Che New-Orleans Bailg Bre. Tuesday Morning, Sept. 7, 1847 For Congress—Second District.

To our Subscribers. During the present month, and until the epi-demic abates its ravages, the Baz will be published tri-weekly. The days of publication will be Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. We have concert with several of our cotemporaries, from the fact that the prevailing sickness, has driven away a large number of printers, and our office as become so reduced in number, that we find t extremely difficult to present a daily paper to readers. As soon as the sickness dim we shall resume our usual publications, and in the meanwhile whenever important intelligence is received in advance of our regular issue, we will endeavor to lay it before the public in an Extra form. The pressure of untoward circumstances, and the calamity that afflicts the whole city will doubtless be regarded as an ample justification for a temporary deviation from our usual course BOARD OF HEALTH.—The official list of interments in the city of New Oriegns, from 9 A. Another week has elapsed—a period of gloom, disaster and death, suring which the pestilence appears to have attained its acme.

Another week has elapsed—a period of gloom, disaster and death, during which the peatilence appears to have attained its aeme.

The number of victims anatched from existences as appaling. The fever has extended its ravages wherever material existed for the work of destruction. The unacclimated in all directions have been stricken down. The late companies of Chevallie's three companies of Texas Rangers.

For the last day or two, there seems to have been a sight, a very slight abstraction in the number of fatal cases reported from day to day by the Board of Health. It is too much to expect that while the heat continues with the intensity of mid-sunamer, the Fever should relax its mortality from any other cause than a want of subjects. After some reflection and much inquirty, we are disposed to embrace this contension.

During the greater part of August, and the beginning of September, the deaths from Fever have surgered mount for expect that effect.

During the greater part of August, and the the last forty days fifteen buildred interment from the epidemic. Knowing, as we do, that terrific as this mortality is, it hears but a small proportion to the number of cases, the inference fectly legitimate that at Jeast lifteen tho sand persons have labored under yellow Fever. during the present season. Our population has reduced to the smallest possible number by the departure, not only of the thousand whom business or pleasure annually remove him to abandon us. The appearance of the our population. In the gloomiest epochs we have never beheld them so literally descried. Is it then likely that more than fifteen thousand it then likely that more thart fifteen thousand macchimated residents yet remain in New-Orleans. We think not. Out of our immediate acquaintances, comprising a very large number of the unacchimated, we cannot count, half a dozen that have eached as attack. What is true of our own circle, will probably be found true of our own circle, will probably be found true of others. We are, therefore, decidedly of opinion that at this moment four fifths of the unacchimated population of New Orleans have passed through the ordeal of the epidemic.

If these speculations are well founded, it follows as a natural cocolory, that the Fever must soon subtaile for want of fuel. Precisely so, and the statements of several dissinguished members of the Medical Vestion of the Medical Vestion and the statements of several dissinguished

Late and Interesting from Brazes.

The stamship Telegroph, Capt. Wilson, arrived here on Sunday, from Brazes Santiago, which she left on the Isl inst. By this arrival we have received Matameroe papers to the 38th ult. The news is interesting. The plan of the campaign is certainly changed. It is no longer in contemplation to advance upn San Luis Potosi, and our operations in the valley of the Rio Grande will probably be en-tirely confined to defensive movements. The Flag, in allusion to the subject, says:

Flag, in allusion to the subject, says:

THE FEVER IN MOBILE .- Saturday's Mobile The Faver in Mosius.—Saturday's Mobile Herald says:

We publish this morning an official list of the inferments in Mobile last week. The righter of deaths are fourteen—which is four less than the number of the previous week—a diministron, we suspect, attributable entirely to the wholesome weather which has prevailed within the past week. Six of the deaths were from yellow fever—a fact which shows how untrue is the statement inade by one of the city justers, that "not a single case of yellow forest has occurred."

P. S.—Last evening we learned that two cases of yellow fever terminated farsily. These are not included in the list of interments.
