FOR PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,
HENRY CLAY.

NEW-ORLEANS:

MONDAY MORNING, JULY 31, 1843.

☞ Don't forget that the gallant Creole, Capt. Hiers, leaves the Lake end of the Rail-road to-day, on the arrival of the 11 o'clock cars, on a trip to Pensacola.

FROM HAVANA.—By the arrival of the brig Hope Haven, we have received files of Havana papers to the 19th inst. They are totally destitute of news.

LORD BROUGHAM.—A letter from Dr. LEWELL, now in London, conveys the intelligence of a probable visit by Lord BROUGHAM to this country.

MR. CHARLES COLE, hitherto considered a respectable merchant of Boston, and a man of wealth, was arrested on the 19th inst. on a charge of having committed a series of forgeries.

BOARD OF HEALTH.—The report of the Board of Health for the week ending on Saturday, the 29th inst., exhibit a total number of deaths at 80—of which 6 were from yellow fever.

ESCAPE.—Two men whose names we understand to be Ritchie and Cole, confined in the Second Municipality Prison, on a charge of slave stealing, have effected their escape. They scaled the walls of the prison yard.

RECOVERY OF STOLEN PROPERTY.—Officers Farrar and Kelly, of the First Municipality Police, yesterday discovered a quantity of stolen property in the house of E. C. ANNORI, situate at the corner of Burgundy and Bienville streets. The owner of the house was arrested, charged with receiving the property with a knowledge that it was stolen.

A HORRIBLE MODE OF DEATH.—The Toronto Constitutionalist says that a young man named Baley, a prisoner in the penitentiary, in consequence of insubordination, was placed for punishment in a cistern, where it was necessary that he should work in order to prevent the water overcoming him, and that during the process he was overpowered by the water and drowned.

CASE OF MRS. GIBSON.—After a very long investigation, Mr. Rapelje, U. S. Commissioner, has decided that sufficient evidence has been shown to authorize her being given up to the British Government. Mrs. Gibson must was placed in custody of the U. S. Marshal. An attempt will be made to sue out a writ of habeas corpus in her behalf.

Correspondence of the United States Gazette.

NEW YORK, Tuesday, 4 P. M.

A singular accident occurred yesterday afternoon—the sewer intended to carry the waste water from the fountain lately erected in the Bowling Green, it appears, was not large enough for the purpose, and every day in Broad street, inundating several cellars filled with sugars, coffee, tobacco, cotton, &c., which it has damaged to the amount of about $20,000. As the fountain is a private affair, the parties will have to pay pretty dear for their whistle."

FROM ST. DOMINGO.—An arrival at New York brings advices from Port au Prince to the 2d instant. The elections for President were only delayed until the arrival of Gen. Riche, who had left on a visit to the south of the Island. He was expected to arrive in a week or two, when measures would be taken to hold the election immediately. Business was very dull and the markets glutted with foreign produce. Flour was lower than ever before known.

RIOT AND DEATH AT KINGSTON.—An Orange celebration took place at Kingston, Canada, on the 12th, in honor of the Battle of the Boyne, which resulted in a serious riot between the Irish Orangemen and Ribbonmen. One young man, by the name of Morrison, was shot dead, and two others were seriously wounded.—The Police were out, and a strong detachment of the 23d British regiment were brought to the scene of action—a number of arrests were made and order at length restored.

The Chronicle of the 15th says:

"There was yesterday, whilst the Coroner was holding the inquest, a public Orange funeral of the unhappy victim—four or six hundred Orangemen, each wearing white crape, decorated with orange and purple ribbons round his hat, the whole preceded by the Grand Master, following the coffin to Wintitou.

"HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE".—Under this head the New York Express of the 20th inst., announces that a ceremony of peculiar interest was to take place that day on board the steamboat Highlander, Capt. WARROP, lying in the North River. The occasion arises from the following circumstances. During the visit of MR. TYLER to New York, an escort of steamboats was formed to meet him. As there were persons of all parties on board, the boats were dressed with numerous flags, pennants, devices, &c. Capt. WARROP being a staunch whig, had a banner inscribed with the name of HENRY CLAY floating prominently from the flag staff of the Highlander, whereupon some officious Tyler man insisted that it should be pulled down. This was resisted, and the super-serviceable sycophant was told that he would himself be "pulled" down if he attempted to lay a sacrilegious hand upon the flag. The Tylerite, however, care not for the threat, but proceeded to haul down the banner, whereupon the captain, in conformity with fair warning previously given, prostrated him with a blow of his fist.

In commemoration of this scene, says the Express, some good whigs have subscribed to the manufacture of a pair of beautiful silver pitchers, which are to be presented to the captain on board his fine boat at the foot of Warren street, North River.

The pitchers each bear the following inscriptions:

"TO ROBERT WARROP, Esq., MASTER OF THE STEAMBOAT HIGHLANDER.

"This is presented by the friends of HENRY CLAY, as a memorial of that indignant patriotism which vindicated the right of that heroic statesman to a place with Washington, Jefferson and Madison, and prostrated the sinister hand of a renegade tyrant who attempted to haul down the flag that bore that illustrious name.

