentucky Rope, 5½@5¾c.
