AGRICULTURE AND ENGINEERING AND SURVEYING.
HAVING resumed my residence in Baton Rouge, I propose to practice my profession in that city and its vicinity, and to undertake surveys and engineering operations in every part of Louisiana. Any Engineering or Surveying business entrusted to my care will be executed with the utmost regularity and despatch. Parties in the country will find it to their advantage to call and examine Nagel on the theory and practice of surveying, and Gillespie's Land Surveyor's Manual, the latest and most complete work on the subject. Both of these books are used as text books in the Military Academy at West Point, and are highly recommended by the professors there. Price of each $5.
JAMES C. MORGAN, Civil Engineer.