"June 12th, 1843."

(On the reverse.)

"This ever fell dishonored the mercenary sycophant who insults the true republican by the mockery of praise and patronage, and thus ever honored be the high hearted who gratefully appreciate and manfully defend the glory of HENRY CLAY, standing pre-eminent and alone, above all others, and above all office, place and power, first of all living men, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

INTERESTING FROM THE SOCIETY ISLANDS

The Providence Journal of the 22d inst. publishes two letters from Tahiti, containing news of considerable importance.

The first letter is dated February 10th, and says:—"About twelve days ago we had an arrival here of H. B. M. ship Talbot, Captain Sir Thomas Thompson, direct from England, in the space of three weeks. A French frigate,—Sir Thomas brought letters from the French government to Queen Pomare, and as she was, on the arrival of the frigate, on the adjacent Island of Moreа, he sent a boat for her to come over, as she had never been on Tahaitiance the French had got possession, as limited their power to that island. But the principal Frenchman's letter, she came across in state, with the old Tahitian flag flying in her barge. She pulled directly on board of the Talbot, without landing, and they insisted she should land and run the old flag of Tahiti to the fore, and hoisted it with their own guns, as they always do on their departure. This annoyed the French greatly, on which so that they issued a protest against the proceedings of the commander of H. B. M.'s ship in hoisting and hauling up the old flag, thereby disturbing the peace and tranquility of the place, and in active direction due to France." Sir Thomas then requested the Queen to call a meeting of all the inhabitants on the island, to know whether it were their wish that the Queen should hold possession and govern the Island. The meeting took place yesterday in the Queen's enclosure, and was attended by about 10,000. When called upon to speak, they all agreed to a man in not wishing the French to remain on the Island, and they sent a deputation to the Queen to inform her of the same. "Let the French rest flag; but she would not allow it. Last night however, the flag was hauled down, and the signal-halyards were cut away. The Captain of the Bonnite immediately fired a gun upon the place if the flag does not go up again, and the Queen and the English frigate has threatened to fire on the Frenchmen the moment a shot is fired upon the town.

The letter of the English letter to Pomare was that England would protect her against any foreign power that should encroach upon her dominions."

TAHITI, Feb. 24th, 1843.

"I have no or to inform you that the business wears a more serious aspect than ever; for on the 12th ult. Com. Nicholas arrived in H. B. M. ship Vendicative of 52 guns —bringing presents to this Queen from Queen Victoria —and having heard of the manner in which the French had gained possession of the Island, immediately made known to a public meeting of the natives, the intention of protecting them against the encroachments of the French, at all hazards. The next day, being the third of his arrival, he unbent sails and was ready for slipping the Queen's moorings, where she lay still lying. The French sloops of war have been lying here for the last two months, doing nothing but watching the proceedings of the English Commodore, watching in readiness till the arrival of the French Admiral, who is expected daily. Every portion have misrepresented their business to him, so that they cannot draw back without absolutely conceding to English wishes. By opinion that the small island of Tahiti will be the cause of disturbing France and England to a conflict, for it is the island which they both want. The John Bull commander is a fiery old chap."

ARRIVAL OF THE CALEDONIA.

FIFTEEN DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

The steamship Caledonia, arrived at Boston on the 17th inst., with London dates to the 3d and Liverpool the 4th inst.

The news is not of much importance. Ireland continued in a state of agitation, but the interest was felt on the subject of repeal, as it lost the zest of novelty. Below we give some details of the recent Irish movements.

The commercial accounts are discouraging for cotton, which had again declined 1-8d.

The overland mail arrived in London on the 31 July, but brought no news of any moment.

Very serious riots had occurred in Carmarthen, Wales, but they were soon suppressed by the military.

A duel took place in the vicinity of London (Kentishtown) on Saturday, which is likely to terminate fatally. The combatants were brothers-in-law, and both in the army. One of them Lieut. Col. Faucett fell, and though yet alive, is thought to be fatally wounded. He had just had the "Order of the Bath" conferred upon him for his heroic conduct in China, and is represented as a fine looking fellow, 50 years of age. He has a wife and young family.

Mr. Murray, the publisher, died in Albemarle street, on the 27th ult.

Earl Grey was seriously indisposed at the last dates although his health was then improving. He is upwards of 39 years old.

It was expected that Lord Morpeth would soon be elected to the House of Commons, from Sheffield, Mr. Parker, the member from that town having resigned.

The marriage of the Princess Augusta to the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg Strelitz, took place on the 28th ult. The King of Hanover and the King and Queen of the Belgians, were in England to attend this ceremony, which was performed on the anniversary of Victoria's coronation.

The Warspite arrived in Plymouth on the 20th June, with the remains of Sir Charles Bagot, which were taken to the family estate in Staffordshire, for burial.

It is said that Sir Robert Peel has intimated to the Bishop of London the settled determination of government to put down the Puseyite movements, and that the supererdotal-ing of bishops, as well as magistrates, will shortly take place.

REPEAL.

Mr. O Connell held a demonstration at Ennis, for the County of Clare, on Thursday, the 15th inst., and the meeting is described as more numerous than any that preceded it—the numbers are stated at 700,000. The Limerick Chronicle, which makes pretensions to being very precise, estimates the number at not less than 150,000, including not less than 6,000 horsemen; and says that the cavalcade of carriages reached from Ennis to Newmarket—six miles. The demonstrations for his reception were most elaborately made. Arches were planted, "with triumphal arches across the road, mottoes, and devices. —On entering Upper Quay street from Limerick, you beheld clothing but ribbon trees, with triumphal arches." The inscriptions, it were apparently not intended to be doggerel, were praises of O Connell and freedom, and abuse of "the Saxon tyrants." The description of one device is worth transcribing:

"The first was a shield extended across the centre of which was joined by a cord, and on a green banner over it was inscribed

The Liberator of Ireland
Will get another.

The following is the motto:

We labor under

Here a man had taken up the politics with a sword with which, as the Liberator approached, he cut the cord in the centre and the shield was shivered on both sides, amidst the shouts and acclamations of thousands, that rent the air for some minutes."

The meeting, was here on the face-ground; and Mr. O'Connell ascended the platform, accompanied by Tom Steele, Mr. Charles O'Connell, "Councillor" O'Leary, and other Repeal Councillors, Sheridan, Mahony, Bridgeman, M.P. and Justice of the Peace, the chair was taken by Mr. Cornelius O'Brien, M. P. and Justice of the Peace. Mr. O'Connell's speech did not materially differ from that of the great speech of those which he has lately delivered; but he approached a new stage in his agitation, and gave an important explanation:

"He would tell them that the moment he had three million of repealers, he would begin another career; and he might as well announce that the principal ingredient which caused the opposition did not at all exist as regarded Repeal of the Union. It was necessary for an English Parliament to pass a law granting Emancipation, both in the case of Repeal it was not necessary. The Union Lord first threw it out.—The Irish people gave a little assistance, and it was allowed to pass without any very vehement opposition.—The Queen's Prerogative could revive the Irish Parliament (!)—as Joseph the First did when he created forty-four Irish peers, and by giving writs for twelve protestants and Earls was one of the first acts of her time had arrived for her Majesty to order new writs to the Irish Parliament; and he assured them he was not talking of imaginary things which he told them distinctly and unequivocally, that the end of the Queen's name, and without any appeal to Parliament, they could obtain a repeal of the Union. Let Englishmen have England; let Scotchmen have Scotland; let Frenchmen have France; and it was a beautiful country, let Spaniards have Spain, and let Italians and ditches;—but the Irishmen should have Ireland."

DEATH OF BARA CATHCART, K. T.—Intelligence was on the 22d received in town of the death of Lord Cathcart, at his seat in Scotland, at the advanced age of 85. The Cathcart title, which was the senior general officer in service, held many honorable and distinctive appointments. He was formerly ambassador to the court of St. Petersburg, and at the time of his death was colonel of the 2d regiment of Life Guards, vice admiral of Scotland, and his late wife, Lady Jane Hall, his lordship was also a Knight of the Thistle, and were several foreign orders.

INSULT TO MR. EVERETT, AT OXFORD.—The Oxford convention, on Wednesday, conferred the degree of D. C. L. (Civil Law) on Mr. Everett, amid a scene of the utmost tumult; several members dissenting, because it is understood the American ambassador was at one time a Unitarian minister. A scrutiny into the votes was demanded; but the vice chancellor says he was not sure that he had the power to grant it at this stage. The dissentients threaten ulterior proceedings to set aside the degree; while, in punishment for the riot, a fellow has been rusticated for five years, two other persons for three *years, and a fourth for one year. A number of the dis*sentients have presented an address to Mr. Everett, earnestly disclaiming personal motives, and expressing the highest respect for his character and station.

AFFAIRS IN THE EAST.—The Overland mail arrived so late on the 31 instant, that we do not receive the advices brought by it in much detail. The following abstract is from an evening edition of the London Times of the 31:

The news from China extends to the 28th of March. Her Majesty's steamer Vixen, with the Secretary of Legation on board, had arrived on the 16th. Some delay in the ratification of the treaty was anticipated, in consequence of the death of Emperor. The Plenipotentiary had been discussed from proceeding northward for the present, in case of missing the new Chinese Commissioner on his way southward from Pekin.—Every thing continued quiet, and the ill feeling towards the English appeared to be abated at Canton.

The Bengal Hurkaru of the 18th of April has occurred since our last; but another great battle was looked for about the beginning of June. Sherad Mukhumad had managed to collect from the hills to westward, six thousand Beloochies, with twenty guns; these were posted in strong position near Hyderabad, so as to cut off the communication with Sukkar. It was understood that Sir Charles Napier would go out to meet them, so soon as reinforcements arrived Sufficient, to make up for the loss of her flag ship's 22d and 101 Grenadiers.

From Alexandria the news is important, inasmuch as the Pacha has publicly expressed his intention of associating in the government his grandson Abbas, in consequence of the death of the present he
